VOTES 5-YEAR PRISON TERM, $10,000 FINE FOR BELONGING

House Measure Changed Despite Warning From Administration —Proposal Puts Curbs on Unions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) —The Senate today passed a bill to strip the Communist party of all its legal rights and over-rode Administration objections by voting to make membership in it a crime.

The vote was 81 to 1 with Senator Kefauver (Dem.), Tennessee, voting no.

The bill, passed by the House yesterday by a 305-to-2 vote in a form described as acceptable to the Administration, also would deprive labor unions, found to be Communist-dominated, of any legal standing before the National Labor Relations Board.

The Senate ignored administration opposition as it wrote into the bill, by a vote of 41-39, an amendment of Senator Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota, to make Communist party members subject to imprisonment and heavy fines.

House Bill's Provisions.

The House-passed bill would not go so far. It would take away all the legal right of the Communist party.

Humphrey, who introduced the Senate amendment, described the House measure as "powder puff" legislation.

Humphrey's amendment would make members of the Communist party subject to five years in jail and a $10,000 fine. Humphrey had won Senate approval of his proposal 85-0 last week only to see it deleted by the House.

Republican leaders fighting the Humphrey had said its adoption would kill the whole legislation.

Six Amendments.

The Senate also added to the House bill six amendments by Senator Butler (Rep.), Maryland, which would make it easier for the Federal Government to certify a union as "communist infiltrated."

The Senate approved the Butler amendments, 62-19. The chief ones among them would do these things:

1. Make it clear beyond doubt that the Communist party is not a legitimate political organization.

2. Remove the word "knowingly," from sections dealing with labor union whose leaders are found to be aiding the world Communist movement. As the legislation stood before the amendments were adopted, one of the tests of Communist infiltration was that a union leader, to be challenged, must "knowingly give aid . . ."

3. Forbid a union that has been found to be Communist-infiltrated from petitioning the Attorney General for a renewal of its bargaining rights within six months of the finding that it is Communist-infiltrated.

Voting for the Butler amendments were 42 Republicans and 20 Democrats. Voting against were 17 Democrats, Senator Morse (Ind.), Oregon and Senator Langer (Rep.), North Dakota.

Kefauver's View.

Kefauver told the Senate he doesn't think the House-passed bill actually does outlaw the party, and he raised a question of how it would be possible to be a member of something "that by law doesn't exist."

Butler answered with: "I'm not going to worry about that."

Butler insisted, however, that the legislation actually does outlaw the party. He added that while it does this, the bill does not make it illegal to be a Communist.

Kefauver told Butler he was concerned lest the House-passed bill "knock the underpinning" from the 1950 Internal Security Law by enabling Communists to escape its registration provisions by invoking their constitutional protection against self-incrimination.

"I think I can say positively that such will not be the case," Butler told him.

Kefauver said he wanted to make sure the bill would "not kill" the main part of the Internal Security Act or hamper prosecutions under the Smith Act, which makes it illegal to conspire to teach or advocate the forcible overthrow of the Government.

The Senate's action last week took the Red labor union part of the legislation, offered by Butler, and made it an amend-

POLIO GIRL SIGNALS AND NIAGARA ROCK FALLS INTO GORGE

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—A little girl in an iron lung 3000 miles away pressed her nose against a buzzer yesterday and gave the signal for a blast of dynamite that sent nearly 2000 tons of rock hurtling into the Niagara river gorge.

Debbie Stone, 4-year-old polio patient in the Rancho Los Amigos hospital at Hondo, Calif., also started a $20,000,000 emergency campaign sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Debbie's voice, relayed by radio hookup from the hospital, was heard by about a thousand spectators who gathered to see the chunk of rock topple into the gorge.

The rock had been hanging precariously over the precipice since a vast part of the Prospect Point observation area and part of the American falls collapsed on July 28. About 2000 tons of the cap rock was blasted out Aug. 12 and yesterday's operation sent an estimated 1700 to 2000 tons down.

U.S. TO LOOK INTO ELECTIONS FOR VIOLATIONS OF FEDERAL LAW

More Citizens Tell of Voting for Candidates Who Were Credited With No Ballots in Count.

The United States Attorney's office announced today it would seek to determine if any federal laws were violated in the Aug. 3 primary election, as more apparent irregularities came to light.

Earlier, the state, through Circuit Attorney Edward L. Dowd, said it would make a preliminary inquiry and would have a representative attend the Election Board's investigative hearings, starting Thursday.

United States Attorney Harry Richards designated an assistant, William K. Stanard, to represent him at the board's inquiry. Candidates for Congress were on the ballot in the primary, which gave federal authorities an interest in the accuracy of the tabulations.

Lopsided Majorities.

Lopsided majorities given to machine-supported Democratic candidates in some precincts of Wards 1, 2, 3, 4, 7 and 24 will be the chief phase of the election to come under the board's scrutiny.

Everett Wilkins, 4285 St. Louis avenue, told the Post-Dispatch today he voted against James Lavin, seeking renomination as clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction, and against Recorder of Deeds Anthony J. Denny.

However, the official count listed Lavin and Denny as having a clean sweep of votes in the Fourth ward's twenty-first precinct, where Wilkins lives.

Wilkins said he voted for Richard Tozer, one of Lavin's three opponents, and for Katharine Daley, who was one of five candidates opposing Denny's bid for renomination. The official count showed Lavin and Denny each received 67 votes to 0 for their opponents in the election.

Miss Viola Gaunt, another resident of the Twenty-first precinct of the Fourth ward, also told the Post-Dispatch her vote apparently was not counted. She said she cast a ballot for Mrs. Sarah Atkins, a candidate for Democratic nomination for State representative, although her opponent, John W. Green, incumbent, was shown by the official count to have won, 67 to 0.

Green has been charged in an indictment with obtaining $600 under false pretenses, in representing that he could obtain a parole from the state penitentiary for a St. Louis convict.

Another Vote.

Mrs. Hassie Hogan, also living in the ward's Twenty-first precinct, said she, too, voted for Mrs. Atkins, despite the official listing of a unanimous vote for Green. Mrs. Hogan lives at 4241 St. Louis avenue, Miss Gaunt at 4275 St. Louis.

Study of Election Board records by the Post-Dispatch showed that Democratic machine-supported candidates received topheavy votes in the following precincts:

Ward 1—Precincts 1 and 7; Ward 2—Precincts 1 and 6; Ward—3, Precinct 18; Ward 4—Precincts 4, 5, 6, 7, 13 and 21; Ward 7—Precincts 3, 8, 10 and 11; Ward 24—Precincts 8, 11 and 31.

Voted Against Bannister.

Roy Lee Burton, 4264A Labadie avenue, told reporters he is certain he voted against Del Bannister, who was renominated as Collector of Revenue.

Bannister, like McAteer, Lavin and Denny, was recorded as hav-

U.S. ATTEMPTS TO SALVAGE EDC WEAKENED BY FRANCE

Opposed to Moves to Sacrifice Supra-National, Non-Discriminatory Character of Treaty.

By NED RUSSELL
The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—The United States was engaged in a last-ditch struggle today to salvage the European Defense Community treaty from the wreckage which French Premier Mendes-France's proposals threaten to make of it.

American officials studying the text of Mendes-France's cabinet-approved proposals for changing the European army project concluded that they go "far beyond our worst expectations" and may well doom the scheme.

Accordingly, C. Douglas Dillon, American ambassador to France, was instructed to inform Mendes-France, who is his own Foreign Minister, that the United States is firmly opposed to the French moves to sacrifice the "supra-national and non-discriminatory character" of the treaty.

At the same time, there were authoritative indications that Mendes-France will receive a firm rebuff on his proposals when he meets Thursday at Brussels with the five Foreign Ministers of the other signatory powers, including West German Chancellor Adenauer.

American officials hoped that this anticipated refusal on the part of the other nations—West Germany and the Netherlands were expected to be particularly adamant against the French proposals — might force Mendes-France to change his position again before he appeals to the French national assembly on Aug. 28 to ratify the treaty.

West Europe's capitals buzzed with activity.

Prime Minister Churchill summoned four of Britain's top diplomats for a dinner conference tonight. He called Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, Sir Frank Roberts, Sir William Hayter and Sir Gladwyn Jebb to his country home at Chartwell, outside London.

TWO NOMINATED FOR 8TH CIRCUIT APPEALS COURT

Eisenhower Names M. D. Van Oosterhout of Iowa, Charles J. Vogel of North Dakota.

President Eisenhower yesterday nominated an Iowa Republican and a North Dakota Democrat to fill the vacancies on the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit caused by the death last year of Judge Walter G. Riddick and the retirement of Judge Seth Thomas.

Van Oosterhout, 53 years old, is a former Iowa legislator and since 1943 has been district judge of the Twenty-first Judicial District of Iowa, a state post.

Vogel, 55, has been a United States District Judge for the North Dakota District since 1941.

Both appointments must have Senate confirmation before becoming effective. Senator William Langer (Rep.) of North Dakota, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, was reported last Dec. 2 to be backing Vernon Forbes, a Wahpeton (N.D.) attorney, for the Riddick vacancy. Senator Langer was quoted at that time as saying he had been told by Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. that a North Dakotan would be named. The Senator added that if a North Dakotan was named the nominee would have to be Forbes.

The Bar Association of St. Louis had petitioned the President to name a St. Louisan to the post because this city produces a large share of the litigation handled by the court and the city has not been represented on its bench since 1905 except for the brief tenure of Judge Charles B. Faris in 1935.

The court, which has its headquarters in St. Louis, exercises jurisdiction over Missouri, Arkansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

THREE OPERATIONS ON LINER IN ONE ATLANTIC CROSSING

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (UP) — Doctors aboard the liner United States performed three operations at sea during the ship's last Atlantic crossing, officials of the United States Lines announced today.

Col. Robert B. Templeman, returning from Germany, was operated on for appendicitis last Saturday. Carlo Madrid, a galley worker, had the same operation on Sunday.

William Richards, a waiter, of Hundon Heights, N.J., was hospitalized with a perforated ulcer yesterday. Doctors gave him transfusions and he was taken to an Army hospital in Brooklyn on arrival.

BOMBS KILL POLITICIAN IN HAVANA, OTHERS HURT

'HOT ROD' MOORE SURRENDERS HIS DRIVER'S LICENSE

Tells State Revenue Director Action Is in Best Interest of All Concerned.

Robert H. (Hot Rod) Moore, the city's most notorious traffic law violator, has surrendered his driver's license to the state director of revenue and has given up driving, his attorney announced today.

Henry G. Morris, whose legal counsel apparently was one reason the 23-year-old salesman was able to continue driving despite 24 convictions in traffic cases since 1948, said the surrender of the license was "Bob's idea—he had been thinking about it for some time."

Morris added that Moore discussed the action with him, and "he is now out of business as far as driving is concerned."

In a letter to M. E. Morris, State Director of Revenue, Moore said he felt he was "acting in the best interest of my family and all concerned." Expiration date of the license is more than 15 months hence.

Text of Letter.

The letter to Director Morris, who has been seeking ways to take away Moore's driving privilege, read as follows:

"I surrender to you herewith my operator's license of a motor vehicle in this state, issued to me, Robert H. Moore, the expiration date of which is Dec. 8, 1955.

"I kindly ask that you remove my name from your records as a licensed operator of a motor vehicle.

"In surrendering my driver's license I feel I am acting in the best interest of my family and all concerned."

The letter, by registered mail, was accompanied by a letter of transmittal by Henry Morris, asking that receipt of the license be acknowledged and that Moore's attorney be advised of action taken on the surrender.

Routine Procedure.

Cancellation of the license and removal of a motorist's name from the list of licensed drivers is a routine procedure, it was said at Jefferson City.

Licenses have been surrendered by automobile owners moving from the state and by drivers involved in traffic cases.

H. J. Turnbull, supervisor of the drivers' license unit of the Department of Revenue, said Moore could, under the present law, apply for a new license at any time. He would be required to take an examination but Turnbull could find nothing in the law that would prevent a person who surrendered his license from applying for another later.

Attorney Morris said Moore "had mentioned" that he intended selling the 1952 Ford automobile he has been driving.

"He considered it his car, although the title is in his mother's name," Morris explained. "It really would be his mother who would be disposing of the automobile. There are several automobiles in the family," Morris said. Moore is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry G. Moore, 1 Portland place.

Director Morris thought he

Tips Delivery Man 50 Cents, Robs Apartment of $45,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—A robber usurped a delivery man's privileges with a 50-cent tip yesterday to gain entry to a fashionable apartment. There he trussed a maid and escaped with $45,000 in jewels, furs and cash.

The apartment is the residence of William Brady, a vice president of the Corn Products Refining Co. of America. He and his wife, Jean, were not at home.

The Negro robber stopped Robert Berman as he entered the building to deliver a grocery order to the Bradys.

"I'll make the deliveries," the man told Berman, handing him a half dollar. The maid let the man in to deliver the groceries and he than pulled a pistol.

SENATE PASSES NEW ATOMIC BILL COMPROMISE, UP TO HOUSE NOW

Patents Issue Resolved, Continuing Government Control for Next Five Years — Vote Is 59 to 17.

(Roll Call on Page 4A)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) —A bill to revise the nation's eight-year-old atomic energy law was before the House today for a possible final vote after the Senate had passed swiftly a fresh compromise resolving the key atomic patents issue.

In a marked change of pace from its earlier handling of the atomic bill, the Senate last night accepted with hardly a flurry a new agreement worked out by a Senate-House conference committee in just a few hours. The roll-call vote was 59 to 17.

Sixteen Democrats and Senator Wayne Morse (Ind.), Oregon voted against the final bill. It was approved by 39 Republicans and 20 Democrats.

Patent Provision.

The Senate-passed compromise would continue Government control of most atomic patents for the next five years. It would open the way for private development of atomic patents after that time.

The bill—which cleaves to President Eisenhower's atomic program in most respects—would authorize limited exchange of atomic information with allies and would permit entry of private industry into the atomic field.

The measure had loomed as a possible major obstacle to hopes for adjournment of Congress this week. The first time the bill was considered by the Senate last month it took 13 days of debate—including several round-the-clock sessions—for passage. Then late last week the Senate argued the merits of a proposed compromise between House and Senate bills—and sent it back to conference as unacceptable.

That first compromise would have given normal 17-year exclusive patent rights to private interests developing atomic devices and processes on their own. It also provided that firms agreeing to share their patents on a fee basis for five years would get preference in licensing by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The House approved this arrangement, but the Senate insisted on 10 years of compulsory patent sharing. Senators who fought for compulsory patent sharing said it was needed to prevent monopoly practices.

Sections Retained.

Senator Hickenlooper (Rep.), Iowa, vice chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, told the Senate the compromise retains House and Senate provisions which previously had been viewed as conflicting, by providing compulsory patent sharing to start with and then reverting to the exclusive patent system later.

Hickenlooper termed the compromise an effort to "lay the groundwork to see what happens when we turn good old American ingenuity loose." He said it contains "good safeguards" for the public interest.

Another major section of the compromise would require that publicly-owned utilities and cooperatives be given first preference as customers for surplus electric power produced by the AEC or any other federal agency. Democratic critics had objected to a qualification: "In so far as practicable."

Hickenlooper said the measure declares "the AEC is not to go into the business of producing commercial electric power," but that its terms do give AEC ample authority to conduct research and experiments designed to harness atomic power for the generation of electricity.

Senators Anderson (Dem.), New Mexico, and Gore (Dem.), Tennessee, who led the Senate fight against the first compromise, said the second one was acceptable to them.

SOVIET SAILOR WANTS LECTURES INSTEAD OF VODKA

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 (AP)—Mikhail Zlatogorov, a Soviet merchant sailor writing in the Literary Gazette, says the tradition that sailors are drinking men is just "odious chatter."

He advocates that vodka be forbidden not only aboard ship but that bars be closed in ports as well. As a substitute he recommends "good lectures, literature and films."

Mikhail told about a voyage with an alcoholic captain.

"All of us were ashamed to look upon such a person," he wrote. "He forgot his honor as a sailor, his rank as a captain and a member of the Communist party. He worked in dirty trousers, unbuttoned shirt, disheveled hair, with bloodshot eyes. . . . Everybody despised him, and only when the captain was asleep could they quietly do their work."

Mikhail's article is the latest in a series against drinking which have been appearing in the Soviet press.

NOTHING TO HIDE ON POWER DEAL, PRESIDENT SAYS

He Rejects Charges by Mitchell, Is Willing to Make Record Fully Public.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP) —President Eisenhower said today he is willing to make fully public the record on the award to a private syndicate of a contract to supply power to an atomic installation.

The President summarily rejected criticism of the contract by Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell. (Story on Page 3-A.)

Mitchell said at Chicago yesterday it was a "scandal" that Mr. Eisenhower had ordered the Atomic Energy Commission to sign a long-term contract to buy power from the Dixon-Yates private utility syndicate. Mitchell said "one of the President's closest friends—later identified as golfer Bobby Jones—was a director of one of the syndicate firms he said was "favored" by the contract.

Mr. Eisenhower told a press conference he was astonished that Mitchell had pulled Jones's character and integrity into his innuendo aimed at the President. Mr. Eisenhower said Jones is a man of unexcelled character and probity.

Other Comments.

Other press conferences highlights:

1. He said that if the Chinese Communists attempt to invade Formosa they will have to run over the American Seventh Fleet.

2. He made clear that he prefers the House version of a bill to outlaw Communists rather than the Senate version which he feared would interfere with the anti-subversive work of the Justice Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

3. He plans to leave for Denver at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 21, and make a radio and television report to the people on the accomplishments of Congress sometime early next week from Denver.

4. He believes the majority of American farmers support the over-all Administration farm program.

5. He reported that the great mass of expert opinion points to a business upturn this fall of non-inflationary, but healthy proportions. He said the country is now in a mild upswing.

6. He has no plans to campaign in the south this fall. But he disclosed that he will visit the Iowa state fair at Des Moines, Aug. 30 while en route

HOOVER PROPHECY FULFILLED—GRASS IN CAPITAL STREET

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP) —Grass has been growing in the streets of Washington—in partial fulfillment of former President Herbert Hoover's prophecy more than 20 years ago. But it was pulled up yesterday.

In his unsuccessful campaign for re-election in 1932, Hoover told the nation that if Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected, "the grass will grow in the streets of a hundred cities. . . ."

It was discovered Saturday growing in Pennsylvania avenue, five blocks from the White House.

BOHLEN BUYS CLOTHES; 'MAY BE COLD WINTER' IN MOSCOW

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Charles E. Bohlen, United States Ambassador to the Soviet Union, arrived by air from Paris this afternoon for a date with his tailor.

"I flew in to pick up some clothes," he said. "It may be a cold winter over there."

Bohlen is scheduled to return tonight to France, where he has been vacationing. He said he planned to go back to Moscow this week.

Cricket Rules: When Ins Are Out, Including Not Outs, Outs Are In

LONDON, Aug. 17 (INS)—The British have solved their dollar shortage problem and have ended austerity but they still cannot explain the ins and out of the game of cricket to Americans.

A London neighborhood newspaper, The Hammersmith News Sheet and Diary, reported the following attempt by a young boy with an American tourist:

"It's quite simple. You have two sides, one out in the field, one in. Each man on the side that's in goes out, and when he's out he comes in and the next man goes in until he's out.

"When they are all out, the side that's been out in the field comes in, and the side that's been in goes out and tries to get out those coming in. Sometimes you get men still in and not out.

"Then when both sides have been in and out, including not outs, that's the end of the game.

"Now do you see?"

WORLD CHURCH COUNCIL HOPES TO STREAMLINE ITS ORGANIZATION

More Participation by 161 Member Bodies a Major Aim — Delegates Cheered by First Day's Success.

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 17—The World Council of Churches yesterday took up a proposal to streamline its vast organization.

The 600 delegates and the council officers and staff members were in a cheerful mood as they went into the business session, for the success of the first day of the second assembly had convinced them that their six-year-old council was in business to stay.

This is the first opportunity the international church organization has had to overhaul its machinery since the World Council was formed at Amsterdam, The Netherlands, in 1948. Recommendations made yesterday came out of six years' experience. The declared aim is to attain "the most flexible and efficient organizational instrument which we can provide."

Democracy an Objective.

A major objective is to make the council more democratic in its operations, to see that representatives of the member church bodies assume greater responsibility for council policies and take more active part in its life and actions.

This is a tremendous task, for 161 communions from 50 countries and all races belong to the World Council, and their total membership is estimated at 168,000,000. They represent every type of church organization.

The nature of the business task facing this assembly was frankly stated by the man who has had from the beginning most responsibility for running the organization—Dr. W. A. Visser 't Hooft, general secretary of the council. He has been engaged full time in council affairs since the organization was first proposed in 1937.

"At the time of the formation of the council," he said yesterday, "there were some who feared that this new ecumenical development was premature.

"Would the churches which had become accustomed to live in isolation really support the new council? Would they implement their common decisions taken at the first assembly (Amsterdam)? Would they accept financial responsibility for the council's programs? Would their leaders give the necessary time to make its meetings truly representative?

"The answer which the churches themselves have given to these questions has been a clear affirmation that they stand behind the council."

Delegates Agree.

Delegates and officers agreed with that favorable report by their secretary of the first six years.

The general secretary then brought up what is perphas the most critical problem facing this assembly: how to take the World Council down to the grass roots. The cordial interchurch relations of the last six years, and the response of member churches, are just not enough; or as Dr. Visser 't Hooft put it, they don't "mean that the question of the rooting of the World Council in the life of the member churches is now solved.

"The main responsibility for the carrying out of this task rests with the churches themselves. In some churches real progress has beed made in this respect. But there is need for imaginative thinking to find new and better ways to insure that the challenge and encouragement of ecumenical fellowship becomes part and parcel of the life of the millions of church members whom we represent."

Many Changes in World.

Members of the second assembly are acutely aware that a lot of water has poured over the dam since 1948. This was eloquently stated by the Anglican Bishop of Chichester, England, the Rev. Dr. George K. A. Bell.

"Six years are less than six seconds in the sight of God, and little enough in the history of the Church. But as we look back from Evanston to Amsterdam, much seems to have happened. Even in that short space, the world situation has deteriorated. There has been an increasing strain in the relations of nations in East and West, inevitably affecting the position of the churches. The claims of the totalitarian states have in no way abated. The race conflict has grown sharper. To the still unsolved problems of the refugees and the displaced persons, the problems of the hydrogen bomb and many more have been added.

"The sense of the desperate hunger of the peoples of Asia for good clothing and shelter and for a well-ordered political life and true community, is more widespread. Thus the need for a world council of churches to strengthen the churches' fellowship and to extend their witness to Christ is as great as ever—indeed, greater."

Deliberations Begin.

It was against this sombre background of desperate world needs that the delegates began deliberations on council machinery and operations.

The report on structure and functioning was presented by the Rev. Dr. Leslie E. Cooke of England. One of the chief proposals in his report calls for a rule to provide a maximum of six presidents of the council. This was the number named at the Amsterdam assembly, but it is possible that fewer than six will be elected at the assembly here. Between assemblies, responsibility for the council programs rests with the 90-member policy-making central committee, and revisions were proposed yesterday to delineate the status and responsibility of this committee, also of its executive committee.

The report deals in detail with the problem "of maintaining the closest possible relationship both with member churches and with councils of churches."

The council seeks to improve its communications with its members churches, and to "command their confidence by the widest possible representation on the staff and committees." What is sought is representation and responsibility for all communions and geographical regions.

The assembly will discuss and report on organization today and vote on it tomorrow.

World Council leaders, after six years' experience, want to improve the machinery, but they are just as anxious to avoid the impression that they exalt the organization as an end in itself. They want to meet the criticism that has come from some non-council quarters, that the World Council might grow into a super church.

Dr. Visser 't Hooft dealt with this criticism: "The important thing is not the World Council as an organization," he said. "What is important is that the churches should be the Church. It is therefore a sign of confused thinking to speak of the World Council itself as the world church. And it is completely erroneous to suggest that the World Council is or has any ambition to become a super-church, that is, a center of administrative power. There is not a single church in the membership of the council which desires this; there is not one which would tolerate this."

Two churches were admitted to the council, bringing the total number to 163. They were the Dutch Reformed Church of the Cape Provinces, Africa, and the Bantu Church of South Africa.

Chou Says Visit by Laborites Will Strengthen Friendship

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai told former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his delegation of Labor party leaders last night he believes their tour of Red China "will play a positive role in strengthening the Chinese-British friendship."

Chou entertained the eight visiting Britons and 300 foreign diplomats and Chinese government officials at an elaborate banquet in Peiping punctuated by toasts and speeches at the beginning of each of the 10 courses.

British correspondents accompanying the Laborite delegation reported that Attlee responded with a new affirmation of his party's approval of the Red Chinese rule. Recalling that his Labor government had first recognized the Chinese Communists as their country's effective governors, he declared:

"Believing in freedom and democracy for ourselves, we seek that others should enjoy the right to order their lives in the way they think best."

Drinks to Queen's Health.

The profusion of toasts was capped with Chou's proposal of the health of Queen Elizabeth II. Attlee responded by drinking to Red China's chief of state, Mao Tse-tung.

Deryck Winterton, accompanying the delegation for the Labor party's organ, the London Daily Herald, reported that Chou expressed belief that Britain and Red China, despite their differing political systems, can cooperate in peace.

"We believe that the development and increase of economic co-operation and trade between China and Britain on the principle of equality and mutual benefit are in accord with our common desire to better the livelihood of our two peoples," the Chinese leader declared.

"Peaceful co-operation of the two," he continued, "should should the whole world it is possible for the two countries with different systems peacefully to co-exist. We are ready to strive together with the British people for safeguarding the peace of Asia and the world."

Attlee in his reply said his Labor party is "anxious that after the long trials and troubles of the Chinese people, they should have peace and the opportunity to improve the standard of life of the masses."

Labor Party's Beliefs.

"The Labor party has always believed in the fullest co-operation with the peoples of Asia and other continents on the basis of equality," he declared, adding that his delegation sincerely hoped its visit might strengthen mutual understanding and fortify peace.

The dinner lasted two hours in a Turkish bath atmosphere. The Chinese menu, eaten with chopsticks, included liver soup, shark fins, mushrooms, bamboo shoots, melon stuffed with meat and roast duck decorated with lotus flowers.

After the banquet, entertainment was provided by Chinese opera singers and dancers.

The Laborites will leave Friday for Manchuria to inspect industrial works there and will return to Peiping next Monday for a meeting with Mao.

GRAFT 'ON HIGH LEVEL' CHARGED BY FHA OFFICIAL

'Considerable Sums of Money Involved', Deputy Administrator Tells Field Men.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) —Deputy Housing and Home Finance Administrator William McKenna said today that "graft in high places" involving "considerable sums of money" took place in the administration of the federal rental housing mortgage insurance program.

McKenna, brought into FHA to head a special investigation of alleged large "windfall" profits to builders who received FHA-insured loans for big apartment projects, made his charge before a meeting of FHA field directors.

The profits, subject of an extensive study by the Senate Banking Committee, came out of loans in excess of building costs.

McKenna said "the source of the trouble in the 608 program (insurance of rental apartment projects) was corruption on a high level. I mean graft. We can demonstrate this in detail when we have to. It was not inadequate legislation or just poor administration. It was a matter of graft on a high level involving considerable sums of money."

McKenna told reporters after his brief speech to the field directors that "in the due course of events prosecution will take place."

McKenna refused to say how many persons would be prosecuted or who they might be.

He said in answer to a question that "a few builders" had contributed to the corruption he alleged but that "the rest of the builders probably knew nothing."

McKenna said he could not say whether any builders might be prosecuted.

He said his investigation of FHA is virtually complete and that he expects to have his report ready by the end of this month.

Clyde Powell, who has refused to give testimony in the Senate inquiry on the ground of possible self incrimination, headed the rental apartment building insurance program. He has been separated from FHA employment since the investigation began. Most of FHA's top command has resigned or has been dismissed during the course of the investigation.

BILL WOULD PENSION WIDOWS OF SUPREME COURT JUSTICES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP) —Congress has passed and sent to the White House a bill to grant $5000 yearly pensions to widows of Supreme Court justices.

The measure is an outgrowth of the shock felt by officials at the small estate left by the late Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson. Justice Vinson, who died last year, left a total estate of only about $1100.

Congress to Convene Jan. 5.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) —The Senate today completed congressional action on a bill fixing next Jan. 5 as the date for convening of the first session of the Eighty-fourth Congress. Without it, Congress would have to come back on Monday, Jan. 3.

U.N. TELLS REDS TO ACCOUNT FOR 2840 PRISONERS

'Newly Revised List' Contains 526 Americans — Some Held in China.

PANMUNJOM, Aug. 17 (AP)—The United Nation Command today demanded an accounting of 2840 missing Allied soldiers—including 526 Americans—named on a "newly revised list" of men the Reds are accused of holding prisoner.

R. Adm. T. B. Brittain told the Communists the U.N. wants to know when the men will be freed if they are alive and when their bodies will be returned if they are dead.

The Communists promptly branded the U.N. list "a fabricated roster" and declared that "all persons have been repatriated in accordance with the armistice agreement."

The new list, given to the Communists at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission, carries the names of 526 Americans, 50 from other U.N. nations and 2264 South Koreans. It includes men whom the Reds have admitted holding in China.

All of the small group of captives in China are believed to be airmen who drifted down in Manchuria after their planes were crippled in air battles just south of the border.

Brittain said the revised list carries the names of P.O.W.s "we are convinced were in your hands and whom we still consider as not having been accounted for in a satisfactory manner."

Brittain said he asked Communist Gen. Lee Sang Cho to tell the U.N. Command where the prisoners are being held and when they will be released if they are still alive.

If they are dead, the U.N. delegate asked the Communists to give the cause of death, place of burial and when their remains will be returned.

"During the recent negotiations at Geneva it was developed that certain of the prisoners are being held in China," Brittain declared.

"Since their captive status resulted from the conflict in Korea it is appropriate that the necessary exchange of information concerning both place of and reason therefore be conducted here in this commission."

Brittain added, "The families of the personnel in this unaccounted for category are anxious to reach an early and satisfactory settlement of this entire problem."

The new prisoner list deleted from the earlier list names of 418 Americans, one British soldier and 146 South Koreans.

The unaccounted for U.N. soldiers included 19 British, nine Australians, four Canadians, eight South Africans, one Greek, four Turks, two Colombians and three men from Belgium and Luxembourg.

Plot by Arbenz to Involve U.S. In Intrigue Charges Disclosed

Officer Tells of Scheme to Bury Arms on United Fruit Property in Guatemala, Kill Company Man.

By WALTER KERR
The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—A hair-raising plot to involve the United States in charges of international intrigue has been exposed since the fall of the old Guatemalan government of Col. Jacobo Arbenz.

Details now available disclose that the plot was hatched in the presidential palace at Gautemala City, that the intended fall guy escaped by plane to New Orleans and that the plan was abandoned at the last minute when news leaked of what was in the wind.

Details of Scheme.

The scheme, according to an affidavit of the army officer who was supposed to carry it out, was as follows:

1. To bury on United Fruit Co. property in Guatemala supplies of arms labeled "replacement machinery";

2. To include with them papers showing they were for the use of the United States Government.

3. To "discover" these arms and display them to representatives of the press and diplomatic missions in Guatemala City.

4. To accuse officials of the United Fruit Co. of complicity.

5. To arouse plantation workers to attack company property and assassinate one company officer.

6. To bring in Guatemalan forces to "restore order."

Two Principals.

Two men figure prominently in what actually occurred. One is Fernando A. Carrera, the army officer who was supposed to bury the arms. The other is Eduardo Perez Asturias, the fruit company's superintendent of agriculture who was supposed to be shot.

Carrera in his affidavit says he was summoned to the Casa Presidencial on May 7, 1954, and presented to Arbenz, at which time he received the following orders:

"1. To maintain strict silence concerning the mission which I was to carry out.

"2. That the command of a group of 40 men would be given to me. These men would be divided into groups of 10 and each group would have two leaders. The majority of the men were to be fruit company workers in the north and from different fincas (estates).

"3. Our mission was to hide, in adequate places on fruit company land, four shipments of arms. Each shipment would be perfectly packed in boxes of well-soldered galvanized sheets and was to be buried for discovery later.

'To Leave on Trip.'

"4. I was to leave on a trip to Bananera, Puerto Barrios and Santos Tomas where I would contact the group leaders who were to work under my orders.

"5. To point out exactly the places where I was to hide the arms on a map of the fruit company which would be delivered to me in Bananera by Sr. Humberto Figueroa Carrillo."

Carrera says that after meeting with his group leaders in Barrios on May 15 he took a marked map to Arbenz who told him he would be given the boxes of arms between May 24 and May 30.

Shortly thereafter, Carrera says he saw the arms at the Maestranza del Ejercito. He describes them as all of "North American manufacture." On the boxes were markings such as "U.F.Co." followed by a number, and "Via Barrios."

It was also shortly thereafter that Carrera says he found out that the man to be assassinated was Perez.

He went to Perez, told him the story, said that he could not extricate himself from the plot and urged Perez to flee. Both Carrera and Perez explain this by saying that Perez at one time had lent money to Carrera.

Perez fled to the United States on May 24, using, to get priority on a plane, a false certificate indicating he required urgent medical attention.

Meanwhile, Carrera received orders to depart for Bananera and Puertos Barrios on May 22, take delivery of the arms and plant them as directed.

These orders were subsequently postponed and on May 30 Carrera was called to the presidential palace. There, in the presence of Col. Arbenz, he was questioned by Maj. Jaime Rosenberg, head of the Guardia Judicial (secret police).

Rosenberg, who subsequently was accused of having been responsible for the torture and death of many non-Communists, showed him a newspaper article dated May 25 in which the fruit company stated it had not imported arms into Guatemala. The company was commenting on a story broadcast by a clandestine radio to the effect that arms would be found on fruit company property.

Carrera says he convinced Rosenberg he had had nothing to do with the leak, and it was then decided the arms would be planted and "discovered" by June 6 at the latest.

He does not know what happened after that, but presumes the plot was called off because of the extent of the leak.

HUNGARY BISHOP SPEAKS OUT FOR CHURCH FREEDOM

Religion Must Not Bow to Government, Red Nation Delegate Tells World Council.

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 17 (AP) —A bishop from Communist Hungary declared today churches must not bow to any governmental system but should stand more resolutely as free instruments of God.

"In the face of all opposing views either within or outside the church we proclaim this freedom of the Church's way," Bishop John Peter of the Reformed Church of Hungary told world Christian leaders.

He was the first delegate from behind the Iron Curtain on the program of the global assembly here of the World Council of Churches and the most controversial figure among them.

He said:

"I believe that not only in our country but everywhere in the world where there are Christians the churches ought to voice this independence of the Church of all social systems more courageously and more resolutely than heretofore."

There are 20 representatives from Communist lands among 1500 churchmen from 48 nations participating in the assembly. Their presence has been assailed by some outside groups, and Bishop Peter's role particularly has been questioned.

The State Department denied him permission to attend a world Presbyerian meeting in Princeton, N.J. two weeks ago but issued a visa restricting his trip to World Council activities.

Bishop Peter did not specifically praise or criticize the Hungarian regime. The Government, he said, in "guaranteeing the freedom of church life" provided for gradually decreasing state subsidies. He expressed gratification this was leading to church self-support.

The bishop denounced "the temptation for the Church to give up its responsibilities for public life and to withdraw into a spiritual ghetto mistaking the Gospel events for something done in a corner."

The Church, he said, must be on guard against the constant temptation simply to drift along with events and must exercise its power for man's benefit and to the glory of God.

MITCHELL SAYS PRESIDENT AIDED FIRM IN WHICH FRIEND HAD STOCK

Refers to Bobby Jones, Office Says, Concerning AEC Power Order —Golfer Calls Charge Ridiculous.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Democratic national chairman, Stephen A. Mitchell, says one of President Eisenhower's "closest friends" has an interest in a syndicate to which the President personally ordered the award of a contract.

In a debate with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, Mitchell said yesterday the contract was the one the Atomic Energy Commission was ordered to make with the Dixon-Yates syndicate, without competitive bidding, to supply power for an atomic installation, despite protests from the AEC and TVA.

Mitchell did not name the "close friend" of the President in the debate before a section of the American Bar Association's annual meeting, but his office said later he referred to Golfer Boby Jones.

Cottage at Golf Course.

"It so happens," Mitchell said, "that a director of one of the two companies in the favored syndicate is one of the President's closest friends—with a cottage next to President Eisenhower's at the Augusta golf course.

"Here is something that really needs investigating," Mitchell asserted.

He had said that the Senate subcommittee on monopoly had asked for funds to investigate the situation but that "the Republican leadership through Senator Jenner (Indiana Republican) bottled up the request so they can't get a dime."

Later Mitchell told reporters that his remark on the need of investigation did not refer directly to the President's alleged part in the matter. He repeated his remarks today and called the contract plan a "raw deal."

Hall Denounces Charge.

Hall in his turn in the debate said he believed "that the American people will rise up and condemn such an unwarranted attack."

In Washington James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said he had no comment to make.

In Atlanta Jones said Mitchell's remarks are "utterly ridiculous and without foundation."

"I resent any implication that the President would be subjected to such influence and I resent the implication that I would be foolish enough to try to bring such influence to bear."

He said he would be surprised if the President even knew he was a director of the Southern Co. "because he and I never had any conversations about that fact." Eugene Yates is chairman of Southern, one of the two firms in the syndicate.

The proposal to build the generating plant was made by Southern and the Middle South, the other company.

Jones said he has a small number of shares in Southern.

The contract involved was for providing electrical power for the atomic energy plants at Paducah, Ky., and Mitchell said it was $90,000,000 higher than that offered by a rival syndicate and was $140,000,000 more than the TVA would require to supply the power.

Mitchell mentioned the matter after Hall had challenged him to cite any "corruption" in the Eisenhower Administration.

"Let's look at the Dixon-Yates scandal which occupied so much attention during the atomic energy debate in the Senate a couple of weeks ago," Mitchell replied.

"Here was a deal to buy power from a plant to be built (at West Memphis, Ark.) by Dixon-Yates to meet the needs of the atomic energy plant at Paducah.

"A competing syndicate offered to provide the power for $90,000,000 less than Dixon-Yates—and the TVA would provide the power for $140,000,000 less.

"Yet, the President issued a personal order to give the contract to Dixon-Yates over the protest of both the Atomic Energy Commission and the TVA without competitive bidding."

A letter from the Budget Bureau to the Atomic Energy Commission was released in Washington June 17, saying in part that "the President has asked me to instruct the Atomic Energy Commission to proceed with the negotiations with the sponsors of the proposal" outlined by the utility group "with a view to signing a definitive contract on a basis generally within the terms of the proposal."

The Dixon-Yates proposal was described by General Manager K. D. Nichols of the AEC as a better offer than received from a group of New York financiers.

Senator Gore (Dem.), Tennessee, charged that the Eisenhower plan was aimed at curtailing TVA and would cost "millions of dollars more" than TVA power.

Luchus E. Burch, Memphis attorney for the New York financial group, testified before the committee that his group was denied access to the top AEC officials to discuss the proposition. He estimated it would save the Government $150,000,000 over the Dixon-Yates offer but Nichols said that the New York group refused to supply what he termed necessary detail about its backing.

The transaction actually would supply power for the Memphis area to replace TVA power being fed to Paducah.

The anti-monopoly subcommittee of the Senate asked the AEC once to hold up contract negotiations pending an investigation into whether free and competitive bidding practices were followed. In the pending atomic energy bill, however, the AEC specifically is authorized to negotiate for a private power contract.

Republicans, Some Democrats Assail Mitchell's Charge.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell drew a blast from Republican Senators and criticism from some members of his own party today for linking President Eisenhowers' friendship for golfer Bobby Jones with a proposed power contract.

Republican Leader Knowland of California told the Senate that if Mitchell has any information which indicates the contract is "illegal" or the result of "undue influence," he has a duty to present his facts to the Justice Department or the Senate-House Atomic Committee.

He said he recognizes the growing heat of this year's political campaign, but "I regret that it can't be kept on a level other than attacking the personal motives of the President of the United States."

Off the Senate floor, Senator Kefauver (Dem.), Tennessee, told a reporter that he feels Mitchell "carried guilt by association too far" in hitting at Eisenhower's contract order.

"I don't think Bobby Jones is the type of man who would use his personal influence in a matter of that sort and I wouldn't think that friendship would influence the President," Kefauver said.

Also indicating disagreement with Mitchell, Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, told a reporter: "I have known Bobby Jones and his family back to his grandfather and he is not the kind of man who would undertake to influence the President, for whom he has the highest regard."

VILLAIN 'SHOOTS' 'OKLAHOMA!' HERO BUT IT'S ACCIDENT

The black-souled villain of "Oklahoma!" Jud Fry, got back at his tormentors on the Municipal Opera stage last night in an unscheduled bit of action during which he shot the hero, Curly.

It happened by accident before an audience of 11,000, largest of the season. Fry, played by baritone Norman MacKaye, was arguing in his cabin with Curly, the rollicking cowboy played by William Johnson, also a baritone.

The script called for the villain to fire his six-gun through the roof but somehow the stage prop weapon went off prematurely, inflicting painful powder burns on Curly's leg.

Hero Johnson went on with the show manfully, giving his wound a hasty bandage between scenes. The opera's management said Johnson would continue to sing the romantic lead but there will be no repetition of the shooting.

TWO GIRLS BURNED USING GASOLINE FOR CLEANING

Two girls suffered serious burns in an explosion in the basement of their home yesterday when they were "cleaning up" with gasoline given them by a neighbor, police reported.

The girls, Margaret Dale Haley, 9 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Haley, 4054 Russell boulevard, and Betty Lou Varner, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Varner, 4054 Russell, were treated at City Hospital and released.

The explosion occurred in the basement of their home. They had poured gasoline into a washtub to clean tar from their clothing and bodies. Police said the two-gallon can of gasoline had been given them by a man after the girls finished "helping" him tar the roof of a garage at his home.

The girls ran into the street after the explosion. Neighbors called the Fire Department. Police said the man has been instructed to meet with the girls' parents today in the office of the prosecuting attorney to see if there was "any charge that covered the situation."

BRIDGETON VOTES FOR SALE OF HARD LIQUOR BY THE DRINK

Sale of hard liquor by the drink was approved by voters of Bridgeton, southwest of Lambert-St. Louis Field, in a special election yesterday. The vote was 53 for to 4 against. A simple majority was required.

Joe L. Green, chairman of the municipality's board of trustees, said Bridgeton now has one tavern which is licensed to sell beer. The special election was held after 60 persons signed a petition requesting it. Bridgeton has 250 eligible voters.

WITNESS TELLS HOW CUPPLES PAID INTEREST

Bank Cashier Says Junk Dealer Used Income From U.S. Bonds on Bank Loans.

Jack Cupples, junk dealer charged with income tax evasion, paid the interest on bank loans with dividends from government securities purchased with borrowed funds, a defense witness testified on cross-examination today at Cupples's trial before a jury in United States District Court.

Herbert T. Nugent, assistant cashier of the National Stockyards National Bank, was the first defense witness, after the Government rested its case at noon. In his direct testimony he told of $5395 in interest paid by Cupples on loans obtained from the bank in 19[illegible]46 to buy United States bonds.

Nugent's direct testimony was in support of a defense contention the defendant failed to take all the deductions to which he was entitled in computing his income taxes.

Under cross-examination by United States Attorney Charles H. Rehm and over the strong objections of Defense Attorney Morris A. Shenker, the witness said Cupples paid the interest "by clipping coupons on his government securities."

Nugent testified that in the two years Cupples bought $633,316 in Government securities, with borrowed funds, and sold them at a profit of $19,639. The bonds were held by the bank as security for the borrowed cash until sold, the witness said.

Eighteen checks for a total of $19,064, which the Government contends Cupples failed to include in his tax returns, were admitted in evidence today by Judge Roy W. Harper. The checks and 57 other pieces of documentary evidence were spread on tables for inspection by the jury.

A handwritings expert testified that indorsements," Jack Silverman," on some of the checks do not agree with the "Jack Silverman" signed to memorandum receipts. A Government witness pointed out Pat Cupples, brother of the defendant, as the Jack Silverman to whom the checks were delivered by the Barack Auto Parts Co., 4050 Easton avenue, in payment for used shock absorbers.

Cupples, former head of the Reliable Rubber, Metal & Iron Co., 3606 Evans avenue, was charged with evading personal taxes in 1945 and 1946. In the first year he said his income was $6090, with a tax of $917. The Government contended his true income was $13,692, and the tax $3489.

In 1946 Cupples reported an income of $13,225, with a tax of $2770. The indictment charged his true net income totaled $49,456, on which he owed $23,397 income taxes.

The case was presented to the federal grand jury in 1951, processed and sent to Washington, and then returned here for further investigation. Cupples was indicted by the grand jury in January 1952.

BRENTWOOD OK'S PROPOSED BOONE HIGHWAY ROUTE

Aldermen Unanimously Adopt Resolution Backing Plan—Urge Prompt Start.

The proposed route for the Daniel Boone Expressway from its present terminus at Brentwood boulevard and Eager road to a connection with the Express Highway east of Skinker boulevard was indorsed last night by the Brentwood Board of Aldermen.

In a resolution unanimously adopted, the board approved the action of the State Highway Commission in establishing the route and urged a prompt start on its construction. The route has been protested by the City of Richmond Heights and the Highway Commission has ordered a public hearing on Sept. 8 in Jefferson City for both opponents and proponents of the route.

"The route of the proposed extension, in the opinion of the board of aldermen of Brentwood, is both practicable and economical," the resolution stated, "and is designed in such manner as to cause minimum disturbance to property values and to residents of the area through which the proposed highway will run."

The extension will be "of great benefit to the residents of the metropolitan St. Louis area as a whole and of vital importance in the development of the area," the resolution added, in urging prompt action on the part of the Highway Commission to implement its decision on the route.

A similar resolution of approval has been adopted by the city council of Ladue, but the aldermen of Richmond Heights, through which the highway would run, have opposed the designation and have asserted they would take legal action against it if persuasion fails. Richmond Heights officials induced the County Council to agree to take no steps toward submitting a bond issue for right-of-way costs until that city could institute legal proceedings, if necessary.

Previously, Brentwood had joined with Maplewood and Richmond Heights in urging a route that would have taken the highway along the southern edge of Maplewood and into the city via the Mill Creek Valley.

NEARLY 64,000 SEAL SKINS TAKEN IN ALASKA OPERATIONS

Nearly 64,000 fur seal skins were taken this summer in the Government-administered sealing operations in Alaska, it was announced today. The bulk of the skins will be shipped to St. Louis for processing and sale by Fouke Fur Co.

The annual sealing operations started June 22 on Alaska's Pribilof Islands. The season's yield of 63,882 skins was 2496 less than last year's take.

The Canadian government gets 20 per cent of the skins under a provisional agreement, and the rest come here, for public auction under a Government contract. The Fouke firm is the only agency authorized to conduct auctions of seal skins in the United States. The skins will be auctioned next year.

Civic Surge On in Fenton, Which Did Without Elections 60 Years

Petitions Circulated to Expand 8-Block Town to 12 Square Miles—Board of Trustees Leads 'Reactivation.'

A surge of civic activity is under way out in Fenton, a town which didn't see fit to elect any city officials for more than 60 years. Words like "reactivation" are heard on all sides, and an effort is being made to boost the population from 100 to several thousand.

Until this summer the tiny incorporated community in the southwest part of the county had rocked along blithely without officials, having ceased to hold elections in the late 1800s. ("We just got tired of having city elections," said old-timers.)

Nobody ever got around to disincorporating Fenton, however. It was incorporated in 1874. For decades police protection and road service was furnished by the county. Fenton—eight square blocks—has no water or sewer system.

But some Fenton folks this summer decided they wanted local zoning laws, utilities and expansion. They elected a five-member board of trustees to start reactivation, and today the town showed at least the promise of a startling metamorphosis.

Petitions, for presentation to the County Council, are being circulated for signatures to expand the city limits to include an area bounded by U.S. Highway 66, the county boundary, to the Meramec River and Bowles avenue. Harvey Cox, city attorney, and Garrett Hitzert, president of the board of trustees, said the reaction was highly favorable.

If the proposed expansion is carried out, Fenton, which is now 8 blocks in size, will find itself covering 12 square miles—one of the largest municipalities in area in the county.

The population would be, instead of 100, 3000 to 5000 persons.

100 CROSS PICKET LINE AT ST. LOUIS ORDNANCE PLANT

About 100 production employes of the core division at the St. Louis Ordnance Plant, operated by McQuay-Norris Manufacturing Co., crossed an AFL picket line and reported for work today, a company spokesman announced.

More than 600 production employes had been off the job since Aug. 9 because 20 members of Local 1, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, were on strike for higher wages. Efforts to settle the walkout, which resulted when negotiations were broken off after management refused to meet the union demand for a rate of $2.55 an hour, have been unsuccessful.

A company spokesman said additional employes were expected to cross the picket line tomorrow, with full production being resumed next week. The core division makes bullet cores for .30 and .50 calibtr ammunition. No further meetings with the striking electricians have been scheduled.

BRITON WHO JUMPED SHIP IN 1952 SURRENDERS HERE

A British sailor who jumped ship in Albany, N.Y., in September 1952, gave himself up to police here today.

He identified himself as Desmond Thornton and gave a Chicago address. He said he had supported himself by a series of odd jobs and had married a Chicago girl. He said he wanted to "get things cleared up" so he could bring up his family.

Thornton will be turned over to immigration authorities.

5-TO 10-CENT CUT EXPECTED IN PRICE OF COFFEE HERE

A reduction of 5 to 10 cents a pound in the retail price of coffee may be expected in the St. Louis area in "about 30 days to six weeks," Dana Brown, general manager of Manhattan Coffee Co., a large roaster and importer here, said today.

The first cut in coffee prices in eight months began on the wholesale level yesterday as a result of new currency regulations in Brazil, which supplies half the coffee consumed in the United States.

"Coffee has not been moving too well in the past few months," Brown said. "The housewife has found she can stretch her coffee. She has quit making eight cups when she needs only six. And hot weather has affected consumption of coffee.

"There never was danger of an actual coffee shortage. Speculators in Brazil to a great extent used frost and rain damage as an excuse for bolstering the price."

The most expensive coffees are now selling generally for about $1.29 a pound here, and middle-grade brands are priced at about $1.21 a pound.

ARMED MAN ROBS LEADWOOD BANK OF $5000, FLEES

Compels Two Women Clerks to Stand in Corner While He Empties Cash Drawers.

The Bank of Leadwood, Mo., 65 miles south of St. Louis, was robbed of about $5000 today by a man who had a pistol and wore sunglasses.

Mrs. Sara Lee Thompson and Mrs. Geneva Oliver, clerks, were alone in the bank when the robber entered. He ordered them to hold up their hands, go to a corner and turn their backs.

The man then climbed into the teller's cage and took the contents of two cash drawers. J. S. Warner, bank cashier, estimated the loot at $5000 pending a check.

The robber locked the front door of the bank when he entered but did not close it when he left. Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Oliver turned in time to see a maroon automobile automobile speeding away.

A maroon car, occupied by a blond woman, was seen parked near the bank shortly before the holdup. Witnesses also said they saw another maroon automobile, a 1941 Ford with no license plates, in the vicinity.

Warner was out to lunch when the robber entered. Leadwood, in St. Francois county, has about 1600 residents. The Federal Bureau of Investigation asked St. Louis police to watch for the two maroon cars. Leadwood is near State Highway 8.

TABLES ARE TURNED—DIET FOR DOGS TESTED ON MAN

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—British veterinarians who have watched man benefit from experiments on dogs, reversed the tables today with a 14-day reducing diet for overweight dogs first tried out on human beings.

The formula, tested on patients at Middlesex Hospital by Dr. A. Kingsley Browne, is based on a sort of toast fortified with amino acids and calcium. The toast is made from wholemeal flour free from agene, a bleaching agent widely used in white bread.

The amino acids are said to balance the starch in the diet.

U.S. TO LOOK INTO ELECTION RESULTS HERE

ing received a 67-to-0 vote over his opponents in the Fourth Ward's Twenty-first precinct, where Burton lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson, 3721 Cottage avenue, did not vote in the Aug. 3 primary, although the voters' registration binder in the Election Board's office shows that they did.

A check of the poll book revealed that Mr. and Mrs. Johnson had not voted. An Election Board clerk said an error apparently was made in transcribing information to the voters' registration binder. He said a correction would be made.

Decides Against Contest.

Bert Stewart, who said Saturday that he would contest the election in which he was defeated for the Democratic nomination for State Senator from the Fourth Senatorial District, announced today that he had changed his mind and would not file suit.

Stewart was defeated by State Senator James M. Webbe, who was shown by official count to have obtained 685 votes to 0 for Stewart in three Seventh Ward precincts.

"I don't think my opponent was directly responsible for these 'apparent irregularities,'" Stewart told the Post-Dispatch. "I've been thinking the matter over Sunday and yesterday, and I don't feel that Jimmie Webbe was responsible for anything that occurred."

Four voters in the Seventh's ward eleventh precinct told the Post-Dispatch they had voted for Stewart, although the official count indicated Webbe had carried the precinct, 247 to 0.

'HOT ROD' MOORE SURRENDERS HIS DRIVER'S LICENSE

had grounds last year for suspending Moore's license, but was balked by legal appeals from convictions.

The 1952 Missouri driver's license law provides for a one-year suspension for an "habitual violator of traffic laws," described as a driver found guilty at least five times within one year of traffic violations relating to moving vehicles. The law also says a license may be revoked for a specific list of offenses, including manslaughter, driving while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident, or three convictions of reckless driving in a two-year period.

Moore, by fighting the serious charges and paying fines for less serious offenses, was able to retain his legal right to drive an automobile. Director Morris ordered that the young man take a new test of his driving qualifications. He came through the test with a high rating.

Last April, Moore was sentenced in police court to 370 days in the workhouse and fined $2500. His appeal from this series of convictions is pending in Cole county circuit court on a change of venue. He also obtained a change of venue, to Audrain county circuit court, on an indictment growing out of a traffic accident.

His latest conviction, in which he was sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $100 for speeding, was in Brentwood Police Court July 29. He has appeals pending from this conviction and from two other convictions in which he was sentenced in Glendale Police Court last year to 60 days in jail and fined $100.

U.S. ATTEMPTING TO SALVAGE EDC CHANGED BY PARIS

under secretary of state for foreign affairs. Roberts is head of the German department at the Foreign Office. Hayter, British ambassador to Russia, arrived here yesterday for a vacation. Jebb, ambassador in Paris, flew in earlier today for talks on the French EDC proposals.

Churchill is running the Foreign Office while Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is vacationing in Austria.

Diplomatic informants said Jebb would fly back to Paris before Mendes-France takes off for Brussels. Jebb, these sources said, will tell Mendes-France or one of his ministers that Britain considers the French amendments, if adopted, would change the character of EDC as it was envisaged originally.

United States Special Ambassador David Bruce, whose work has been associated closely with EDC, accompanied by officers of the American Embassy in Paris, conferred in Bonn for more than an hour with chancellor Adenauer on the EDC crisis.

The Netherlands already has voiced vigorous opposition to the French amendments.

Belgium's Premier Paul-Henri Spaak called his Cabinet to meet tomorrow.

The State Department issued a statement yesterday reaffirming United States support of the "supra-national and non-discriminatory character" of the treaty and denying a published report that the United States eventually would go along with Mendes-France's proposals.

There were two main reasons for the State Department's action:

1. Fear that the Mendes-France position almost certainly will intensify the political crisis building up around Chancellor Adenauer, who is becoming increasingly isolated in West Germany as an advocate of pro-Western policies.

2. Fear that Mendes-France would regard the published report of likely American support as an "inspired" hint that his views could be made to prevail if he holds his ground. This the State Department decided to squelch firmly and swiftly.

French Ambassador Henri Bonnet yesterday called on Under Secretary of State Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, who was acting secretary in the absence of John Foster Dulles.

Bonnet, according to authoritative reports, sought to reassure Smith that the French proposals are not nearly so drastic as they appeared and that they represent a step in Mendes-France's efforts to secure French approval of the European army plan.

Smith was said to have been unimpressed and to have made clear to Bonnet that the United States is profoundly disturbed by the French Premier's move. Gen. Smith's remarks, it was clear, were part of the United States effort to dissuade Mendes-France from his present policy and try to get him to abandon it.

Apart from such moves, there appeared to be little that the United States could do, in a positive way, to alter the new situation. Officials here pointed out, in this connection, that their main hope for salvaging the EDC treaty now lies in the Brussels conference on Thursday.

Senator Wiley (Rep.), of Wisconsin, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, left for Europe today to sound out the EDC situation and examine the alternatives available in case the project collapses.

Wiley told the Senate yesterday there is some justification for Europeans seeking a peaceful solution to world tensions because "they're afraid of Russian atomic and hydrogen bombs."

He made the statement after Senator Malone (Rep.) of Nevada had attacked America's allies for trading with the Soviet Union and the Chinese Communists.

SENATE OK'S RED BILL, OUTLAWS PARTY MEMBERS

ment to a bill which would subject to imprisonment and fines any persons who belong to the Communist party and commit any act to further its purposes.

Second Anti-Red Bill.

The President's anti-subversive program went smoothly forward on another front yesterday when the Senate passed after brief debate a three-cornered measure, in slightly different form than a similar House bill, and sent it back to the House for anticipated quick approval.

This bill, third in the arsenal of new anti-subversion weapons asked for by Mr. Eisenhower and passed in varying forms by both houses, is designed (1) to tighten and modernize present laws against sabotage, (2) provide a death penalty for peacetime espionage and (3) require registration of all persons trained in espionage or sabotage by a foreign government or foreign political party.

The anti-sabotage bill passed by a voice vote after several Democrats and Senator Morse (Ind.), Oregon, assailed it as "scarecrow" legislation rammed through Congress in haste.

No hearings had been held on the measure by the Senate Judiciary Committee, as was the case also on the bill outlawing the Communist party.

The third part of Mr. Eisenhower's anti-subversive program is a bill to allow a United States court to grant immunity in certain cases to witnesses who claim the Fifth Amendment guaranty that no man shall be forced to testify against himself. This measure, which is ready for the President's signature, is designed to compel testimony from reluctant witnesses before congressional committees and other federal groups by waiving federal prosectuion against them as a result of their testimony.

NOTHING TO HIDE ON POWER DEAL, PRESIDENT SAYS

from Washington and the American Legion convention on his way back to Denver.

7. The Communist government of Czechoslovakia notified the United States that it will accept American assistance for the Danube river floor victims.

Prepared For Questions.

Mr. Eisenhower apparently was well prepared for questions about Mitchell's charges.

Mitchell said Mr. Eisenhower personally ordered the award of the power contract for a new Government atomic installation to the Dixon-Yates private power syndicate at a price $90,000,000 more than a competing syndicate had offered to do the work and $140,000,000 more than TVA.

The President also was reminded that Mitchell had said that one of the President's closest friends—Jones—had an interest in the successful syndicate. Mr. Eisenhower, picking his words carefully, said he knew that once he went into political life he would be subjected by what he called strange characters to many kinds of innuendo and allegation.

He said he was astonished that this inuendo should include a private citizen of the character and standing of is good friend, Jones.

After words of praise for the famed golfer, the President said that of course he had approved recommendations for awarding the contract to the Dixon-Yates combine.

Open, Public Matters.

He added that every action he took involving the contractural relationship of the Federal Government, barring a base concerned with national security, should be open, public matters.

He said the reporters could go singly or together to the Budget Bureau or to the Atomic Energy Commission and get the full record of the power contract, starting with the inception of the idea.

In making it clear the United States Seventh Fleet would resist any invasion of Formosa the President recalled that orders to that effect went to the fleet in early 1953. He said these orders merely reaffirmed the fleet's instructions in effect since 1950, when the Korean war began, to guard Formosa against attack. Those orders are still in force, he said.

Asked if the United States would use "other force" in addition to the fleet, the President said the problem hadn't been brought up. He said he had not discussed it with his military advisers.

Dogs Become Parachutists.

GRAZ, Austria, Aug. 17 (INS)—Dogs are being trained as parachute jumpers at the Thalerhof airfield. They will be used in the rescue of avalanche victims.

BRITISH ENVOY TO RUSSIA HOME ON FRIENDLY NOTE

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

LONDON, Aug. 17—Sir William Hayter returned here yesterday for a holiday after his first year as British Ambassador in Moscow, where he is credited with having become a "friend" of Soviet Prime Minister Malenkov.

Hayter will give Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden a full account of four cordial meetings which he had with Malenkov and other Soviet leaders in the last three weeks. He is the only Western diplomat in Moscow to have been accorded such favors.

He told reporters at London airport last night, "We exchange acrimonious notes from time to time and say rude things about each other in our newspapers, but really there is not any tension at all."

Hayter's remarks reflected the difference between the British and American attitudes toward Russia. American Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who also left Moscow recently for a holiday, did not carry such friendly sentiments for the Soviet regime to the outside world. In fact, he has been singularly silent.

He Just Liked Watermelon.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 17 (AP)—Wayne M. Murrow of nearby Bondurant was fined $50 yesterday after Patrolman W. B. Sawhill told the court Murrow was eating watermelon as he drove at speeds up to 60 miles an hour.

John Arthur Dewar Dies.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—John Arthur Dewar, race horse owner and chairman of the whisky firm John Dewar & Sons, died Sunday at Montecatini, Italy, it was learned today. He was 63 years old. He headed Britain's list of winning race horse owners in 1931 when his stable won stake races worth £40,000, valued at about $200,000 at that time.

HODDING CARTER FINDS NO '56 HOPE FOR G.O.P. IN SOUTH

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Hodding Carter, a Pulitzer Prize winning Southern editor says he has not found a single Dixie editor or established political leader who believes the G.O.P. can carry a Southern state in 1956.

Carter, publisher of the Greenville, Miss., Delta Democrat-Times, said that since 1952, when President Eisenhower won four states, the Republican party has slipped in the South, probably "to as weak and submerged a position as it has had in this century."

His views are published in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Carter gives six reasons: The Southern habit of voting Democratic, the South's "evaluation of Mr. Eisenhower's conduct as a President," the Democratic party's "smart political treament of the erring South," the "unchecked role" of Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, the racial question and "a conglomeration of Southern objections" to G.O.P. policies.

"Perhaps," he adds, "the Republicans didn't really have any idea of trying to hold onto whatever they won in the South, through the possibly correct reasoning that their showing resulted only from Mr. Eisenhower's personal popularity."

ARMY-M'CARTHY COMMITTEE MAY VOTE TOMORROW

Group Struggling With Narrative Report—Hope to Finish by This Weekend.

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — Members of the Senate subcommittee which conducted the televised hearings into the dispute between Senator Joseph R. McCarthy and Army officials met for nearly three hours this morning in an attempt put together a report for the Senate by next weekend.

The subcommittee, headed by Senator Karl E. Mundt, South Dakota Republican, spent most of today's session working on a "narrative" of the 36-day hearing, which, Senator Henry M. Jackson, Washington Democrat, said already takes up 149 typewritten pages.

The big hurdle is yet to be met in those sections of the report which will deal with findings and recommendations based on the 2,000,000 words of testimony which the committee heard in May and June.

It was indicated that the Senators may get around tomorrow to voting on the questions of culpability in the row which pitted Senator McCarthy, Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel to the Wisconsin Republican's investigating committee and other members of his staff against Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens, Army Counsel John Adams and other Pentagon luminaries.

The basic issues on which the senators will have to report are whether Secretary Stevens and Adams were correct in their allegation that Senator McCarthy and Cohn tried to "pressure" them into granting special preferential treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, former consultant to the McCarthy committee, and whether Senator McCarthy was justified in charging that Stevens and Adams held Schine as a "hostage" in an attempt to "blackmail" McCarthy into dropping an investigation of alleged "coddling of Communists" by Pentagon officials.

Head of McCarthy Censure Committee to Quit Reading Mail.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) —Senator Watkins (Rep.), Utah, said yesterday he is so amazed at the "intensity of feeling" over Senator McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, he is going to quit reading newspaper editorials and his mail while he directs a study of censure charges against McCarthy.

"I don't want to have any prejudice in this investigation," he said.

Watkins heads a six-man bipartisan committee set up to sift charges that McCarthy has been guilty of conduct unbecoming a Senator.

Watkins said he had not yet found a lawyer to serve as counsel for the hearings on censure charges, scheduled to begin Aug. 30.

Senator Johnson (Dem.), Colorado, vice chairman of the Watkins committee, said, however, that attorneys for the Library of Congress have been going over the charges—which range from accusations about McCarthy's financial operations to his alleged ridicule of fellow Senators — to assemble documents bearing on them.

Potter Aid Drafts Paper Blaming McCarthy for Cohn's Actions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP) —An aid to Senator Charles E. Potter (Rep.), Michigan, said today he has drawn up a "working paper" for the Senator that concludes that Senator Joseph R. McCarthy must take the blame for the actions of Roy M. Cohn in the Army-McCarthy dispute.

The aid said the report was for Potter, a member of the Mundt investigating subcommittee, to "look at" and that "there has been no acceptance by Potter of any such draft and as far as the Senator knows there has been no acceptance of it by any other member of the (Army-McCarthy) committee."

The report made no mention of perjury and carried no recommendations for dismissals but it was critical of the four principals in the dispute—McCarthy, Cohn, his former chief counsel, Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams.

The report stated that Stevens "showed a lack of capacity for administrative decision" and "was motivated by a strong desire to end an investigation of Communism in the Army by making concessions on behalf of Pvt. G. David Schine," former unpaid consultant for McCarthy.

The report said Cohn tried to secure a commission for Schine and that Cohn's conduct "merited strong disapproval."

Adams, according to the report, "demeaned himself" by engaging in "barter" over favors for Schine.

McCarthy was "dominated" by Cohn and did nothing to stop his efforts in behalf of Schine, the aid's report said, and "therefore must accept full responsibility for Cohn's actions."

Wisconsin Labor Federation Head Assails McCarthy.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Aug. 17 —The election of Senator McCarthy was "a travesty on the rest of the United States Senate," 600 degelates to the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor were told yesterday by George Haberman, federation president.

"McCarthy is an expedient, selfish individual who captured the favor of the public by falling upon Communism and cultivating fear where there is no fear when we have the Church," Haberman said.

IMPERIAL STUDENT SUFFERS BLACK WIDOW SPIDER BITE

A 15-year-old Imperial (Mo.) student, Donald Palmer, was in serious condition at St. Anthony Hospital today after having been bitten by a black widow spider, police reported.

The boy was bitten by an insect at his home last night and became ill. His father, Edward Palmer, brought him to the hospital where tests indicated a black widow spider was responsible.

EISENHOWERS VIEW CAMPAIGN MOVIE

Attend Special Showing of Film to Be Used in Congressional Races.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) —President and Mrs. Eisenhower went to the movies last night—a premiere of a 30-minute political film designed to help elect to Congress Republicans pledged to support the Presidential program.

Mr. Eisenhower himself is the star and central theme of the movie, produced by the Citizens For Eisenhower Congressional Committee for use during the 1954 campaign.

It pictures the Eisenhower career from D-Day in World War II, when the Normandy beaches were stormed, on up to 1954—10 years later. It winds up with a personal message from the President declaring that politics must be the concern of every citizen who wants to see the welfare of America increased and the nation's foreign policy strengthened.

The President sat on a front row seat with Mrs. Eisenhower at the Presidential Room of the Hotel Statler while several hundred G.O.P. partisans gave the movie a cheering reception. Members of the Cabinet and some Republicans from Congress were there along with part of the White House staff.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived at the hotel in a rainstorm that prevented their inspecting a 1954 "Eisenhower bandwagon," a huge trailer truck that is ready to start rolling around the country.

The 32-foot trailer van, painted white with red and blue lettering, says in large letters across one side "For a Stronger America, Vote Ike's Team."

Also painted on the sides is a list of "accomplishments of the Administration," including:

"Cut personal income tax 10 per cent; crackdown on Reds, alien criminals, racketeers; ending segregation in armed services and Government agencies; stopped inflation, 1954 appropriations cut 13 billions; passed St. Lawrence Seaway bill; restored morality, integrity, economy to Government; stopped Korean fighting, seized initiative for peace, and Ike's U.N. speech proposed international atomic pool for peaceful uses."

The bandwagon is leaving for the Illinois state fair and its first campaign appearance.

E. C. FARRELL NAMED TO HOUSING BOARD

Appointment Establishes Close Ties Between Redevelopment Groups.

Eugene C. Farrell, chairman of the Land Clearance for Redevelopment Authority, was appointed a commissioner of the St. Louis Housing Authority by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker yesterday.

The Mayor said Farrell would continue as chairman of the land clearance group. Both posts are unpaid.

One consideration in making the appointment to the housing authority, the Mayor said, was that persons displaced in federally-assisted slum clearance programs are to be given priority in placement in low-rent housing projects built with federal funds, under the program recently approved by Congress.

With this restriction in effect, Tucker added, he felt it was a good idea to have a close tie between the two programs. Farrell, as a member of the governing body of both groups here, will furnish that tie, he said.

Farrell succeeds Walter George as a member of the housing authority. George's four-year term expired last July 20, and he is now a resident of St. Louis county.

Farrell is president of a leather wholesaling firm and of the St. Regis Corp. The latter operates the St. Regis Apartments, Lindell boulevard and Kingshighway, where Farrell lives.

SEEKS TO PLUG LOOPHOLE IN EAST SIDE WEAPON LAW

East St. Louis Police Commissioner Russell Beebe today introduced in the city council an amended ordinance aimed at plugging a loophole in the city's present ordinance which requires purchasers of certain weapons to obtain city permits.

The present law applies to pistols and to knives with blades more than three inches long but does not apply to such weapons delivered for sale outside the city limits. The amended ordinance would prohibit also "bargaining or negotiating" for sale of such weapons within the city without a permit.

Efforts to amend the law were sparked by the recent fatal shooting of George Cain, a railroad switchman. Records showed the pistol used in the shooting was delivered for sale just outside the city limits.

INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT IN JULY STEADY WITH MAY, JUNE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) —The Federal Reserve Board announced that its index of industrial production, widely used pointer to the nation's economic health, held steady in July at the same level as in May and June.

The index, seasonally adjusted, stood at 124 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

"Business activity generally continued stable in July," the Reserve Board said. Its summary of industrial production in July and early August said:

"Durable goods production rose slightly in July, reflecting mainly further strength in the output of major household goods. . . . Steel output . . . fell by more than the seasonal amount in July. Steel mill operations for the month were at 63 per cent of rated capacity."

GUY STUDY MAY SHARE IN ESTATE IF WILL IS BROKEN

Guy Study, St. Louis architect, may receive a share of a $700,000 fortune if a suit filed today in Cook County (Chicago) Circuit Court by four elderly widows to break the will of their cousin, Mrs. Therese Study Porter, is successful.

Mrs. Porter, a recluse of Evanston, Ill., died last Sept. 12 leaving her fortune to several animal and bird welfare associations. The plaintiffs, who range in age from 85 to 100 years, allege Mrs. Porter was of unsound mind and memory when the will was drawn in October, 1940. She was about 80 when she died.

Study, the four plaintiffs and a sixth cousin are the children of brothers and sisters of the late Thomas J. Study, Mrs. Porter's father. There are no nearer kin, the cousins believe.

SUICIDE VERDICT ON YOUTH WHO DIED ON FLIGHT HERE

A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned today in the death of a 20-year-old New Madrid county youth who died yesterday of a gunshot wound while in an airplane en route to St. Louis for medical treatment.

The youth was George A. Pfenninghausen, who was found earlier in the day on the farm where he worked, wounded behind the right ear, a .32-caliber pistol at his side. He was dead when the plane landed at Parks Metropolitan Airport, Dr. C. C. Kane, St. Clair county coroner, said.

SERVICE STATION ATTENDANT IS SLUGGED IN $35 HOLDUP

A Star Service Station at 4216 Natural Bridge avenue was robbed of $35 early today by two men who slugged the attendant, Howard Evans, and put him in the establishment's restroom, police reported.

Evans, who lives at 2310 South Broadway, said the men, Negroes, entered the station on foot and said they wanted to purchase a can of gasoline. Struck from behind as he turned to fill the order, Evans was treated at City Hospital for scalp lacerations.

Strike Ties Up Brazilian City.

MASS EVACUATION OF VIET NAMESE REFUGEES BEGINS

ABOARD FLAGSHIP ESTES, Aug. 17 (AP)—The mass evacuation of Viet Namese refugees from northern Indochina began today when the United States Navy transport Menard sailed from Haiphong for Saigon with about 2000 men, women and children.

Six more United States ships arrived at Haiphong today to take part in the vast humanitarian project which is being directed by R. Adm. L. S. Sabin.

Two attack transports began loading the next group of Viet Namese fleeing southward before the Communist take over all of North Viet Nam.

Typhoons in the Japan-Okinawa area have delayed the arrival of additional ships which will participate in the operation.

The Peiping radio, meanwhile, denounced what it called the "forcible evacuation of Chinese residents from Hanoi and other places in North Viet Nam. . . ."

COASTAL AREEAS REPORTED INUNDATED IN CHINA

HONG KONG, Aug. 17 (AP) — Vast farming areas around Foochow and Mintsing have been devastated by floods, the Chinese newspaper Wahkiuyatpo said today.

The Yangtze, Hwai and Yellow rivers all have been reported at record flood levels in recent weeks, but this is the first time that coast streams have been described as in an equally serious state.

A dispatch from Foochow said the coast district along the Min river was experiencing its worst flood in history.

PART OF PALACE IN JAPAN IS DESTROYED BY BLAZE

KYOTO, Japan, Aug. 17 (AP) —Fire yesterday destroyed part of the ancient palace here where Japan's emperors are crowned. Some art treasures were destroyed.

The palace, a collection of wooden buildings, has burned down several times since it was built in 794, the last time in 1855.

A story of faith and courage no parent can afford to miss

It started with a headache and sore throat. Then came nausea and stiffness. A doctor examined 13-year-old Kay Reiten and gave his diagnosis: Bulbar polio! Mrs. Grace Reiten tells what happened to her daughter—and to herself—from the early symptoms, through the crisis, to a new kind of life today. Her story makes vivid, but not alarmist, reading. It's an article millions will be talking about. Don't you miss it.

The GOP struck out in Dixie

The Republicans cracked the "solid South" in '52. But what's the story today? Mississippi editor Hodding Carter (who voted for Ike) reports that the GOP position in the South is close to a 50-year low! He tells why Senator McCarthy is partly to blame. And he gives 5 other reasons for his belief that the Democrats will carry the South in '54 and '56—and by landslides!

GOA PORTUGUESE CAPTURE BAND OF DEMONSTRATORS

Warship Lands Troops and Fortress Is Taken From Those Who Occupied It Sunday.

NEW DELHI, Aug. 17 (AP)—Portuguese troops were reported in full possession of Goa's Tiracol (Terekhol) fortress after a show of force yesterday dislodged a band of pro-Indian demonstrators.

A report received in Bombay said one demonstrator was killed and another wounded.

The band of Goan nationalists had occupied the fort on Goa's northern frontier Sunday after eight Portuguese police garrisoning it fled. Capture of Tiracol was the nationalists' only success in their widely publicized "liberation march" which fizzled down to only a token invasion of the Portuguese-Indian territories claimed by India.

All reports published in New Delhi said a Portuguese warship landed a party of 120 soldiers at Tiracol early yesterday and that the troops quickly regained the fort, hauled down the Indian flag, and rounded up the nationalists.

Reports Vary on Details.

One report said the vessel bombarded Tiracol for 90 minutes before the troop landing. Another said the warship fired only blanks to scare the demonstrators, who surrendered without further resistance.

(The United Press reported that the Portuguese overseas ministry in Lisbon claimed that its ship merely saluted the raising of the Portuguese national flag over Tiracol after its recapture and did not shell the fortress.)

The report received in Bombay, which is 250 miles north of Goa, said the casualties occurred when some of the nationalists resisted the lowering of the Indian flag.

Reports in New Delhi said the troops found only 15 nationalists in Tiracol and that these were arrested "unharmed."

One report reaching the Indian capital from Goa, however, said as many as 150 demonstrators had entered the fort and the surrounding territory on Sunday and that 50 to 70 of these were rounded up.

150 Reported Detained.

From Nova Goa, the capital of Portuguese India, Associated Press Correspondent Harold K. Milks reported that about 150 persons were being detained as a result of the Sunday march into Goa, the largest of the Portuguese enclaves. Officials said all were Goan nationalists, though many had lived for years in India.

Nationalist leaders in Bombay originally had anticipated a march of thousands, but Nehru ordered border police to keep all non-Goans out. Foreign diplomats in New Delhi attributed his bar on Indian participation to expressions of concern over Goa he received from Britain, Brazil, and at least seven other nations.

Pravda Charges U.S. Wants Goa as a Military Base.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (UP)—The Moscow radio today broadcast a Pravda article charging that the United States wants Goa for a military base.

"The stand taken by India, of course, does not suit those who are working out plans for including Goa into the chain of American military bases," the broadcast said.

The Moscow radio said the North Atlantic Treaty nations and the Vatican have joined in an anti-Indian campaign.

"The organized nature of this campaign and its direct connection with the American plans of creating a bloc in Southeast Asia hit the eye," the broadcast said.

LACLEDE GAS RATE REFUND CASE IS RESET FOR OCT. 4

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 17—Hearing of the application of Laclede Gas Co. of St. Louis for an order concluding its $2,627,916 excess gas rate refund case, has been redocketed by the Missouri Public Service Commission for Oct. 4, here. The case originally was set for Sept. 15.

The company last week filed a petition for commission approval of its handling of $2,432,961 in refunds due customers of higher gas rates collected from 1946 to 1948, while increased pipeline gas rates to Laclede were in litigation, and for an order winding up the refund case.

Laclede asked the commission to authorize the company to retain $229,419 of the rate fund, representing refunds due persons who could not be located, or who did not present claims within the time fixed. The commission previously approved retention of $194,954 by Laclede to pay actual costs of the refund operation.

REPUTED GANG LEADER PUT ON FBI 'MOST WANTED' LIST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Walter James Wilkinson, reputed leader of a New York state robber gang, was added to the FBI's list of "10 most wanted men" today.

The Government wants Wilkinson on a charge of fleeing across state lines after a robbery at Corinth, N.Y., last Feb. 12. Four alleged members of the gang have been rounded up but Wilkinson and one other remain at large.

The fugitive is of medium height and weight, with blue eyes and blond hair which the FBI said may have been dyed a dark brown.

The FBI said he may be traveling with Joseph Posniewski, an alleged accomplice. Posniewski, also sought for crossing state lines to avoid prosecution, is of medium build with brown hair and blue eyes.

RUSSIAN 'MYSTERY SHIP' DOCKS IN ENGLISH PORT

PLYMOUTH, England, Aug. 17 (UP)—The Russian "mystery ship" Alfa docked today in this West-of-England port, but neither its crew nor any of the 40 Soviet midshipmen aboard was allowed ashore. A customs official was the only foreigner permitted to board the three-masted training schooner.

The Alfa, sailing around Europe from the Baltic to the Black sea, was reported missing when it lost radio contact with its base last week. Russian authorities requested an international search which ended when the sailing ship was sighted yesterday in the English Channel.

"We were never lost," an officer of the Alfa told newsmen today. "We knew where we were but we couldn't tell anyone because our radio was out of action."

Eisenhowers Fly to New York To Register for Fall Elections

1000 Police Line Route to Election Board on Lower East Side—Columbia U. Voting Address.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower paid a flying visit to New York today to register for the Nov. 5 elections. They arrived at LaGuardia airport at 9:20 a.m. and took off again for Washington at 10:40 a.m., arriving here an hour later.

Approximately 1000 police were along their route to the Board of Elections headquarters on the lower East Side. They made the trip in a 12-car motorcade accompanied by 110 policemen on motorcycles. A police helicopter hovered above the line of cars carrying police, secret service men and newspaper men.

New Yorkers, attracted by sirens, waved and applauded as the President passed. At Triborough bridge a tugboat gave him a lone one-blast salute.

Several hundred persons were clustered around the Board of Elections headquarters. The Eisenhowers spent less than 10 minutes inside. Mrs. Eisenhower's maid, Rose Woods, joined them in registering. All three gave 60 Morningside Heights as their address, the Eisenhower's residence at Columbia University. All signed applications for absentee ballots to cast on Nov. 5.

While the President was writing his signature, David B. Costuma, secretary of the elections board and a Republican, referred to Thomas Callahan, registration officer, and said:

"Callahan is a Democrat. Be careful. They're tricky."

President and Mrs. Eisenhower laughed and the President said, "Oh, I think he's all right."

BOY, 7, KILLED BY AUTO; THREE OTHER DEATHS

St. Louis Woman Victim in Colorado Crash —Two Die in East Side Accident.

A 7-year-old St. Louis boy suffered fatal injuries when struck by an automobile here yesterday. In Colorado, a St. Louis woman was killed and her husband injured in a traffic collision.

Robert Thomas Payeur, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Payeur, 3727 Cottage avenue, died at City Hospital of injuries suffered when he darted into the street at Newstead and San Francisco avenues.

Police said the boy ran in front of a vehicle driven by William M. Williams, 41, a chauffeur employed by Mayfair Cleaners. Williams, 1520 North Vandeventer avenue, swerved sharply but could not avoid hitting the child, he said.

Mrs. Emma Ahern, 57, of 4030 McRee avenue, was killed in an automobile crash on U.S. Highway 24 seven miles west of Limon, Colo. Her husband, Edward, 59, was taken to a hospital at Simla, Colo.

The Ahern car was struck by another machine driven by Miss Fannie Rogoff of New York City, who also was killed in the accident, it was reported. A sister, Miss Mollie Rogoff, was injured.

James Ream, principal of Spencer and Wellsmar elementary schools in Wellston, and his wife, Ethel, were in serious condition at St. Joseph Hospital in St. Charles today with injuries suffered in a head-on collision last night four miles west of St. Charles on U.S. Highway 40.

Ream, 47, of 7545 Hillsdale drive, Normandy, received chest and head injuries. Mrs. Ream, 46, suffered a fractured skull and fractured left arm. Their daughter, Harriet, 10, was released after treatment.

The automobile driven by Ream collided with a car driven by Eugene G. Ernst, 43, of 6979 Hunter avenue, when Ernst, try- to pass a truck and seeing he could not make it, swerved to the far shoulder.

FATEMI INDICTED IN IRAN FOR PLOT AGAINST THE SHAH

TEHRAN, Aug. 17 (AP)—A military court today indicted ex-Foreign Minister Hossein Fatemi, former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's right-hand man, on charges that he plotted to overthrow the Shah.

Indicted on the same eight counts were Ali Shayegan, his closest political adviser, and Ahmad Razavi, former deputy speaker in the lower house of parliament (the Majlis). No trial date was set. If found guilty the three face death by hanging. Mossadegh, however, was sentenced to three years in solitary confinement on similar charges.

In addition to the eight counts, Razavi was charged with violating the oath he took as a deputy to protect the Iranian constitution. He played a major role in jamming through legislation which converted Iran into a tight dictatorship under Mossadegh.

Fatemi, a chief instigator of the campaign to nationalize Iran's oil industry and drive the British out of the country, was a fugitive in hiding for eight months after the revolution which upset Mossadegh in August 1953.

JEFFERSON COUNTY INACTION CRITICIZED

James W. Connor Urges Prompt Inquiry Into Charges of Corruption.

Failure of prosecuting officials of Jefferson county to move promptly to investigate charges of official corruption made last week by Mrs. Victoria Pappas in a divorce action was criticized today by James W. Connor, operating director of the St. Louis Crime Commission.

Connor said:

"To anyone familiar with present procedure in the City of St. Louis, where crusading grand juries are the every-day pattern, the seeming holding back on the part of the authorities in Jefferson county is beyond understanding.

"The citizens of Jefferson county should not have to circulate petitions in order to goad their elected officials into performing their sworn duty.

"Mr. (Earl) Saunders, prosecuting attorney, should request the aid of the Attorney General and the state police. Judge (Edward) Eversole should impanel a special grand jury now.

"Lack of vigor in this situation casts a bad reflection on the administration of criminal justice which the people of Missouri are in no mood to stomach."

Mrs. Pappas gave sworn testimony in the divorce action that her husband, Night Marshal Peter Pappas of Crystal City, was paid $1600 a month by William (Dutch) Meese, leading Jefferson county gambler, and that Pappas gave $1200 of the amount to former Sheriff Amos Lee. Lee and Pappas both denied Mrs. Pappas's statements.

Citizens in the county have been discussing circulation of petitions for calling of a special grand jury to investigate the charges. Mrs. Pappas, who lives at 3519A Greer avenue in St. Louis, was denied her suit for separate maintainance and Pappas was denied his petition for divorce.

FORMER VARGAS GUARD IS ARRESTED IN SHOOTING

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Climerio Eurides de Almeida, accused as a ringleader in the Aug. 5 assassination attempt on editor Carlos Lacerda, was arrested by the Air Force today. Air Force Maj. Ruben Vaz was killed by gunmen who opened fire on the crusading, anti-Vargas editor. Lacerda was wounded in the foot.

An Air Force spokesman said Almeida was captured in the mountains near Rio de Janeiro after a search conducted by 200 Air Force men, armed with machine guns and aided by helicopters and small planes.

Almeida was a member of President Getulio Vargas's personal guard, disbanded by Vargas after Vaz was killed.

The Air Force has practically taken over the investigation of the plot that touched off a government crisis. Newspapers reported that Air Minister Mero Moura resigned yesterday.

The Mail Goes Through.

Buick's biggest hit brings you a 3-way bonus

1. You get the car that's in step with tomorrow

From stem to stern, Buick today is styled a year ahead—with long, low glamor lines, with the very look of tomorrow, and with that broad panoramic windshield that many other cars won't have till 1955. Equally important, you get in Buick advanced V8 power, big room, luxurious comfort, the famed Million Dollar Ride—and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Is it any wonder, then, that Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three"?

2. You get the car that's a sure high resale value

Buicks have always had a high trade-in value. But the 1954 Buick has an extra advantage in its year-ahead styling. That means your Buick will stay well up in the style parade for years to come—will stay fresh and new-looking well into the future. So you're bound to be way ahead in actual dollars when trade-in time comes.

3. You get a bigger allowance from our volume business

Every month's sales figures this year have firmed this fact: Buick sales are soaring; Buick is outselling all other cars in the nation, regardless of price range, except two of the "low-price three." So with this tremendous volume, we can—and do—offer higher trade-in allowances. Come in, see and drive a new Buick—then check for yourself that our volume business really does mean a far bigger allowance for you.

Come see for yourself why—

GETS A MATCH AND STARTS HIS STALLED AUTO

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—All Paul J. Tusek needed yesterday was a match to start his stalled car—a 1906 Stanley Steamer.

Paul's car was in a procession of old autos making the journey from Fort Lee, N.J., to Times Square to publicize the 10-car American team which sails Friday for an Anglo-American vintage vehicle meet in England.

A Stanley Steamer won't steam without a pilot light—which failed. One match later Tusek was on his way. Tusek hails from Power Point, O.

MORSE LIKENS M'CARTHY RULES TO LYNCH LAW

Wisconsin Senator Says Oregonian Is Guilty of Fantastic, Dishonest Name-Calling.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Senator Morse (Ind.), Oregon, said yesterday that some congressional investigations "closely resemble lynch law" and Senator McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, accused him of "fantastic, dishonest name-calling."

In keeping with the tradition that the Senate is a sort of gentlemen's club, each assured the other that "nothing personal" was intended.

In the exchange on the floor Morse did not say what investigations resembled lynch law, but he did say of McCarthy's operations as chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee:

"Every witness who has been called when he's functioning as a one-man committee and every witness who's been called when he's applying the procedures he's used has been done an injustice.

"But it isn't as much his fault as it is the Senate of the United States for not having adopted a code of fair procedures."

McCarthy Replies.

McCarthy asserted the Oregon Senator was "guilty of the most fantastic dishonest name-calling, even though I like the Senator personally, when he accuses me of lynching witnesses."

"I like those kisses of death," Morse interjected, with a grin.

McCarthy also attacked Morse for speaking against one-man committees.

"What you are arguing for would give the Communist party one of the greatest gifts that has been given to it in 10 or 15 or 20 years," he said.

Can't Get Quorums.

McCarthy said the average Senator was so busy it was impossible to get a quorum, or more than half the membership, at most committee sessions.

Morse replied that he "certainly was opposed to one-man committees when they are sitting as quasi-judicial tribunals with witnesses who are accused of wrongdoing."

Morse said McCarthy had sought to reflect on the motives of some Senators who supported the bill last week to outlaw the Communist party, and had implied they were interested only in politics.

Morse said he wanted to warn McCarthy "not to try to bespeak other people's motives."

"He had better leave to God Almighty the task of determining peoples motive," Morse said.

SENATE GROUP APPROVES FIVE FOR PENTAGON POSTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower's five nominees for little cabinet posts in the Pentagon were approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee today after a brief closed hearing at which all appeared. The nominations, which now go to the Senate for confirmation:

Lyle S. Garlock of Minnesota to be assistant secretary of the Air Force replacing H. Lee White, resigned.

Trevor Gardner of California to be an assistant secretary of the Air Force.

Charles C. Finucane of Washington state and Frank H. Higgins of New York to be assistant secretaries of the Army.

William Birrell Franke of New York to be an assistant secretary of the Navy.

Each of the posts pays $15,000 a year and most of them were newly created by Congress on request of Secretary of Defense Wilson.

KNOWLAND SAYS CONGRESS WILL FINISH THIS WEEKEND

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland said today he expects Congress to adjourn this weekend.

He told reporters that Congress could finish its legislative business by the end of the week "unless some unexpected obstruction" comes up. He added that he did not anticipate any such delay.

Knowland said adjournment might be either Friday or Saturday. He will hold the Senate in session until 10 o'clock tonight to speed action.

Flashes of Life

Keeps Record Straight.

CHICAGO (UP)—The professional pride of Eddie Clark was hurt when he was accused of stealing $40 at gunpoint.

"Your Honor, I'm a confidence man," Clark said in court. "I tricked him out of the money. I never had a gun."

Judge Charles S. Dougherty reduced the charge to petty larceny and sentenced Clark to the House of Correction for one to 10 years.

Corny Justice?

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Thirteen ears of corn cost six men well over $4 an ear in magistrate's court. Police said they apprehended the men taking the corn. Magistrate Robert E. Dammeyer, fining the men $10 and costs apiece, commented, "It takes little effort to pick someone else's corn, but it takes a lot of work to grow your own."

Getting to Be a Habit.

SOVIET LITERARY EDITOR OUSTED, POLICY ASSAILED

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 (AP)—A shake-up in the editorial board of one of the Soviet Union's leading literary magazines was announced today. Alexander Tvardovsky, renowned poet, was removed from his job as editor-in-chief of Novy Mir (New World) and the noted journalist and author Konstantin Simonov installed in his place.

The change was announced by the presidium of the board of the Union of Soviet Writers and published in the union's organ, the Literary Gazette.

The resolution condemned the entire recent policy of Novy Mir and called for drafting a new code for Soviet publications.

The resolution said, "The editors of Novy Mir having published wrong and harmful articles forgot that any relaxation of socialist ideology means increased influence of bourgeois ideology."

Four literary critics who wrote for the magazine were condemned along with Tvardovsky. They were V. Pomerantsev, M. Lifshits, F. Abramov, and M. Shcheglov. Their articles, said the Literary Gazette, "cast doubt upon the ideology and vital truthfulness of Soviet literature."

BRITISH GUIANA THWARTS PLOT TO DYNAMITE ESTATES

New Tubeless Aid For Deaf Revealed

CHICAGO (Special)—New hope for the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing was voiced by S. M. Posen, noted Chicago acoustical scientist and president of the Beltone Hearing Aid Co.

He revealed that a new "atomic age" all-transistor hearing aid, eliminating all vacuum tubes and costly B-batteries, has been unveiled.

This revolutionary new tubeless electronic wonder for the deaf is sound powered by three tiny miraculous transistors and cuts all battery costs 80%.

To acquaint the hard-of-hearing readers of this newspaper with what this amazing new invention, the transistor, means to them and how it enables them to hear again with a clarity and ease they never dreamed possible, full authoritative details are described in a fascinating new illustrated booklet. It will be sent in a plain wrapper without any cost or obligation.

To obtain your free copy, simply send your request to: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 757C, Beltone Hearing Aid Co., 2900 W. 36th St., Chicago 32, Ill. A postcard will do.

STOCKHOLDERS OK STUDEBAKER AND PACKARD MERGER

DETROIT, Aug. 17 (UP) — Packard and Studebaker were merged today to improve their competitive position.

Studebaker stockholders in Wilmington, Del., voted 1,928,846 to 28,274 for the merger. Packard stockholders favored it by 89.9 per cent of those voting.

The merger left the automobile industry without an independent manufacturer. Once some 1600 independents turned out automobiles. The number of companies now has been squeezed to six—the "Big Three" of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler and the "Little Three" of Studebaker-Packard, American Motors and Kaiser-Willys. American is the combine of Hudson and Nash-Kelvinator.

The "Little Three" resulted from mergers within the last 18 months.

James J. Nance, Packard president who will be chief executive officer of the new Studebaker-Packard Corp., told questioning stockholders:

"We are caught in a terrific squeeze between General Motors and Ford. We don't know if this is the answer. But we can't go it alone selling high-priced cars exclusively."

Studebaker traces its history back 100 years to the days it was one of the nation's top wagon-makers. Packard has been in the field 55 years.

In the new company Paul G. Hoffman will be board chairman, and Harold S. Vance, head of the executive committee. Hoffman and Vance have been board chairman and president, respectively, of Studebaker.

TRAFFIC LIGHT STUDY FOR DOWNTOWN AREA

Mayor Wants to Know Cost of Putting Signal at Every Corner.

Traffic Commissioner Charles G. Gonter was instructed yesterday by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker to make a study to determine the cost of installing automatic traffic signals in the downtown area at all intersections not already equipped.

There are 74 intersections without signals in the area bounded by Third street, Twelfth boulevard, Market street and Franklin avenue. It has been estimated roughly that it would cost about $750,000 to install signals at all these corners.

Following yesterday's conference with Gonter, Mayor Tucker said he had asked that the study be made to determine whether the city can find enough money on hand to complete the program in the downtown area.

Installation of the signals has been indorsed by the Mayor's Stop Sign Committee and officials of the police department. The latter have said the traffic lights would free for other duties many policemen now assigned to direct traffic.

FAIR DISTRIBUTION OF U.S. FOOD AID IS PLEDGED BY EAST

BERLIN, Aug. 17 (AP)—East German Red Cross officials have promised to distribute American food aid to Iron Curtain flood victims on a basis of need and without regard to race, creed or political conviction.

Welfare officials from the Soviet zone met here yesterday with a three-man western committee which included a Swiss, a Swede and an American. The meeting was the outcome of President Eisenhower's offer of help July 29 following devastating river floods in central Europe.

The East German government accepted the aid offer 10 days ago. Communist Hungary and Czechoslovakia announced acceptance yesterday "with gratitude."

The east-west conference agreed that Jacques Montant of Switzerland and Col. Victor Ankarcrona of Sweden would survey needs in the Russian zone. The third member, Henry Dunning of the United States, will not accompany them but the American Red Cross will be kept informed of the handling of the distribution.

Dr. Werner Ludwig, chairman of the East German Red Cross, gave assurances that all relief goods would bear Red Cross markings.

TWO MEN ARE SOUGHT IN ASSAULT ON WOMAN

Police were searching today for two men who criminally assaulted a 41-year-old woman at the foot of Carrie street last night after forcing her into their automobile near the intersection of St. Ferdinand avenue and Sarah street.

The woman was treated at City Hospital for lacerations, contusions and a fractured nose. She said the men, young Negroes, asked for street directions, then seized her as she approached their car. She lost consciousness after the assaults, she said, but managed to make her way to a nearby tavern early today, when police were summoned.

RADIOACTIVE HAIL IN CAPITAL AFTER TESTS IN NEVADA

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (UP)—Some of the hailstones pelting the nation's capital were nearly the size of tennis balls. Children sucked the stones. Only later was it discovered that the stones were radioactive.

It was "rather fortunate," reported three scientists of the Navy's hydrographic office, that the radioactivity was of "low value," and so the children showed no "apparent ill effects."

Twenty-nine hours before atomic cannon shells had been tested on the Atomic Energy Commission's proving grounds at Frenchman's Flats, Nev., a distance from the capital of 1930 nautical miles.

Gilbert Jaffe, Walter Wittmann and Charles C. Bates were disclosing a hitherto unknown facet of the freak storm which hit the District of Columbia on May 26, 1953.

Their report was to the American Meteorological Society which had a report on a new method of locating jet streams, those being fast moving wind currents at altitudes of 20,000 to 30,000 feet which can double the speed of a plane if it's lucky enough to get into it.

ROUTINE HANDLING GIVEN M'CARTHY TAX RETURN PROBE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17 (AP)—Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews of the Internal Revenue Service says the investigation of Senator Joseph McCarthy's income tax returns is being handled in a routine manner and without special consideration. Andrews said last night McCarthy had been "extremely cooperative with us" during the investigation.

Andrews, appearing on the television program Junior Press Conference on ABC, said he was not permitted to divulge any details of the investigation.

The Washington Evening Star said Thursday that McCarthy owed additional income taxes and interest of about $25,000. McCarthy called the story a "complete and vicious libel." Andrews declined to comment on the newspaper story.

New Jersey Publisher Dies.

METUCHEN, N.J., Aug. 17 (AP)—Paul V. Murphy, president of the Perth Amboy Evening News Co. died today of a heart attack. He was 66 years old. He was associated with newspapers in Massachusetts prior to coming to the Perth Amboy Evening News in 1935 as business manager.

PENDERGAST CANDIDATE CONCEDES JUDGESHIP RACE

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 17 (AP)—Nomination of Hunter Phillips as the Democratic candidate for western judge of the Jackson County Court was conceded yesterday by Henry H. Fox Jr.

Fox had made the race in the Aug. 3 primary election and disputed the results as shown in the count of ballots. In a statement yesterday, however, Fox said he lost the election by 17 votes. Official returns gave 31,878 votes to Phillips and 31,858 to Fox.

Fox ran with the support of the Pendergast political forces. He said his decision not to contest the election was made after a conference with his advisers.

URGES DISBARRING LAWYERS WHO PLEAD 5TH AMENDMENT

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—The American Bar Association yesterday heard a proposal that attorneys who take refuge behind the Fifth Amendment be disbarred.

The proposal was made by Herbert R. O'Conor, former Maryland Senator and Governor, at the association's seventy-seventh annual convention. O'Conor is chairman of the group's special committee on Communist tactics, strategy and objectives.

O'Conor said courts have the inherent power to determine the fitness of lawyers and that local bar associations and Attorney General Brownell should start disbarment proceedings wherever necessary.

Germans Reported Organizing To Win Markets in Africa

French Say Schacht Heads Efforts by Industrialists to Gain Equal Terms in Dark Continent.

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1954.

PARIS, Aug. 17—French Socialists charge that the industrialists of West Germany are once more organizing plans for the economic penetration of Africa.

They claim to have information showing that Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the Reichsbank, is in charge of the operation, the ultimate purpose of which is to revive Germany's claim to equal opportunity in the Dark Continent.

He is backed, they say, by such industrial moguls as Krupp, Otto Wolf, Flick, Rensch and Dinkelbach. He is also alleged to have the strictly unofficial blessing of the Bonn government itself.

An article published in L'Information by Daniel Mayer, a former Socialist cabinet minister, says an organization known as the "Fund in Support of German Interests in Africa" has been set up with five immediate aims:

1. Financing operations of German corporations and individuals in the African trade.

2. The organization of trips by the funds representatives to Africa and the recruitment of local representatives in Africa itself.

3. The re-establishment of the "Reichs - Kolonialschule" and other institutions which formerly interested themselves in Germany's colonial claims.

4. Financial support of the "German Overseas Service" (Deutscher Uberseedienst) which was created by the federal German government in 1952.

5. The financing of a pro-German propaganda program in Africa.

A claim by Germany to equal opportunity in the African markets of France, Belgium and Britain has been expected as a natural sequel to the "integration of Europe" through such devices as the proposed European Defense Community.

Intense German activity in the markets of the Middle East and particularly in Egypt, following the decline of British influence there, has scared the daylights out of French exporters.

There is little doubt in their minds that the Germans, with lower manufacturing costs and high quality products to offer, could make a killing in such markets as Morocco, Tunisia and French Central Africa if they were allowed to compete on equal terms with the French. The same applies to many products in the case of the Belgian Congo which has always been operated as a closed market by the Belgians.

If the EDC is ratified and European unity again becomes an active issue the Germans are bound to insist that establishment of a customs-union in Europe should be pursued.

They are also bound to demand that the abolition of barriers be accepted as a principle in connection with the African territories controlled by EDC's members.

The Wise Confounded.

BOSTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Catholic Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, recalling that when he was a schoolboy his teachers didn't regard his future as rosy. "But as always the Lord chooses the foolish to confound the wise."

STALEY PRESENTS:

SUPER EGG ATOMS

with SUPER POWER... to Bring Pullets into Early Egg Production

How to Bring Flocks into Production

1. WORM YOUR FLOCK with Staley's new WORMER ATOMS. Simply feed WORMER ATOMS, and nothing else, for one day — get rid of both roundworms and cecal worms that retard development, spread disease and waste feed. There's no individual handling of birds . . . and the cost is a fraction of the price of capsule treatments.

2. FEED SUPER EGG ATOMS straight, without grain, for 7 days. You'll be amazed at the way SUPER EGG ATOMS get birds into condition to lay . . . even if they're far behind schedule. It costs little more than ordinary rations to feed SUPER EGG ATOMS. Compare the price with the cost of even a short production lag.

3. FOLLOW WITH SOLO, DUO OR TRIO Egg Atoms for continuous high production and extra economy. Check the descriptions on this page and pick the ATOMS to fit your program. You can safely switch from SUPER to any of the EGG ATOMS without throwing your flock off. All have the same basic formulation.

Now . . . Staley offers SUPER EGG ATOMS . . . with super power to get pullets ready to lay when they should . . . even if you've kicked open the henhouse door and let 'em rough through the summer!

You've read about the remarkable results obtained by continuous high level feeding of antibiotics. Now, you can get the same wonderful response with SUPER EGG ATOMS — so powerful they stop CRD, air sac and sinusitis in their tracks . . . sharply reduce mortality from blue comb and nonspecific enteritis.

A perfect blend of many natural proteins plus brimful levels of vitamins and minerals also help stimulate egg production and promote health.

Use SUPER EGG ATOMS according to the directions at the left and see for yourself what a super powerful feed can do for even the most backward flock!

If you want to maintain unusually high levels of egg production and health, feed SUPER EGG ATOMS continuously. Or . . . feed as a tonic feed when hens go "off feed" or to stop losses from certain diseases.

Halts CRD, Air Sac and Sinusitis... Sharply Reduces Mortality from Blue Comb and Nonspecific Enteritis

There's a Staley Egg Feed to Answer Every Laying Flock Need

WORMER ATOMS
An easy-to-use, one-day worming feed. There's nothing to mix, no individual handling of birds. Simply feed WORMER ATOMS, and nothing else, for one day and the job is done. Worms waste feed, steal eggs and spread disease. Be sure to worm your flock before you house them and periodically thereafter.

SUPER EGG ATOMS
A high-level antibiotic feed—one of the most powerful rations ever developed for maintaining egg production and health at the highest possible level at the lowest possible cost. Also effective as a tonic feed for birds that "go off feed" or for controlling certain common diseases of hens.

SOLO EGG ATOMS
A complete, perfectly balanced ration, designed to be fed without grain. There's just exactly the right balance of carbohydrates, proteins, vitamins and minerals in every bite... no danger of overfeeding either grain or supplement. Solo EGG ATOMS are fed extensively by professional egg producers. Solo carries 15% protein.

DUO EGG ATOMS
For flock owners who wish to use their own grain. Duo EGG ATOMS, fed 50-50 with grain, supply exactly the right levels of nutrients to supplement the grain. Keep Duo EGG ATOMS before birds at all times. Feed 12-15 lbs. of grain per 100 hens every afternoon. Duo is a 20% protein ration. Grain averages it down to 15-16%.

TRIO EGG ATOMS
The ideal ration for the expert feeder who has an abundance of grain and is able to balance grain carefully with a cafeteria-type program. Trio EGG ATOMS are so loaded with extra high levels of nutrients, you can safely feed them with two parts grain.

Blazing Cardinal Bats to Swing Against Best Pitching

WRAY'S COLUMN

Day Baseball's Future Has a Dark Outlook.

THE collapse of an umpire during the Cardinals-Cincinnati game, Sunday, due to intense heat and manifest effect on the players of both clubs as well, seemed to lend point to the suggestion that major league schedules be confined to night games during the summer months.

This Cincinnati incident ties in with an article on the all-night schedule theory inasmuch as the Reds' general manager, Gabe Paul, writing in last Friday's Sporting News, had proposed "all night play during hot months." . . . He argues that: "Night baseball is not harmful but helpful on 'get-away' days.

"All night games would put less strain on the players and umpires, cause less travel inconvenience and make more money for all.

THE Cincinnati club plays about three night games a week, on the average. . . . "I am sure the players agree that it would be much better in every way if we had all night games," Paul commented.

And, when you consider it, you'll agree that a long, hard, night game of more than three hours, ending around midnight and followed by another three-hour contest under the blazing sun, next afternoon, is not going to contribute to the players' welfare, to their playing or to the efficiency of the umpires.

Let's add that the money angle is not to be sneezed away. . . . An all night-game schedule, in Cincinnati's case, would add 100,000 to the attendance.

To the club that schedules a low number of night games each season, the idea is not likely to be appealing. . . . But you can't help feeling that baseball, with Old Sol out of the picture, would be helpful.

Maybe Rickey's New 'Formula' Is Working.

THE Pittsburgh Pirates, it seems, no longer are the doormat of big league baseball. . . . That place has been taken over by the Baltimore Orioles, who were 43½ games in the A. L.'s deep freeze this morning. . . . In the National League the Rickeymen are last, but they have a four-game better record in their own league than their American League cellar rivals.

Strictly on a "games behind" showing they are 15½ games nearer the top of their league than the hapless Orioles are in theirs.

In the meantime the Pirates definitely have shown signs of life as of this year. . . . Maybe Rickey's new "formula" for evaluating teams and players is bearing fruit. . . . That youth movement may be growing up, too. . . . It's time. . . . When Rickey joined the Pirates attendance was down.

In 1951 it fell below a million for the first time in years. . . . By last year this had dwindled to less than 575,000. . . . Up to August 11 this season it had fallen to 374,000. . . . And for Pittsburgh that is foreboding.

Something certainly must change. . . . Rickey already is reported as considering retirement. . . . But that won't do. . . . Branch is a man of mind and energy. . . . His record tells of the wonders he has worked for baseball. . . . We're hoping the formula, or something, comes through for the Mahatma. . . . The game can't afford to lose a genius.

Three-Year-Olds May Further Confuse Title.

THE three-year-old thoroughbred championship, now in a nebulous state, is likely to become even more confused next Saturday after the running of a race that has had a very confusing history—the American Derby. . . .

Three horses at present are in the struggle for top honors in this division. . . . They are: Determine, winner of three derbies—the Santa Anita, the Kentucky and the Bay Meadows classics. . . . Hasty Road, winner of the second leg of the Triple Crown, the Preakness. . . . Then comes High Gun, winner of the Belmont Stakes.

Recently Errard King has been coming to life and might, by beating Hasty Road and High Gun, at Washington Park, set up a claim.

Unfortunately for a sure settlement of the title, Determine is not to start next Saturday. . . . He is the most consistent of all the three-year-olds, beaten only by older horses in his later efforts.

Fisherman, winner of the Travers Stakes last Saturday, is another candidate expected to start in the American Derby. . . . If he should win this he too could enter a claim.

As of today, the California hope Determine, though a small horse, has been the most consistent winner in this division this year. . . . He defeated Hasty Road, in the big Derby . . . has beaten all the good three-year-olds that have faced him, and has given weight on the age scale to older horses. . . . Unless some rival gets real hot soon, he'll probably be rated No. 1, next October.

Braves Bid For Tenth In a Row

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 17—Can the National League's best pitching staff nullify baseball's best batting attack?

That was the question today, the answer to which—six weeks from now—could mean $6400 or more to each of Milwaukee's fast-driving Braves, confronted once more by the Cardinals as an obstacle to their spirited pennant bid.

Last week at Busch Stadium the Braves did bottle up the Redbird offense, limiting Eddie Stanky's team to six runs in three games and sweeping a series that contributed to Milwaukee's current string of nine straight victories and 20 out of the last 22.

It's too much on the strength of past performance this season to expect the Cardinals' own staff to handcuff Charley Grimm's club, even though Stanky has his best available ready for a three-game series that will open at County Stadium tonight before a crowd of more than 40,000.

Lawrence Seeks 11th Win.

In the opener Brooks (The Bull) Lawrence of stamina, stuff, courage and a tell-tale 10-5 record will pitch for the Redbirds. Ace Harvey Haddix will try a fourth time for his sixteenth victory tomorrow night and young Gordon Jones, the victim of poor defensive play in a 3-1 setback at the hands of the Braves last week, will hurl Thursday afternoon's contest.

Grimm, before leading his team out of town on a flying trip to Toronto for an ill-timed exhibition game last night, named Milwaukee's starters—in order—as Jim Wilson, Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette, three top hands of a magnificent staff that has pitched 81 complete games and owns a highly significant 3.14 earned-run average.

Wilson, unbeaten in eight decisions of an astonishing comeback, shut out the Cardinals on three hits a week ago, 11 to 0, but in his only other start against them they combed him in a game won by the Braves, 8 to 6, only because St. Louis pitching, as usual, was inadequate.

The fact, though, getting back to the question of the best defense against the best offense, is that over the season the Cardinals have roughed up the Milwaukee mound stalwarts more than any other club. They've scored 68 runs in 13 games, just six fewer than the Braves have tallied off them, for a dangerous 5.2 average.

6.4 Run Average.

Dangerous is the right word, make no mistake of it, because if a Lawrence or a Haddix or a Jones would check Milwaukee, the Braves could ill afford to have the Redbirds score at their past rate, especially here. In five games at County Stadium, the last three of which they've won, the Cards have counted at a 6.4 average.

Because of that three-game sweep last week at St. Louis, the Braves have taken an 8-5 edge over the Redbirds on the season's play. There's no doubt they're hot now, too, but so are the blazing Cardinal bats that battered Cincinnati to its knees over the weekend.

There's an inclination here to write off the Redbirds as a second-division team and a stepping stone for the latter-day Miracle Braves. However, wih nine games still to be played between the two clubs and individual Cardinals inspired by the league batting and baseball leads as well as fourth-place money, Milwaukee still might wish for a better break in the schedule.

It'll be up to that big question—can the National League's best pitching staff contain baseball's best batting attack?

Baumann Fans Nine as Sox Trim Giants

BOSTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Red Sox Third Baseman Ted Lepcio doubled to right in the ninth scoring Sam Mele with the tie-breaking run for a 6-5 victory last night over the New York Giants in an exhibition game before 37,710 fans at Fenway Park.

Frank Baumann, Red Sox bonus rookie from St. Louis, allowed nine hits and struck out nine in going the distance. Losing pitcher Alex Konikowski, who came on in the sixth for starter Larry Jansen, gave up three runs on five hits. The Red Sox had a total of 12.

Baumann, 20, was on leave from Camp Chaffee, Ark., for the contest benefiting hospitalized veterans. He faced a 16-man Giant lineup, including Manager Leo Durocher who popped out to the infield his only time at bat.

The Red Sox broke a 5-5 tie in the ninth on a walk to Mele, a single by Karl Olson and Lepcio's double.

Red Sox catcher Del Wilber hit three balls into the left field screen in five tries to take the pre-game home run hitting contest from Willies Mays (1) and Ted Williams none, and other hitting stars.

St. Stephen Victor.

St. Stephen routed Resurrection, 10-0, to qualify for the C.Y.C. Baseball Association's Crusader Division championship playoffs. Pitcher Phil Otto did not allow a hit in the game cut to five innings by the 10-run rule.

Roberts Beats 'Em All But He Can't Pick 'Em

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (UP)—Robin Roberts owns more victories than any other pitcher in the majors today and he also owns a suspicion that the three National League contenders may not settle the pennant question until the final week of the season.

Roberts, in hurling the Phillies to a 9-6 triumph over the Dodgers in the only big league game scheduled last night, not only gained his eighteenth victory of the season, but also kept Brooklyn from climbing into a virtual first-place tie with the Giants.

Had the Dodgers won, they would have been only two percentage points behind the Giants. As it is, they are one game behind New York and only 2½ games ahead of red-hot third-place Milwaukee.

"The race is so close that there's no telling which team is actually in the driver's seat now,' Roberts said following his triumph over the Dodgers.

"There really isnt much to choose between the Giants, Dodgers and Braves," he added. "Brooklyn has the best hitting, New York has the best pitching, and Milwaukee has the best balance and tremendous spirit.

"You can't judge the Dodgers on what they did tonight. They didn't get good pitching. For that matter, we didn't get extra special pitching ourselves."

He Walks Six Men.

Roberts said a mouthful. Even though he pitched his twenty-first complete game of the season, he was nicked for Gil Hodges's thirty-first home run and Pee Wee Reese's tenth, in addition to which he committed a wild pitch and walked six men. The six bases on balls represented the most Roberts yielded in a single game since the 1951 season.

Walt Alston, the usually conservative Brooklyn manager, gambled against the Phils when he started inexperienced Bob Darnell, who joined the Dodgers only two weeks ago from St. Paul. Darnell lasted only two frames.

"Darnell just couldn't get his curve ball over," Reese said afterward, "but I think the kid is going to make a good pitcher."

There was no gloom in the Brooklyn dressing room even though the Dodgers realized they booted an opportunity.

Pirates Easy Picking?

"Naturally, we would have liked to have beaten Roberts," said Duke Snider, who collected two of Brooklyn's eight hits, "but we're not in bad shape at all."

He could have been referring to the fact that the Dodgers launch a three-game series at Pittsburgh tonight and Brooklyn has already captured 10 of its 12 games with the last-place Pirates this season.

None of the Dodgers seemed particularly upset by the loss to the Phils, even though they had tied the score at 4-all in the third inning and then watched Clem Labine and Preacher Roe get rapped for six singles in a five-run fifth inning.

While Brooklyn meets Pittsburgh tonight, the league-leading Giants play host to the Phillies, Milwaukee is at home to St. Louis.

Bob Toski to Use $50,000 Tam Prize To Build New Home

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—That $50,000 for winning Tam O'Shanter's fabulous golf tournament isn't burning a hole in Bob Toski's pocket.

He and his wife, Lynn, are going to use it to build a dream house.

It's up to Lynn to decide where we're going to build," says the 127-pound Livingston, N.J. pro who cashed in for golf's greatest prize Sunday. "We've got plenty of time to think it over. But that's where the money is going—to build a house."

Tebbetts Fined For Row With Umpire Stewart

CINCINNATI, Aug. 17 (UP)—National League President Warren Giles yesterday fined Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, $50 for his run-in with Umpire Bill Stewart here Friday night.

The incident followed Stewart's decision that center fielder Gus Bell of the Redlegs did not catch a sinking line drive hit by Wally Moon of the St. Louis Cardinals with two out in the ninth inning. The hit produced two runs, giving St. Louis a 10-8 victory.

Giles said the penalty might have been more severe if the Reds' manager had not apologized to the umpire Saturday for the language he used in protesting the decision.

Maplewood Gets Second Chance at Enid in Legion Tourney

GOLF
by ROBERT MORRISON

Upset Material.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17. BILLY JOE PATTON rates as a favorite for next week's National Amateur golf championship at Detroit, but maybe the Morganton, N.C., sensation won't even get past the first of eight rounds.

The 32-year-old Patton is paired against the young (18) but sharp Rex Baxter Jr. in a first-round match next Monday, and the man from Carolina is not necessarily a cinch.

Possibility of an upset was suggested by Jim Jackson as the St. Louis Walker Cupper prepared to take off for the big event.

Jim has had a chance to observe both players at first hand. He defeated Baxter in the Trans-Mississippi tournament final at Denver last month. He saw Patton in one of Billy Joe's greater moment at the Masters tournament last April.

"I don't know too much about the National Amateur course at the Country Club of Detroit," Jim said, "but if it's a tight and narrow course, Baxter could beat Patton.

"Patton's tremendous off the tee, but he is apt to be wild and that could be costly."

It's a Shaky Limb.

ACTUALLY, nobody should go too strong in naming favorites for the major match play title for amateurs, because there are too many players in the field of 200 who easily could win.

Patton has been the sensation of the season. He played dramatically to come within a stroke of tying Sam Snead and Ben Hogan in the Masters tournament.

Following that performance, he proved he was no fluke by winning the North and South amateur title. Then he topped that off with a low-amateur effort in the National Open in which he had 289 for sixth place, just five strokes back of Ed Furgol's winning 284.

The Carolina lumber wholesaler, whose prowess was known among amateur golfers before this season, certainly has earned a favorite position in the amateur, but it sets him up for an upset.

Baxter is a boy who can be tough, especially in an 18-hole match. He had Jackson six down after 12 holes of the 36-hole T.-M. final. And later, in National Amateur qualifying, Baxter was lowest in the country with 69-64—133.

This List Is Long

DESPITE the fact that the amateur title will not be defended by the now professional Gene Littler, and that several recent former champions are missing, the list of strong contenders is long.

Sectional winners of the current season include T.-M. Champion Jackson, Southern Amateur Winner Joe Conrad, Western Amateur Winner Bruce Cudd, seven-time Metropolitan Amateur Winner Frank Strafaci, All-American Champion Arnold Palmer, N.C.A.A. Titlist Hillman Robbins Jr., and United States Public Links Winner Gene Andrews (formerly of Kirkwood, Mo.).

These are in addition, of course, to such widely known players as Harvie Ward (first-round opponent of St. Louis's Hord W. Hardin), Frank Stranahan, Don Cherry, Ted Bishop, Dick Chapman, Charley Coe, Bill Campbell, Dale Morey (runner-up last year), and numerous other well-established players.

The champion could be any one of these — or somebody else. As the U.S.G.A.'s Joe Dey has said, there are so many good amateur golfers that "any player good enough to qualify is good enough to win."

36-Hole Golf Meet At Indian Meadows

Golfers of both private and public links here will participate in the 36-hole tournament at Indian Meadows course, Saturday and Sunday. There will be a men's and a women's division in this event conducted by the St. Louis Public Links Golf Association. Entries, being accepted by Milton Frank, 4714 Seattle st., will close Thursday.

Attention, Algonquin!

HIGHLANDS, N.C., Aug. 17—A 140-yard hole-in-one by a St. Louisan, Edward E. Ford of Algonquin Golf Club, was the talk of the Highlands Country Club today. Ford used a No. 4 iron for his ace on the second hole and finished the 18-hole round in 76 strokes.

Eliminates Kansans in 25-5 Rout

By John J. Archibald
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff

ALTUS, Okla., Aug. 17—Maplewood players, who have been disguising themselves as Oklahomans by wearing 10-gallon hats and loud cowboy shirts, have hopes that the Oklahoma Legion champs will mistake them for somebody else—for anything but Missourians — when they take the field in the American Legion Regional Tournament tonight. If the Enid club is aware of the traditional hex that Oklahoma athletic groups hold over refugees from Missouri, the going will be mighty rough.

Maplewood disposed of the first part of its comeback last night by reawakening its bats against McPherson, Kan., to win 25 to 5. That eliminated Kansas from the meet and narrowed it down to Missouri and the home state team. Because the Okies beat Maplewood 6 to 1, Sunday night, the Missourians must triumph tonight and tomorrow to win the tournament.

Wayne Thompson, who has reached an all-time peak in effectiveness since tournament play began, will be Maplewood's pitcher tonight. Thompson pitched the first six innings Saturday as Maplewood trounced Iowa by a 25-4 score, then hurled three hitless frames in relief against Oklahoma Sunday night. He had a full rest yesterday.

Cooper Back in Form.

Bob Cooper returned to his best form last night and it was a joy to see. 'Coop' had been off his feed in recent weeks and had been troubled by wildness. While he worked against the Kansans (who had scored 20 runs the day before), he could hardly have been better. During his six innings Cooper allowed two hits, walked three and struck out 11.

Coach Pete Palumbo removed him so he could rest for duty against Oklahoma as Maplewood had piled up a 14-0 lead after six innings.

Jackie Satterwhite came in to pitch the seventh, but Jack didn't have the control he displayed in relief Saturday and after three walks and a base hit, first baseman Jerry Wolff relieved. There were a couple of errors while Wolff was retiring three batters and Kansas made four runs during the inning. Kansas made its fifth run on a double and a single in the eighth, but all in all, Wolff's hurling was creditable.

At the bat, Wolff was deserving of richer adjectives. He paced Maplewood's colorful offense with a home run, a double and two singles in his eight times at bat, and drove in four runs.

Kansas Make 8 Errors.

Wolff's homer was one of two hit over the fence near the 340 foot mark. Pitcher Bob Cooper hit the other one as he led off in the third.

Shortstop Bob (Sparky) Harris had a double and three singles, Charley James had two doubles and a single, and Bob Sadowski a triple and a single.

McPherson's team was of considerable help to Maplewood, committing eigh errors. Kansas pitchers contributed a dozen bases on balls, hit two batsmen, and made three wild pitches. But Kansas's greatest weakness was its catcher, a regular outfielder named Jim Ostlind, who was filling in because the first-string receiver suffered a spiked hand in the state tournament. Ostlind had no talent for throwing and Maplewood runners moved at will, stealing 10 bases. Oklahoma, incidentally, stole only one base against Ostlind in Saturday's game.

Because the economic situation caused by the severe drouth, permission was obtained from Lou Brissie, the Legions' baseball head to reduce the price of admission to the regional games from 75 cents to 50. Attendance has averaged about 300 per game.

The unexpected back-to-the-wall stand by the Maplewood team caused by their defeat Sunday, has created great uneasiness among the large group of St. Louis Countians who followed the team here. Many had arranged to return Sunday night if Maplewood won the first two games, but when the club lost a flock of telegrams and long distance calls had to be sent in order to pacify wives and employers regarding the extended stay.

El Conscripto Caught in a Draft

—United Press Telephoto.

Aldinger Has 83, Davis 85 in Caddie Tourney

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17—Jay Aldinger, 17-year-old caddie of Algonquin Golf Club, St. Louis, shot an 83, 11 over par, for the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round of the National Caddie tournament here today, while Bob Davis, Sunset, had an 85.

Playing over the course of Ohio State University were 53 youths attempting to qualify for match play but as there were only 53 entrants, all of them will get into match play, with 11 drawing byes in the first round tomorrow set up for 64.

Aldinger's score put him in a tie for twenty-first place while Davis was tied for thirtieth position.

Tied for the lead at the end of the first round were John Chimienti, Harrisburg, Pa., and John Frazzini, Erie, Pa., each with a 74. Chimienti is one of the favorites to win the tournament.

Chimienti dropped a 12-foot putt on the eighteenth green to finish two strokes ahead of Wayne Manning of Kansas City, Mo., but Frazzini was behind him and closing fast over Ohio State University's Scarlet course. One stroke behind Manning were Dick Burgoon of Harrisburg; Eugene Boreaux of New York City, and Walt Thomas of Kansas City, all with 75's; Dick Hauff of Chicago and Jerry McFerren, Washington, D.C., with 76's; Gene Cardi of Columbus, Rino Dell Flora of Columbus, Dave Cooper of Dayton and John Sommer of Indianapolis, Ind., all with 77's.

A $250 scholarship goes to the medalist.

The Algonquin youngster was well back of the early pace. Leading the early shooters was 17-year-old John Chimenti of Harrisburg, Pa., with 74. This boy is one of the favorites to win the tournament. He was a semi-finalist a year ago.

Davis found his trouble on the greens, he three putted several of the large greens.

Aldinger was off on his approaches and was unable to recover when close to the green.

Davis and Aldinger won the two places in the recent Post-Dispatch - sponsored tournament at Norwood Hills.

The two St. Louis youths, along with other caddie tournament contestants, were among honored guests here yesterday at the annual Celebrities Tournament that helps foot the bills for the Caddie Tournament Scholarship Fund. (Scholarship prizes total $5000 in value.) Some 2500 spectators paid $2.50 each to see the famous men perform.

Ed Furgol, national open champion from St. Louis' Westwood, and Bob Toski, winner in the Tam O'Shanter event, were on hand, and Furgol gave his home-town compatriots his best wishes for luck in their tournament.

Furgol dropped in from Tam O'Shanter where he finished well back, and it was a familiar story for the reigning National open champion.

Belleville and Lafayette Win In Legion Meet

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 17 (AP)—Belleville, Ill., carved out a 15-1 victory last night eliminating Detroit Ternstedt from Region 7 playoffs of the American Legion Baseball tournament.

The Illinois team slammed a trio of Detroit pitchers for 17 hits. Its big inning was the third when six runs scored, three of them on a bases loaded triple by Bill Morton.

Meanwhile, Illinois hurlers—Royce Stroud, who hurled the first six frames, and Teddy Tedesco—limited the Detroit squad to four hits.

Detroit scored its lone run in the sixth inning when Joe Grabowski singled and rode home on a triple by Henry Dutkiewicz.

It was the second straight loss for the Detroiters and dropped them from the double elimination tournament. Belleville also has one loss.

Lafayette, Ind., defeated Cincinnati Bentley 7-1 in the second game behind the five-hit pitching of Jerry Neal and Larry Shuman who relieved in the eighth.

Lafayette's big inning was the third when the Hoosiers scored three times on four singles with Ed Becker's single accounting for two of the runs.

Neal, a righthander, drove in two runs with a double in the fifth.

The Ohio team's lone run was unearned. It came in the sixth on two walks and a pair of fielders choices.

Sisler to Officially Open Semi-Pro Event

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 17 (UP)—Commissioner George H. Sisler will officially open the 32-team championship play for the $10,000 purse sponsored by the National Baseball Congress here Friday night.

The opening game will bring together the San Diego, Calif., Devil-Dogs and the winner of the Missouri State tournament, to be played at Sedalia.

After the 7 p.m. opener the Wichita Boeing Bombers of Kansas, number 2 team in the 1953 national tourney, will meet Las Vegas's Nellies at 9 p.m.

Three games are scheduled for Saturday night and five for Sunday.

13 Runs Without A Hit, Not Even A Batted 'Out'

THE Conkin Giants lost a 35-13 decision to the DeHarts last night in the ABC Khoury League (Atom Division) at Legion Park in Overland, but they were the talk of the Khoury organization today.

Reason: They scored their 13 runs without making a hit off the DeHarts' two hurlers, Dennis Hill and Jerry Brennon, and, moreover, all those tallies crossed the plate without the aid of even one single batted ball that went for an out. All resulted from walks or hit batsmen. Two scored in the first, four in the third and seven in the fourth.

Handball Tourney.

The annual invitational doubles handball tourney of the Forest Park Handball Club will begin Sept. 12 on the Forest Park courts. Entries close Sept. 6 with Frank Wolff, MA 1-2223.

Ryff Defeats Brady; Dreyer Kayoes Lopez

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Frankie Ryff, the unbeaten Bronx lightweight, ran his string to 13 by winning a unanimous decision over Dennis (Pat) Brady last night at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway. Brady proved only a foil for Ryff to tune up for a Sept. 13 match with Ralph Dupas, highly regarded New Orleans schoolboy.

Brady, who has fought both, thinks the Ryff-Dupas bout should be a draw. "They're both the same type," he said. "Dupas may be a little faster but they both hit about the same."

Adios Boy Victor in $23,000 Racing Derby

Yonkers, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Adios Boy, hailed as the greatest 3-year-old pacer in many a year, broke stride about a quarter mile from the finish but came on again to win the $23,400 Yonkers Derby in the fast time of 2:01 2-5 last night at Yonkers Raceway.

The son of Adios, so lightly regarded as a yearling that he wasn't named for the traditional rich stakes, hit the finish line a length ahead of Adios Harry from J. Howard Lyons' Harrington, Del., Stable. Famous Mite was another two lengths back for third money in the field of 10 pacing 3-year-olds.

As the odds-on-choice, Adios Boy, owned by J. S. Turner of Nassawadox, Va., paid $3.50, $2.40 and $2.60. Adios Harry returned $2.70 and $2.70 and Famous Mite from the stable of S. A. Walthen and Son of Fairfield, Maine, $8.10 to show.

California Girl Vs. St. Louisan

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Patsy Palmer of Phoenix and Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., head a field of 64 young players who start play today in the National Girls tennis championships. They are seeded first and second, respectively.

A new singles champion is assured since the 1953 winner, Lorraine Williams of Chicago, has passed the age limit of 15.

Other seedings, in order, include Albertina Rodi, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Carolyn Wikoff, Middleton, Ohio; Carole Wright, Brooklyn and Patricia Hubbard, Washington, D.C.

Top foreign ranking went to Rosa Maria Reyes of Mexico City.

In one of the featured first round matches, Miss Rodi will play Mary Clendenin of St. Louis, who is only 10 but is regarded a good match for many 15-year-old rivals.

Longhorn League Star May Be Polio Victim

SWEETWATER, Tex., Aug. 17 (UP)—Physicians in an Abilene hospital are studying outfielder Ken Cluley, leading hitter of the Sweetwater team of the Longhorn League with a .360 average, to see if he has polio. However, the 26-year-old player is able to eat and has no stiffness in his neck and an attending physician said, "If it is polio, it is a very mild case."

Holtmann, Hart And Parker Win In Parks Tennis

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 17 (AP)—All but one St. Louis entrant in the National Public Parks tennis tournament survived first-round play yesterday. Bunny Wall fell before the left-handed swinging of Kay Hackett of Salt Lake City, 6-4, 6-4.

Marilyn Mueller won by default over Virginia Washburn of Pittsburgh, Pa., but today was scheduled to play Mary Arnold Prentiss, who has held the title for four straight years.

Merceina Parker of St. Louis drew a first-round bye and in second-round play won, 6-0, 6-0, over Joan Warner of Minneapolis. The first St. Louis victory was turned in by Ralph Hart, who used a powerful backhand, mixed with a booming forehand, to win over Grant Hickman of Salt Lake City, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

Al Holtmann had the toughest time before he disposed of Wayne Pearce, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. Pearce is a senior at Salt Lake's South High School, but is rated high in the tennis arenas of the Inter-Mountain area. Pearce forced Holtmann into a deuce almost every game.

Native Dancer, Packing 137 Pounds, Wins Easily

Dancer in Soft Shoe Solo

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Maybe it was just as well there was no wagering on this special event at Saratoga track. NATIVE DANCER, with Jockey ERIC GUERIN up, won by nine lengths on a soft track. At right, First Glance and Gigantic are shown finishing a distant second and third.

Owner Not Sure He'll Go in the 'Whitney'

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Owner Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Trainer Bill Winfrey went into conference today and the outcome will determine if their gray ghost, Native Dancer, starts in the $50,000-added Whitney Handicap at Saratoga Saturday.

The Dancer, which won the Oneonta Handicap yesterday in his first outing since May 15, has been assigned a hefty 136 pounds for the mile and a quarter jaunt and Vanderbilt is not particularly pleased about the heavy impost.

"But the weight is not bad enough that we'd throw up our hands and give up," Vanderbilt said.

The colt had been assigned 133 pounds for the Suburban last May, but was forced out with a foot injury. Vanderbilt apparently thought handicapper Frank Kilroe would be more lenient.

The 136 pounds Kilroe assigned The Dancer is 10 pounds higher than the scale of weight for age. This is the first year the Whitney hasn't been a weight for age race and the changeabout cost the gray destroyer 10 pounds.

Other weight assignments include Find, another Vanderbilt horse, with 122; Brookemeade Stable's Capeador and C. V. Whitney's Cold Command and Fisherman at 121; the Saxon Stable's Invigorator and Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Royal Vale at 120 and John S. Phipps' Level Lea at 118.

Although The Dancer hauled in a mere pittance in the Oneonta—$3270—the race marked a milestone in his career. It was his twenty-first victory in 22 races and put him ahead of Man O'War, winner in 20 of 21 tests. As the fourth biggest money winner of all time, the Dancer's total earnings stand at $785,240.

Also, ironically, it was on the very day of The Dancer's twenty-second triumph that Man O'War suffered his only defeat 35 years ago. That came in the Sanford Stakes, on Aug. 16, 1919, when he was beaten by an appropriately named horse—Upset.

The Oneonta was nothing more than a good workout for The Dancer. His time was a speedy 1:24 2-5, for the seven furlongs, compared to the track record of 1:23 set by Sport Page, under 115 pounds in 1950. There was no betting.

The only other horses in the race were The Dancer's stablemate, First Glance, carrying 119 pounds and Joe W. Brown's Gigantic, 117. First Glance held the lead until Eric Guerin sent The Dancer into high gear about a quarter of a mile from the wire and that was the race. First Glance took second and Gigantic third. The Dancer carried 137 pounds, the highest of his career. He won by nine lengths.

Brother Tex, owned by W. C. Stephens and ridden by Conn McCreary, won from Whitney Stable's Dark Ruler by four lengths in the forty-second Sanford. Feast was third in the $13,950 feature that was overshadowed by Native Dancer's outing.

Hunters Would Do More Damage Than Deer Are Causing, Farmer Says

ARDMORE, Okla., Aug. 17 (UP)—A farmer told a State Fish and Game Commission hearing yesterday that an open season on deer was not the answer to the crop damage the deer were causing.

He insisted the hunters would do more damage than the deer.

Fans Boo, Manager Replies, Now Team Has a New Leader

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 17 (UP)—Eddie Stewart, discouraged and exhausted, resigned yesterday as manager of the last-place Colorado Springs Sky Sox of the Western League following an argument with General Manager Bill MacPhail.

The immediate cause of Stewart's resignation was a dressing down he gave a group of box seat spectators Saturday night, because they were jeering his players after Lincoln had drubbed them, 18-8. But persons close to the team said Stewart had just found the job of running the demoralized team too much for him.

The veteran Chicago White Sox utility outfielder, with 17 years of baseball expefience, took over the farm club here in early June, after former major league Catcher Mickey Livingston was fired. Livingston voiced his disgust with the talent he had to play with and his contempt for the whole setup.

Colorado Springs won the Western League pennant in 1953, and Manager Don Gutteridge moved on to the Class AA Memphis team in the Southern Association. Livingston became manager of the Beaumont team in the Texas League after MacPhail discharged him. Beaumont, although only in seventh place, is playing .460 ball under Livingston.

Stewart lost 54 games and won only 19 in a little more than two months as manager of the Sky Sox, and left them 42 games behind first place Denver. He was reported to have told MacPhail that he never had known a city as hostile as Colorado Springs to a baseball team, and refused to promise not to repeat his hassle with the hooting fans.

"We feel it extremely regretful that our fans cannot boost instead of boo," MacPhail said, ". . . but at the same time we cannot allow our players or manager to be abusive to our customers."

Stewart began packing immediately to take his wife and children to their home at Los Angeles.

MacPhail appointed Al Jacinto, Sky Sox second baseman for the past three years and the team's most popular player with local fans, as manager for the balance of the season. Jacinto, who appears older than his professed 26 years, makes his home in Del Paso Heights, Calif.

Cherry Captures First Match in Canadian Golf

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17 (UP)—Crooner Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., advanced into the second round of the Canadian Amateur Golf Championships today by defeating Wilfred Homenuik of Yorkton, Sask., 4 and 3.

Homenuik, runner-up by one stroke in Saturday's Canadian junior final, hit into a creek on the 340-yard first hole, needed seven strokes to Cherry's five, and failed to threaten the Texan thereafter.

Harvie Ward Jr., an early tourrnment favorite from San Francisco, failed to get into action on the second day when business commitments forced J. Walcott Brown, his opponent, to return home to Allaire, N.J.

Jack Westland, the golfing Congressman from Everett, Wash., also withdrew to return to Washington, D.C., giving Bob Moncrief of Houston, Tex., a bye. Westland, who won the 1952 U.S. Amateur at the age of 48, came here as non-playing captain of the U.S. America's Cup team.

Joe Leblanc of Montreal, whose 69 was one of the hottest rounds in Saturday's Willingdon Cup matches, advanced easily in his first test, defeating R. A. McCall of the host club, 2 and 1. Another Willingdon cupper, Eric Hanson of Toronto, defeated Junior Douglas Lewis of Moncton, N.B., 4 and 3.

Bill Campbell, Huntington, W.Va., one of the favorites as a result of his runner-up performance in this year's British Amateur, also advanced without extending himself, 4 and 3, over Canadian junior champion Grant Dearnaley of Montreal.

Campbell was 4-up at the turn after shooting a steady par 35. Dearnaley, 18, bogeyed four of the first nine holes after his first drive went out of bounds. He recovered for a 1-up lead at the twenty-fourth, but Campbell took the next four holes and coasted.

Don Varey of Brantford, Ont., runner-up to Phil Farley in the 1948 Ontario amateur, defeated another of Mexico's contingent when he eliminated Roberto Morris, Jr., 4 and 3.

Farley, a member of Ontario's Willingdon Cup team and a strong Canadian threat for the title, was eliminated, 2 and 1, by Jimmy Sykes of Jenkinton, Pa.

Another Willingdon Cupper, Bob Fleming of Victoria, B.C., also bowed out, but not until the twentieth hole, in his match witch G. W. Webster of Clarence, N.Y.

Charlie Kocsis of Detroit, who posted a record 65 in winning a recent invitational tournament over the London course, walloped Lynn Creason, Harrisburg, Pa., 6 and 5.

Savanah Player Fined.

The incident touched off a melee in which several Macon players, led by Shortstop Ted Lewandowski, attacked Pinkston. Umpire Harry Schwarts came up with a sprained ankle while trying to break up the fight.

59 Complete Games by Indians' Staff

Poorest Club Records by Reds, Cards

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Cleveland Manager Al Lopez must be wondering today just how many more complete games he can count on from his Indian pitching staff which has produced 59 in 117 starts this season for the major leagues' best record.

While Lopez has had to call to his admittedly improved bullpen in less than half of Cleveland's games, New York Yankee pitchers have come up with only 34 route-going jobs in the 118 games they've played, figures compiled by the Associated Press reveal.

Bob Lemon and Early Wynn each have gone the distance 14 times for the American League leaders. Mike Garcia has 12 complete games, Art Houtteman nine, Bob Feller eight and Don Mossi and Ray Narleski one apiece. Feller had only four all last year.

Whitey Ford, with eight, is the top route-goer for the Yankees. No one else on Casey Stengel's staff has more than five.

In the National League, thanks to Robin Roberts, the majors' individual leader, the Philadelphia Phillies show the top mark of 52 complete games, one more than the surging Milwaukee Braves.

Roberts has started 29 games and finished 21 of them, including last night's 9-6 victory over Brooklyn. He has won 18 and lost 10.

Warren Spahn, the Braves' lefthanded ace, has 16 complete games in 24 starts and Curt Simmons, the Phillies' southpaw, also has gone the distance 16 times, but in 25 starts. Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants has completed 14 of 27 starting assignments.

Actually, Bob Porterfield of Washington shows the majors' most impressive complete-game slate. The Senators' righthander has started 24 games and completed 18. His won-lost record, however, is an unimposing 11-11.

Besides Wynn and Lemon, Steve Gromek of Detroit also has has produced 14 complete games. Virgil Trucks and Bob Keegan of the Chicago White Sox have 13 and Ned Garver of the Tigers, Joe Coleman of Baltimore and Arnie Portocarrero of the Athletics have 12.

The Giants' pitchers have an aggregate of 33 complete in their 114 games and the Dodgers only 30 in 116.

The poorest team records belong to the Cincinnati Redlegs with only 22 complete in 116 games and the St. Louis Cardinals with 27 in 115.

Rocky Down to 191 Pounds for Charles Fight

GROSSINGER, N.Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Rocky Marciano figures the 15 rounds he boxed against Ezzard Charles June 17 did him more good than 200 rounds in training camp. Consequently the heavyweight champ will warm up for the Sept. 15 rematch with "only" 100 rounds of gym work.

"I know it's not practical for the champ to fight more than once or twice a year," he said, "but I felt the best when I was going steady every month or so, like 1951 when I boxed seven times."

Apparently manager Al Weill and trainer Charley Goldman expect Charles, the ex-champ, to sprint 15 rounds in his third bid to win back the title he lost to Jersey Joe Walcott. They have brought in Joe Gannon, a fast-stepping Washington, D.C., boy for Rocky to chase.

Already down to 191 pounds, as compared to 187½ for his last bout, the champ still works about four hours a day. He goes on the road in the morning and boxes five days a week, skipping Mondays and Fridays.

Ezzard Charles pitched camp at Monticello, N.Y., yesterday and plans to start boxing today. He weighed 197 as compared to 185½ for his first bout with Marciano. He expects to come in at 190 this time.

Caroline Is Declared Eligible at Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 16 (INS)—Illinois' 1954 football hopes took a decided upward swing today when the university reported halfback J. C. Caroline had passed all his summer session "make-up" courses.

The Columbia (S.C.) speedster, who shattered records dating back to the legendary Red Grange in his sophomore year at Illinois, failed two courses last fall and had to register this summer to make them up.

A continuation of his R.O.T.C. draft board deferment appeared assured now that he has passed the courses.

Most of Caroline's scholastic troubles were traced to All-American functions and special "days" in his honor which caused him to miss almost three weeks of classes.

THE GROWING TREND TO LINCOLN

"In my book these are the best cars made in America"

TOM McCAHILL—TRUE'S AUTOMOBILE YEARBOOK

Tom McCahill puts into words what we hesitate to say in our advertising. "Lincoln," he says, "is the outstanding champion over the road . . . gets this title through roadability, cornering qualities, good brakes. Lincoln's average of these factors is higher than any other American car. That's why they're champs. On winding or mountainous roads, the Lincoln is unbeatable in America . . . and will actually out-corner some sports cars."

Want further proof of Lincoln's performance superiority? This is the car that won first in its class in the Mobilgas Economy Run—the 4th straight win in 4 years. And for 2 years in a row, Lincoln has won the first 4 places over all stock cars in the Mexican Pan-American Road Race!

IF YOU ARE ENGINEERING MINDED, HERE ARE SOME FACTS: Engine: Lincoln's V-8, 205-hp engine has new 4-barrel carburetor, rear barrels vacuum controlled. Gives you economy in all ranges. New automatic spark control for smoother, livelier response. Suspension: new ball-joint on front wheels (only Lincoln in fine car field has it) for better handling. Brakes: far exceed any other fine car in braking area per pound.

FOR THE STYLE MINDED, Lincoln offers clean, graceful beauty in every detail; rich, luxurious interiors in a wide variety. Drive a Lincoln today.

Now available—a new, advanced fine-car air conditioning system built exclusively for Lincoln—optional at extra cost.

CONTINUOUS ACCIDENT ENDS WITH WOMAN IN HOSPITAL

SAGINAW, Mich., Aug. 17 (UP)—Hazel Long started a chain reaction when she was involved in a minor traffic accident here.

After the collision, she pulled to the curb to survey the damage. Another car promptly rammed her crippled automobile.

Deputy Sheriff James Hazel arrived on the scene and the woman began relating the details of the mishaps.

Along came another car which nicked Miss Long and knocked her to the ground. She suffered numerous bruises and was hospitalized.

No Hasty Decision.

WOODLAND, Calif., Aug. 17 (UP)—Mrs. Ida B. Richardson filed a divorce suit here, charging her husband, Floyd, deserted her 34 years ago. They were married in Tacoma, Wash., in 1919.

Senator Watkins Possible Match For McCarthy, His Committee Could Force Quick Showdown

Mild-Mannered Conservative a Stickler for Rules — Potter Likely to Join Democrats in Severely Critical Report on Army Row.

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
(Copyright, 1954.)

WASHINGTON.

THE BATTLE over Senator Joseph R. McCarthy could reach the showdown stage much more rapidly than is generally believed.

For one thing, Senator Charles Potter, Republican of Michigan, is quite likely to join the three Democratic members of the Mundt committee in signing a majority report on the Army-McCarthy row severely critical of McCarthy.

In the hearing, Potter is reported to have reached the firm conclusion that McCarthy was guilty at the very least of weakly condoning Roy Cohn's improprieties. Potter is now under heavy pressure to sign a whitewash report. But so far he is sticking to his guns.

The likelihood of a strong majority report from the Mundt committee lends a special interest to the work of the new six-man committee which is to inquire once again into the behavior of the Wisconsin Senator. This committee has been widely regarded as a device for shoving the whole issue under a rug, at least until after the election. Instead, a strong report by this new committee, following on the Mundt committee majority report, could bring the whole McCarthy issue to a final showdown. And this could happen even before the elections, if the committee does its work rapidly and well.

The idea of any committee handling the McCarthy issue rapidly and well may seem outlandish. At every previous such inquiry McCarthy has succeeded, to put it bluntly, in making monkeys out of the inquiring Senators. Consider what happened to the chairmen of some of the previous committees which have inquired into the Wisconsin Senator's behavior. The chairman of the first such committee, former Senator Millard Tydings, was driven almost to distraction by McCarthy's genius for distorting issues. Another chairman, Senator Guy Gillette, was roundly insulted, while his successor, Senator Thomas Hennings Jr., was loftily disregarded. The chairman of the most recent committee-on-McCarthy, Senator Karl Mundt, earned the unenviable sobriquet, "the melting mushroom."

Most of his colleagues believe that some similar unpleasant fate awaits the chairman of the new committee, Senator Arthur Vivian Watkins, Republican, of Utah. Senator Watkins, a smallish, rather wispy man, thinks not. He is, indeed, calmly confident that he can keep McCarthy in his place.

He says, quietly but firmly, that no funny business of any sort will be permitted. Only relevant evidence will be heard. No speeches of any sort, by McCarthy or anyone else, will be allowed. No one will even be permitted to read the usual long-winded preliminary statement. By rigidly enforcing such rules, Senator Watkins believes, all witnesses, including McCarthy, can be heard in a couple of weeks. And he expects to have a unanimous report on the Flanders motion to censor McCarthy ready for the Senate by the end of September.

If so, the Senate will have no excuse—it will have to return to Washington to vote on the issue. This idea is a nightmare to most Senators. And it may be, of course as unreal as any nightmare.

When Watkins talks about silencing McCarthy if McCarthy "indulges in irrelevancies," he sounds a little like an elderly mouse solemnly promising to discipline a man-eating tiger. "Watkins is in for a tough time," one of his colleagues has remarked. "He still thinks McCarthy is a human being."

Watkins certainly does not look like a match for McCarthy. He is a white-haired, bony man, 68 years old, with rimless glasses and a Grant Wood face. When he talks, he sits bolt upright, his spare hands folded, his blue eyes mild. He talks very quietly—one wonders if he has ever shouted in his life. And McCarthy has often outshouted the loudest gavel.

Yet, as the small Senator from Utah talks, one wonders how McCarthy will handle him. McCarthys' trick has always been to frighten an adversary, or so to infuriate him that he loses his head. Senator Watkins, a leading lay member of the Latter Day Saints, looks as though he had never been really angry in his life. He also looks as though he might turn out to be a remarkably difficult man to frighten.

New Viet Nam Envoy Confers With President

Agree on Aim for True Independence, Differ on Method of Attaining It.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER and the new Viet Nam ambassador to the United States, Tran Van Chuong, talked significantly yesterday of the establishment of true independence for Viet Nam, the Indochinese state that was cut up temporarily at the recent Geneva conference.

It was a formal occasion—presentation to the President of the new ambassador's credentials—but behind what they said lies a situation that is causing great anxiety in both Washington and Saigon.

The major concern is that adequate steps be taken to prevent the Communist Vietminh, who will control the northern part of the country, from winning the nation-wide elections that are to be held two years from now.

Cause for Anxiety.

The cause for anxiety is that the American and Viet Namese governments do not yet agree as to what these steps should be.

That their objective is the same was evident from what the President and the ambassador said yesterday.

"The United States," the President said, "has freely granted aid and support to Viet Nam during the war years, and we are now prepared to extend our assistance toward the solution of the no less difficult problems of peace.

"We hope that our continuing assistance will, in combination with your own efforts, which will be the principal factor in achieving success, contribute to the establishment and maintenance of Viet Nam as a truly independent peaceful and unified state."

The ambassador thanked Mr. Eisenhower for his assurances and expressed his country's aspiration for "true national independence."

As to method, however—a subject on which the two men were silent—there is considerable diversity of view.

The present government of Viet Nam believes that its only chance for success at the polls two years from now lies in the speed and degree it receives independence from France.

American View.

The United States, while not disputing this view, thinks that perhaps a start should be made by discouraging Emperor Bao Dai from returning to Saigon from his present home on the French Riviera. The new government at Saigon does not agree.

The official Viet Nam view is that the present government in Saigon is made up of men who did not "collaborate" with France during the war, therefore that it is in a position to appeal to nationalist sentiment.

This view holds that "true independence" from France means withdrawal of the French expeditionary corps and creation of an "autonomous" Viet Nam army; also that it means freedom from French economic and financial control, which in turn mean direct American dollar aid to Viet Nam.

This is the view of the new Viet Namese premier, Ngo Dinh Diem, who refused to participate in any French-supported government during the war and sat out much of it at Maryknoll seminary in New Jersey. Premier Diem hopes he can persuade the United States he is right.

"That true independence has been promised to us by France, but only the American nation is both powerful enough and disinterested enough to help us to realize it."

U.S. Names Ambassador to Cambodia, Minister to Laos.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday named a United States Ambassador to Cambodia and a minister to Laos in accordance with intentions announced at the time of the Geneva agreement to end the Indochinese war.

Robert McClintock of Altadena, Calif., 44-year-old career diplomat, was appointed Ambassador to Cambodia. He has been deputy chief of mission and counsellor at the American embassy at Saigon, Indochina, since March 1953 and also held those posts with respect to the embassy suboffices in Cambodia and Laos.

Charles W. Yost, 46, of Watertown, N.Y., another foreign service officer who has been at the American embassy in Vienna for a year, was named minister to Laos.

EUROPEAN MIGRATION GROUP SENT 237,000 TO AMERICAS

GENEVA, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration has helped 237,000 Europeans move to new homes in North and South America in the last 30 months, director Hugh Gibson announced today.

Approximately 100,000 persons have left Germany under the auspices of the 24-nation committee, which seeks to ease population and economic pressures in Europe. Seventy thousand persons were moved from Italy and Trieste, 20,000 from Austria, 13,000 from the Netherlands and almost 10,000 from Greece. The rest have come from several other nations.

Canada took most of the migrants during the period, 60,000. The United States accepted 50,000, followed by Australia with 45,000, Brazil, 34,000 and Argentina 29,370. The present trend, however, is for about half of the migrants to go to Latin America.

Changes Sought by France May Destroy EDC

Proposals Would Turn Supra-National Setup Into Loose Association.

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

IF PREMIER MENDES-FRANCE has gauged accurately what it will take to put the European Defense Community through the French Parliament there is grave doubt that there will be any unified European army at all.

As long as it appeared that Premier Mendes-France was working primarily with escape clauses to protect France against any collapse of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization or withdrawal of British and American troops from Europe the needed compromises seemed not too great.

But when it was revealed that France was breaking away from the supra-national nature of the whole agreement the roof began to fall in.

This supra-national quality of the treaty has been the glue which held the whole thing together from the start. Without it the small nations would be mere appendages. With it they would be equal partners in an international control of coal, steel and defense.

The loose association which would be left would permit France to veto all or part of any German rearmament program. It would deny Germany part of the equal partnership which the nations, the United States and Britain included, once agreed was necessary for it if it were to play a proper role in European defense.

The Netherlands foreign office was quick to announce that if France insisted there would be no EDC.

The French tried to make it appear they were not adamant, merely offering the proposals as a basis of discussion when the foreign ministers of the six signatory states meet Thursday in Brussels.

But if Mendes-France was marching up the hill merely to march down again that in itself was certain to have an adverse effect on the French Parliament.

Sentiment against the pact has been reported growing in Germany as France delayed ratification. West Germans have been swinging to the view that there will be no EDC, and that their best bet therefore is to work for an agreement with Russia over reunification of all Germany. Germany ratified the treaty in the first place by a very small margin — a victory that Chancellor Adenauer might not be able to repeat, even though his parliamentary strength is greater now, if he tries to give in to France any farther.

Italy, about to ratify—it is the only one besides France which has not—may back away again now.

And France may get word soon from the United States and Britain that an EDC set up as it proposes would not qualify for the military guarantees they have promised, nor make France eligible for continued American aid.

National Party Leaders' Wishes Ignored by Voters in 2 States

Eisenhower Didn't Want Curtis as Nebraska Senate Nominee, Democrats Didn't Want Glen Taylor in Idaho.

By DORIS FLEESON
(Copyright, 1954.)

WASHINGTON.

THE VOTERS went wrong in two primaries last week, one in each party, from the point of view of national campaign managers.

The Eisenhower Administration preferred Gov. Robert Crosby for one of the Senate vacancies in Nebraska, but Nebraskans named Representative Carl T. Curtis from the conservative-isolationist wing of the state G.O.P.

Democrats here frankly did their best to help State Representative Claude Burtenshaw, a political science professor of Ricks College, win their Senate nomination in Idaho. Instead, Idaho Democrats chose former Senator Glen Taylor, the "singing cowboy" who was the candidate for Vice President with Henry Wallace on the Progressive ticket in 1948.

The White House will make the best of Representative Curtis as it has done with a similar type, Joseph T. Meek, the Republican nominee against Senator Paul Douglas in Illinois.

Curtis who has been in the House since 1940, comes from what is practically a one-party state, so possibly he can afford to be as independent of the President as he has been during his career on the Ways and Means Committee. It is believed that Nebraska is less solid than usual this year because of slipping farm prices, but it would have to slide a long way really to endanger Curtis and his running mates.

The more liberal Republicans of Nebraska put their man in the other vacancy: Representative Roman Hruska. Thus the situation will be, from the White House point of view, about what it was when the late Senators Butler and Griswold, both of whom died this year, occupied the two seats.

Democratic National Chairman Mitchell is debating what, if anything, he ought to say about the Taylor candidacy. He had high hopes of the nomination and election of Burtenshaw, who lost to incumbent Republican Senator Dworshak in 1950 by only 7500 votes. Now it is expected that many Idaho Democrats will stay home.

ATOM POWERING OF SHIPS 15 YEARS AWAY, BRITON SAYS

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—A British admiral said today that atomic powering of naval craft is 15 years away as a "practical or economic proposition."

V. Adm. Geoffrey Barnard, en route to join the British joint services mission in Washington, made the statement without amplifying as he arrived on the liner Queen Elizabeth.

In Britain,. Barnard said, "We're just starting to lift the curtain on new forms of power applicable to civilian and military use. Its greatest application will be to civilian use."

John Deserted to Russians Because He Was Double Agent

West Reich Security Chief Had Been Former Gestapo Operative, Learned U.S. Authorities Were Watching Him.

By DREW PEARSON
(Copyright, 1954.)

WASHINGTON.

INSIDE STORY of Dr. Otto John, West Germany's onetime security chief, and why he deserted to the Russians can now be told. The truth is that he had long been a double agent, working for two countries at the same time. The United States Army suspected and was trailing him. That was one reason John hopped to East Germany.

The story of John goes back to the World War II days when he was one of the top agents of the German Gestapo, yet at the same time pretended to the British that he was working for them. He always convinced Westerners of his loyalty by the fact that his brother was involved in the plot to blow up Hitler in 1944, but it now develops that it was John who tipped off Hitler just before the plot and caused it to fail. He was so loyal to the Gestapo that he sold out his own brother.

Two days after the Hitler plot failed, John left Germany for Madrid. This made him acceptable in the eyes of the British; but inasmuch as he left on a regular Lufthansa plane, and inasmuch as all planes were being watched by the Gestapo in those suspicious war days, obviously he could not have escaped Germany without the Gestapo's approval.

From Madrid, John got in contact with the British, posing as an anti-Nazi, and began the association which gradually led to his appointment as top security officer of West Germany.

When the Russians took Berlin they seized the Gestapo records. The United States Army got the General Staff records and those of the Foreign Office. But it was the Gestapo records which made it possible for the Russians to put the finger on various Germans. Among these was John. Knowing his past associations with the Gestapo, the Russians were in a position to blackmail him.

John was a man who always needed money. He was a high-liver. The Russians supplied the money, and John went to work for them long ago.

The United States Army got highly suspicious in the days when Gen. Lucius Clay was United States commander in Germany, and nearly fired him. The man who chiefly suspected John was Gen. Clarence Huebner. The Central Intelligence Agency, however, championed John, gave him a great deal of confidential information, even arranged for him to meet CIA Director Allen Dulles.

When John visited the United States recently, Army suspicions led to putting a counter-intelligence agent on his trail, and this continued after he returned to Germany.

The counter-intelligence agent was Wolfgang Hoeffer, a German-born, naturalized American who had gone to school with John. Hoeffer finally told John that he was being shadowed, and this was why Hoeffer committed suicide one day after John fled to East Berlin. It was also one reason why John fled.

The Russians pulled John out, first because John wanted to leave; second, because they figured his desertion might lead to the downfall of the Adenauer government, which in turn would upset the rearming of Germany.

The net result is that John's defection has completely compromised the West and made Europe realize that the West European defense system has been infiltrated for years.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Name and address must accompany every letter, but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words will receive preference.

A Blast From R.H.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

You must be naive to suppose that Richmond Heights would be stupid enough to think the Daniel Boone highway is a Heaven-sent gift, and that we are the appointed saviors of St. Louis county.

You hope that we will be more enlightened than other communities! I'm sure Clayton and University City appreciate your implying that they are less than bright. Flattery will get you no place.

Why should we greet "little TR40" with open arms! It is the Highway Commission's child that no residential community wants in its midst, especially when it would sever the city of Richmond Heights, taking away homes of value (not slum areas), causing a menace to school children and making most of Richmond Heights dead-end streets.

You asked if this route wouldn't be better than no route at all! Don't you read the papers? Surely you've heard of the Mill Creek route through Maplewood, connecting with the Arsenal street viaduct, Southwest avenue to Vandeventer, then to Chouteau and straight to the Free Bridge!

That area needs an expressway so that residents of Maplewood, Shrewsbury, Webster Groves, Glendale, Kirkwood and other southwest communities could reach downtown St. Louis without coming north through Richmond Heights.

Of course each route has its disadvantages and advantages. The disadvantages would all be Richmond Heights' and the advantages would be Ladue's or any other community's that didn't want TR40 either. You and the residents of Ladue think this route is great—a real civic need.

I'd surely like to see how thrilled you'd be if this highway came into your midst and took your homes. "This route better than no route at all"? You remind me of the girl who married a moron because she had her mother's wedding dress in the trunk.

"Do-or-die?" You bet we will. And if you think its so darn wonderful for Richmond Heights, why don't you move here and join the State Highway Commission's "chosen people"? MYRLE ANN HOGAN.
Richmond Heights.

Howard L. Doyle's Life

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

You reported the death of Howard L. Doyle as though he were entering the penitentiary rather than the hereafter. There was much good in Howard Doyle. Deservingly, he had many friends. In his 61 years, he rendered many services to his community, state and country.
ROGER LANE.
Springfield, Ill.

A Gentleman's Agreement?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Republican Engineer Skaggs and Democratic Engineer Dwyer certainly had their machines well oiled. Could they have agreed on one objective—to see that each and every candidate backed by their machines was nominated?

We voters wonder if a gentleman's agreement might not have been agreed upon to allow the Democratic judges and clerks to count the Democratic ballots and the Republican judges and clerks to count the Republican ballots after the polls closed, thus ensuring victory for each machine's nominees?

The Republican party in St. Louis needs a housecleaning the same as the Democratic. An honest business man has no chance to be elected to office for he won't sell his "soul" to the ward politicians. Furthermore his candidacy is never backed by the newspapers.
DISGUSTED AMERICANS.

Prejudice and the Sick

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The National Medical Association has quite properly honored Dr. Robert Elman, chief of staff at Homer G. Phillips Hospital. I have listened to his kind words and cherished his sympathetic smile. He also has awakened the officials of St. Louis to the facts of discrimination and prejudice in city institutions for the sick.
HENRY WINFIELD WHEELER.

Neither One Nor the Other

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

This is in answer to the reader who declared she was an American and a Liberace fan:

I am a Lower Slobovian. I am not a Liberace fan. In my opinion these two are synonomous. I have no ideal.

Naturally they will think I am against the First Amendment: "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging . . . the right of the people . . . to petition the government for a redress of grievances." I have no desire to change this, but I feel that "if they can't say anything, they shouldn't."

I am glad I'm a Lower Slobovian, but I am also glad the magnolia tree is blooming in Shaw's Garden.
LOWER SLOBOVIAN.

Storing Up Trouble

Beyond a shadow of a doubt there is one thing that the Eighty-third Congress is doing in its closing days. It is storing up a lot of trouble for the courts with its so-called anti-subversive legislation which ranges all the way from dubious to unwise and dangerous.

Both branches of Congress have now rushed through measures to outlaw the Communist party. In doing so they have engaged in political irresponsibility, motivated by competitive desires to gain political advantage in the coming campaign. The Senate Democrats actually took the lead away from the Republicans by putting over an amendment that makes Communist party membership a crime, punishable by a $10,000 fine and five-year imprisonment.

The House bill, while going much further than it should in outlawing a political group, at least respects the view of Attorney General Brownell that a citizen ought not be punished merely because he belongs to a political party.

The question here is not whether Communism and the Communist party or good or bad for the United States. The record is clear that Communist infiltration and subversion are antithetical to the free way of life.

Representative Burdick, North Dakota Republican, and Multer, New York Democrat, the two House members who had the courage of their convictions to vote No, put themselves on sound if unpopular ground. They said they are against outlawing any political party as such. Mr. Burdick, who has a long record of independent action, said we are entering a danger zone "by making unlawful what a man may think."

Still further evidence of the dangerous character of this legislation is the prompt disavowal of it by some Senators and Representatives who voted for it. Veteran Representative Walter, Pennsylvania Democrat, says it is not "good legislation." In the Senate it is denounced by Senator McCarran, Nevada Democrat, one of the most indefatigable of Red trackers.

The Administration measure to give immunity to witnesses who otherwise would plead the constitutional protection against giving self-incriminating testimony is also headed for tests in the courts. There is a serious question as to the legality of the "immunity bath," as some lawyers have already termed the idea. Certainly it would have been far better to try the idea of Dean Griswold of the Harvard Law School to allow witnesses to answer questions about themselves and their own records without subjecting them to questions as to what they may know about others.

The Senate's 71-to-3 vote in favor of citing Corliss Lamont on contempt of Congress is as good as already in the Supreme Court itself. Mr. Lamont is lecturer in philosophy in Columbia University of which Dwight D. Eisenhower was president for four years. It is not necessary in any way to defend Mr. Lamont's political views to agree that he raised a new issue when he decided to test the right to remain silent on the grounds of the First (free speech) Amendment rather than the Fifth (self-incrimination). The Lamont case is intentionally a test case and its determination may be a landmark in the course of our free institutions.

The more the country learns about the passage of the Welker Press Registration Act, which President Eisenhower signed July 29, the more it will understand the near unanimity with which these actions are being taken in Congress.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch joins the Post-Dispatch in regarding the registration of printing presses, even those owned by organizations listed by the Attorney General, as a threat to freedom of the press. The Virginia newspaper asked the Senators from its state if they had ever heard of the Welker law. Each replied—and this was after the bill was signed at the White House—that he did not know of it!

Some day, in calmer, wiser times, we will return to the Golden Rule of political thought, handed down to us a quarter century ago by one of the greatest of Americans, the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. He said:

> If there is any principle of the Constitution that more imperatively calls for attachment than any other it is the principle of free thought—not free thought for those who agree with us but freedom for the thought that we hate.

$300,000 Question Mark

Now and then the public learns a little more about the missing half of the $600,000 ransom money in the Greenlease kidnaping case.

Theodore C. Link reported in the news columns that John Hager, former St. Louis taxicab driver, told Los Angeles police he waited for an hour behind the Newstead avenue police station on orders from Lt. Louis Shoulders. Hager also said he lost track of Shoulders and another officer who carried the ransom money to the station from a hotel where they arrested the kidnaper, Carl Austin Hall.

These are little bits of information in the puzzle of that October night of 1953, when $300,000 of the ransom money seems to have disappeared. Maybe the pieces of the puzzle will fall into place in time. But they stand as a challenge to the St. Louis police and the FBI.

A police department whose sense of exactitude in fighting crime leads its vice squad to cut 58 seconds from a Swedish art film should work hard on tracking down $300,000. The question of who got the money leaves a big blank space on the FBI's publicized list of "public enemies."

Drouth Victims in Southern Illinois

Farmers in Southern Illinois have been stricken with drouth three years in a row just like farmers in most of Missouri. Two very hard-hit counties are Madison and St. Clair.

Here is an extract from a letter sent by William D. Bertels, president of the Madison County Farm Bureau, to Secretary Benson and to Illinois State Director of Agriculture Standard:

> The Board of Directors of the Madison County Farm Bureau has voted to request the federal and state departments of agriculture to speed the drouth relief program to provide grain and hay for livestock feed on farms of this area at an early date.
> Feed supplies on many local farms are already at low levels. At least 80 per cent of our corn in Madison county will be a failure. Hay supplies are very low and pastures are practically a total loss.
> Our situation here is critical and we hope your department can give prompt attention.

Is the State of Illinois doing all it can do—or should do—for its scorched farmers?

Last fall Gov. Donnelly rightly assembled a special session of the Missouri Legislature to provide drouth relief. Gov. Stratton did not call an emergency session. Farmers in Southern Illinois noted the contrast and wondered. Since then the Missouri legislators went back to Jefferson City in February for a second special session. Yet no state drouth relief legislation for farmers who have lost their crops and livestock in Illinois. Just now a measure of succor has come. Farmers in counties declared eligible for production emergency funds may apply to the Farmers Home Administration for 3 per cent loans. But Congressman Price, who represents Madison and St. Clair counties, points out this requires a farmer to declare that he is "unable to obtain credit from other lenders to continue normal operations." In short it requires him to declare himself virtually in bankruptcy. Meantime he may wonder why Gov. Stratton does not take up the case for a special session and see how much there is to it.

Investigating a Shutout

The Election Board has committed itself to a swift, vigorous and full investigation of alleged voting irregularities in the Seventh Ward, and that is exactly what is called for. It is hard to believe that the top-heavy majorities reported from some precincts for Democratic incumbents represent an accurate portrait of the balloting.

And nowhere is this feeling of astonished disbelief more likely to be evoked than by the returns from the ward's Precincts 3, 8 and 11. Those three precincts gave State Senator James M. Webbe, ward committeeman and boss, 685 votes to not a single one for his opponent, Bert Stewart. As one interested observer put it, a machine may be good, but hardly that good!

The simplest way of determining the accuracy of the 685-to-0 report for Senator Webbe is to open the ballot boxes and recount the votes. This would require a court order issued as the result of either a civil suit or a criminal proceeding. Even so, this ought not to prove difficult.

For one thing, Mr. Stewart plans to file an election contest. For another, a representative of the Circuit Attorney's office will be on hand when the Election Board's inquiry opens. He will be seeking evidence of fraud, and he may not have far to look. At least four persons have been found who are willing to state publicly that they cast ballots for Mr. Stewart in the Eleventh precinct. The United States Attorney's office also will join the inquiry.

What the board's investigation will disclose remains to be seen, of course. But if there were irregularities, it is not unlikely they occurred in the counting, perhaps as the result of Republican and Democratic polling officials counting the ballots of their own party alone.

There is no foolproof method of preventing collusion of this type, but the assignment of a special deputy election commissioner in every precinct in the city in a primary election might help. That practice was followed in the bitter primary of two years ago, and the results were good. It might well become a standard procedure.

A Grim Alternative

In the privacy of the voting booth, Studebaker's 11,000 CIO United Auto Workers made the bitter decision they were told they had to make to keep their jobs: They agreed to accept a wage cut estimated to average 14 per cent.

The grim alternative was no job at all. Studebaker officials indicated in unmistakable fashion before the voting began that the South Bend plant, currently shut down for retooling, would not reopen unless Studebaker wages were cut to the competitive level of its chief rivals, Ford, Chrysler and General Motors. Studebaker's average hourly day-rate, $2.39, is about 18 per cent higher than the $2.03 paid by the Big Three.

Studebaker lost some $9,000,000 in the first half of this year, sales slipping from four to one per cent of the national total under the pressure of an increasingly competitive market. According to The Christian Science Monitor, the company opened its books to the union, and union officials agreed to recommend the cut. Even so, the workers at first declined to take it. Despite the higher scale they had been averaging only about $35 a week because of curtailed production.

The firm hopes to make a comeback with a "faster, flashier" 1955 model, and to gain increasing strength from a proposed merger with Packard. Let us hope so. Union leaders are not likely to be so reasonable if Studebaker proposes another cut, for fear of similar treatment by other auto firms. In any case all sides can agree that a stronger competitive position would be better than wage cuts, and the public would not want to watch the passing of another fine old name in auto-making. Too many have vanished before the giants.

Non-Violence Has Its Day

India acted with commendable restraint in preventing its nationals from marching on Goa, main Portuguese settlement on the subcontinent. This was a pleasant surprise. All signs had pointed in the other direction, with most outsiders fearing Prime Minister Nehru's government was prepared to give aid and comfort to a demonstration for merger of Goa with India.

Instead, Indian police kept their people on the sidelines. This was a gain for reason over emotion, for peace over violence. And now that non-violence has had a day, perhaps reason may yet devise a peaceful solution to the vexing problem of the Portuguese enclaves, tiny colonial thorns in the body of India.

Congress on Trout

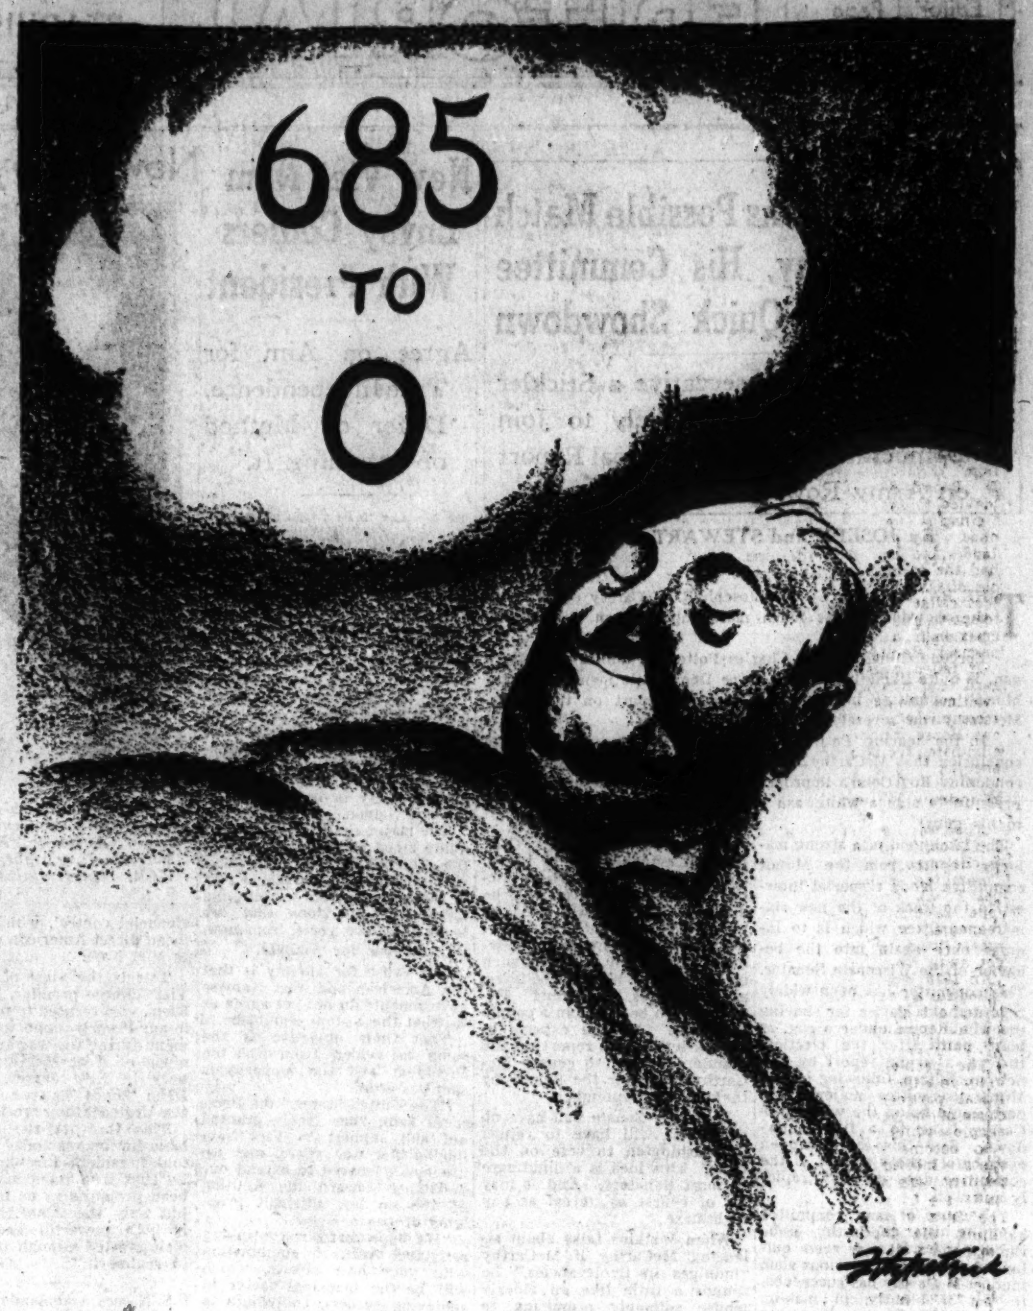
Where trout are concerned, House and Senate have been somewhat out of step in by-passing "trade, not aid." The six-year men and the two-year men on Capitol Hill were agreed that the nation's 325 trout hatcheries should be protected against alien—and perhaps subversive? — fish which have been reaching American tables.

But the Senators felt that the birthplace of a foreign trout should be printed on the bill of fare (under penalty of a year in jail and a $1000 fine) while the Representatives argued that it would be enough if mine host put up a sign warning guests that he was serving fish which might not please Senators McCarran and McCarthy.

Our first inclination was to go along with Representative John J. Rooney of New York's Fourteenth District. All his life a loyal citizen of Brooklyn, he called for an amendment to protect "Gowanus Canal guppies and Prospect Park bull frogs." But being of modest means and immoderate addiction to the fly rod, we feel it might be better to let those foreign fish in without any fuss—since this might leave a few more fish in native streams for us to try to catch.

Furthermore, listing the home address of a trout could make a man mighty unhappy. It would surely remind him of how ardently he has dreamed of wetting a line in Ireland's Blackwater or in Connemara with Yeats, with Hemingway in the Rio de la Fabrica close to the spot where Roland sounded his last horn blast, with Paul Hyde Bonner in the racing rivers of the Appenines, and—say it not above a whisper—with Mikhail Prishirn of Pereyaslavl, U.S.S.R.

Senators and Representatives obviously were not overcome by such pangs—maybe because it's no great trouble for them to organize an expedition to inspect overseas air bases, the workings of Mr. Stassen's FOA, or even the effect of legislation on fishing in the streams of our allies.



THE DREAM OF A WARD STATESMAN

What's the Matter With Kansas Now?

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Writer asks this question first put by late William Allen White, and concludes dull conformity spirit and politics is prevailing evil of Sunflower state; wonders whether this is due to history or geography, but hopes for revival of old frontier spirit.

MANHATTAN, Kan.

When a youthful William Allen White, back in 1896, published in his Emporia Gazette an editorial entitled "What's the Matter With Kansas?" he was indulging what has, from the first, been a favorite exercise of Kansas—namely, self-castigation.

Other states are distinguished by boastfulness (Iowa, California and Texas come to mind); Kansas is distinguished by self-depreciation. There's a broad streak of puritan masochism in our character and in 1954 some of us are stimulated to ponder how and why this came to pass. For 1954 is the year of Kansas's Territorial Centennial.

In the "Bleeding Kansas" of 1854-57 was held the dress rehearsal for the Civil War. There followed the Kansas of Indian wars and railroad building and buffalo hunts and such gunfighters as Wild Bill Hickok, of drouths and grasshopper plagues, and of world-record wheat crops, and of creative vision and bold social experimentation.

Kansans Were Social Pioneers

It is this last which is so hard to believe in. Almost invisible are vestiges of the Kansas that pioneered in women's suffrage, railroad regulation, "blue sky" laws and banking regulation; that was known for the strong public figures she produced; and whose journalism (led by White and the acid Ed Howe in his Atchison Globe) was nationally famous.

On the contrary, a smug conservatism has generally prevailed in our ruling circles. Ours has become a solidly one-party (Republican) state with a one-party (Republican) press whose Republicanism has generally been well over in the right wing of the national party.

In most of the key areas of the Kansas I've known the economic man has become dominant almost to the point of excluding values and interests that differ from his. Education is defined as vocational and professional training; cultural activities are good in so far as they bring new business to the community; and intercollegiate sports are good because they do bring business.

Is it not strange that this kind of crude materialism should have triumphed over a state once strongly under the influence of New England transcendentalism? What's the matter with Kansas in 1954, anyway?

A single-minded, unimaginative timid conformism in key positions; a steadily more standardized intellectual life in consequence—that's what's the matter with Kansas and it is increasingly what's the matter with the United States, in my opinion.

"A Kind of Prophecy"

William Allen White once wrote that "When anything is going to happen in this country, it happens first in Kansas"; that Kansas is "hardly a state" but "a kind of prophecy." He supported his contention by mentioning Abolition, Prohibition, Populism and the Bull Moose.

I'm not sure he'd now add the present growing national passion for the second-rate in our political life, the present insistence that everybody must think like the more reactionary of our business men on pain of being damned as a traitorous fellow — but perhaps he should and would. For in this, too, Kansas seems to have anticipated a national trend.

As early as 1910, Carl L. Becker, then at Kansas University, noted in one of his most famous essays that "a Kansas individualism is the tendency to conform." The paradox, he thought, stemmed from the unusual difficulties of the Kansas frontier, where sheer endurance was so important; endurance, wrote he, "is itself a kind of conformity."

I've also wondered sometimes if geography might not have been among the chief determinants of our Kansas mind —the fact that there's a sameness to much of our landscape (though I personally find it beautiful).

We occupy a middle position geographically and I wonder if this may not have encouraged us to prefer middle positions.

A Gay Old Girl Becomes Drab

I first thought of this when, back in 1948, we finally repealed by a sizable majority our state prohibition amendment. The "extremes" of a state liquor monopoly (which was deemed "socialistic") or private liquor stores and open taverns (which violated our puritan pieties) were rejected as we put together what Capt. Harold H. Huckins of the Wichita vice squad called the "worst example of ambiguous legislation to come off the state press."

It provided for privately owned package liquor stores, but prohibited public drinking save in "private clubs"—a provision, said Capt. Huckins, which was bound "to increase the popularity of the rest room as the Kansas cocktail bar for the common man."

What is illustrated here, in my opinion, is a great disadvantage of the "middle-of-the-road" attitude when adhered to as steadfastly as it is by the typical Kansas mind. It tends to eschew an objective analysis of problems in favor of simple measurements of prevailing pressures—and these are nearly all heavily weighted toward the status quo.

It also leads to the belief that there's an inherent virtue in dead centers and halfway measures, even when dealing with such clear issues as "McCarthyism"—as though "truth" were to be found halfway between valid statements and malicious lies.

Yet Carl Becker loved Kansas—and so do I. It was precisely because he loved her that he wrote as he did and that he would deplore, as I do, the manner in which this once gay and gaudy old girl has become relatively sad and drab.

Time to Snap Out of It

Nevertheless—and this is my rational justification for what may be, at heart, simply a love of home—I'm convinced that vestiges of the old, vital Kansas do yet remain beneath that almost impenetrable crust of mediocrity we've allowed to form over us.

I thought so a few years ago, anyway, when an enthusiastic UNESCO movement, initiated by Milton Eisenhower, swept over this alleged center of mindless "isolationism." That such sentiment still exists is evidence by the fact that Kansas University's United Nations Conference is one of the most successful of that institution's extension activities.

We're also doing some creative thinking about long-term farm policy. We may deplore the fact that Kansas, whose first settlers were so committed to education, now ranks thirty-third among the states in average teacher salaries, but we can proclaim with pride that since '48 we've advanced from forty-sixth to fourth in our per capita expenditures for mental hospitals.

Precisely these signs of a continuing vitality are what make our voices so impatient as we ask, in 1954, "What's the matter with Kansas?" Surely it is time for us to rise again, restore our vital connection with a great creative tradition, and thus again become "a kind of prophecy" for all America.

Tension in a Hot Climate

THE MANGO SEASON, by Kathryn Grondahl. (William Morrow & Co., 247 pgs., $3.50.)

To native Siamese, the foreigners who live in Bangkok lead strange and dubious lives. To the American readers of "The Mango Season," these voluntary exiles, the members of the Foreign Service, will seem to lead strange and dubious lives also. For a member of the diplomatic corps, the social circle comes prefabricated even more than it does for the rest of us; his comings and goings are very much of interest to his neighbors, and he must fit into the one community available or be an outcast.

Most of Mrs. Grondahl's characters have a problem of one sort or another, and perhaps the need for a solution is more urgent in the closing days of the hot dry season, when life and its problems seem more pressing and the only blessings are the present enjoyment of the ripening mangoes and the anticipatory one of rain.

Kathryn Grondahl

Nora Sheppard, wife of an American diplomat, feels the need for establishing a more satisfactory relationship with her husband; Jay Sheppard is finding the temptation of drinking too much an overpowering one; JoAnn Nelson is fighting homesickness and loneliness in her first months away from her family; Bob Cullen faces a peculiar problem which is basically the fear of the human race for the unknown, the unclassifiable in nature. In one way or another, these problems approach a solution according to the capacities of the various people involved; for some it comes through exercise of the will, for others, it is thrust upon them.

Siam, as seen through the eyes of Mrs. Grondahl, is a series of vivid pictures etched in the brilliant color of faraway places. Her ability to give the essence of a scene or an experience with perception, compensates for the uneasy feeling of the reader that the Diplomatic Service should not be taking quite so much time off for resolving its personal affairs. ### Two Novels in One Cover

THE GOOSE ON THE GRAVE, by John Hawkes. (New Directions, 207 pgs., $3.)

This book actually consists of two short novels, "The Goose on the Grave" and "The Owl." John Hawkes found for his first novel, "The Cannibal," an experimental, personal idiom which he continued to explore in his next book, "The Beetle Leg," and which is still serving him in the present volume. This method, which most of his admiring critics labelled "surrealism," consists of a blend of the bizarre and the ordinary which results in the sense of slight derangement we associate with dreams.

This metaphoric quality is particularly strong in "The Owl," whose protagonist is a village hangman. The experience of reading it, in fact, is not unlike looking at a painting by Hieronymus Bosch. Violence, strangeness, and a sardonic social commentary run through this shifting tale.

"The Goose on the Grave" is the more moving of the two stories, following as it does the adventures of an Italian war orphan whose ignorance and innocence send him ricocheting wildly about in the adult, war-blasted world of terrible knowledges.

Mr. Hawkes takes as his title-page epithet the Ezra Pound dictum, "One must have resonance, resonance and sonority . . . like a goose." And indeed it is the stylistic "resonance" of the two novels, the absolute sureness of tone, the brilliance of detail and use of language that enable one to say with certainty, however unfamiliar the mode of the writing, that Mr. Hawkes is an extraordinarily good writer.

President Backs G.O.P. Sheep and Goats

WASHINGTON.

IT IS DOUBTFUL THAT ANY PRESIDENT ever will work out a fool-proof and politically wise formula for separating the goats from the sheep in his own party membership in Congress. Every two years the opportunity arises in congressional elections.

The temptation is strong for a President to seize it to try to discipline recalcitrants from whom he, his party and his program have suffered frustrations in the Congress that has sat in the two years before an election. Franklin D. Roosevelt yielded to such temptation once, back in 1938, and we had the spectacle of what his foes called "the purge," his attempt to choose between Democrats in a number of cases in primary elections of that year.

Douglas

It failed completely with regard to a number of senatorial "victims" he picked. All F.D.R. accomplished was defeat of the one House member he chose to eliminate, though an important one.

Woodrow Wilson in 1918.

Thas was Representative John J. O'Connor of New York who, as chairman of the House Rules Committee, had blocked some pet F.D.R. projects. For that lone victory, the President reaped a whole passel of resentments from the "victims" who got away from his sword.

In 1918 Woodrow Wilson had called for a Democratic Congress to uphold his policies—and he got a Republican Congress for his pains.

The problem of disciplined unity in either of our major political parties is difficult because of the very temper of our people, which includes those who become their public servants. Individuality and independence are national character traits.

Because of that, and because of the historical development of our parties from diverse groups with diverse aims that constantly must be compromised within each party, both Republican and Democratic parties embrace within their membership a range of political philosophy that runs from conservative to progressive and vice versa.

On domestic issues there are sharp divisions within each party, but more so in the Democratic than in the Republican. On foreign policy each party has its "internationalists" and its "nationalists," though in this area the cleavage is deeper and wider in the Republican party.

'Back the Whole Ticket.'

Now it has come President Eisenhower's turn to learn how hard it is to classify individual party members within this wide spectrum in his own party. Even though there are some clear-cut cases which offer a challenge to a leader who is trying to carry out a definite line of policy, he often finds that any attempt to discipline them will have perhaps unexpected repercussions that may jeopardize the party's election prospects.

Hard-boiled, practical politicians have a simple rule, which is that you support everybody running on your party ticket. That was followed by the President in his 1952 campaign, up to and including Senator McCarthy, from whom the President and his Administration since have had a lot of trouble.

A year or so ago the President's position was that in the 1954 congressional campaign he would not take part in any individual contest, but would campaign broadly for the party and would be for all Republicans against all Democrats.

Now he has altered this somewhat because of developing circumstances to embody decisions on individual cases as they come along with no hard-and-fast rule.

One Day and the Next.

Only a few days before the announcement of that course, he had shown how this "selectivity" can have its apparent inconsistencies. That was in his pledge of support to the Republican senatorial candidate in Illinois, Joseph T. Meek, who is running against incumbent Democratic Senator Paul H. Douglas.

Mr. Meek, a former Taft supporter, is against a great deal of the Eisenhower program, both domestic and foreign. As a matter of fact, he issued a public statement cataloguing views contrary to many Eisenhower objectives just the day before he wrote a letter to the President saying he would support the Eisenhower program if elected.

The extreme ends of the spectrum, both in the Republican party and in the reach of the President's indorsements, was revealed by contrast a few days later when the President came strongly to the defense of the Republican senatorial candidate in New Jersey, former Representative Clifford P. Case, who is a model Eisenhower Republican.

He is even further removed in political philosophy from Mr. Meek of Illinois than Eastern Democrats from standpat Southern conservative Democrats, to step into the other party for comparison.

Opposed by McCarthyites.

Mr. Case is under fire from die-hard conservative elements in New Jersey, including those who supported the late Senator Taft against Gen. Eisenhower for the nomination. They are miffed over Mr. Case's criticism of Senator McCarthy, among other things, and demanded that he withdraw as a candidate.

The President brought Mr. Case personally to the White House for lunch to show his favor and later repeated his high indorsement of him at a news conference.

Very likely there will be other inconsistencies as the campaign develops. The President is becoming more and more practical politically as he gets nearer to the crucial November election which is so important to his party—and himself.

Republican candidates will come to look more and more alike, all of a piece, whatever their particular views. For everyone who wears a Republican collar will be needed.

By MYLES STANDISH

It's been a long time acomin', but "Oklahoma!" has finally reached Municipal Opera. And the wait was worth it. Although 11 years have passed since the record-breaking Rodgers and Hammerstein musical play first burst on the theatrical world, and it has been on view for a total of 13 weeks at the American Theater, its first production by the Forest Park theater last night had all the freshness and electrical fervor of a first night on Broadway. It was given a sparkling presentation, and the crowd of 11,000 (including Gov. Phil M. Donnelly) seemed to enjoy it immensely. It was the largest opening night throng of the season, and prospects are there will be some capacity nights in the two weeks run of the famous piece, which will close the theater's season.

As Producer John Kennedy and his staff fashioned it, it had all the joyous shine and folk-comedy charm of that surrey that Curly sings about. The magic of Richard Rodgers's melodies which he wove through it in a shining regional tapestry never sounded better. Oscar Hammerstein's lyrics—and every word of them was heard, which should please Oscar no end—hit you again with their earthy tang, the richness of good black loam on an open prairie, as simply poetic at times as an outburst of a songbird. The shrewd integration of bucolic romance as shadowed by surly villainy, with broad comedy, opulent song and expressive dance, was all there in the original pattern. The cast was highly capable, with better voices than usual in the romantic leads. The dances followed faithfully the exuberant choreography of the Agnes de Mille creations, and the execution was surprisingly apt, both technically and in continuous elan.

From the time of his entrance at the opening with "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'," William Johnson was an ideal Curly. His baritone had color, an easy, lazy strength and pliability. He had the figure and the cocksure swagger for it, and his Oklahoma accent seemed much more natural than many we've heard before in the role. He showed he could stand up under fire, too. In the smokehouse scene where he taunts the "growly" villain, Jud Fry, the revolver of Norman MacKaye, playing Jud, went off too soon when he was supposed to fire into the ceiling. The blank cartridge wad hit Mr. Johnson in the right thigh, inflicting a burn which had to be treated with a bandage after the scene was over. Johnson jerked visibly at the shot, but carried on as if nothing had happened.

Elise Rhodes looked like the epitome of all the Laureys over the years — tumbling cornsilk hair, turned-up nose, a sort of combination of pertness, punkiness and naive coyness. Her personality was forceful within the mold, and her soprano was clear and assertive.

Jerry Mann, certainly a familiar face, played the peddler Ali Hakim with all the shrewd comic facility and sure approach born of five years with the part. He's the best of all the Ali Hakims we've seen, man and boy. But even so, a couple of the usually sure-fire lines didn't draw much in the way of yaks. Neither did the "I Can't Say No" plaint of such an expert comedienne as Pamela Britton receive quite its usual continuous roars. Perhaps the lack of intimacy as compared to the indoor stage changes the audience reaction; perhaps timing and inflection should be broadened a little for the huge theater. Hal LeRoy made a fair Will Parker, and danced as cleverly as ever.

There were all sorts of bright spots which might be mentioned in the over-all stunning picture —such as bristling little Dave Mallen's familiar train-caller roar as Pa Carnes, Gretchen Wyler as a gorgeous Giggling Gertie, the ballet chorus, and Eldon Elder's fine sets, including a lovely silhouette of greenery against a light night sky backdrop for the dream ballet. But the real stars of this show are the songs—all the way from the dewy freshness of "Beautiful Mornin'," to the insinuating charm of "Surrey with the Fringe on Top," to the booming climaxes of "Oklahoma"—old and pleasant friends, all of them.

Pope Authorizes Use of English In Administering 3 Sacraments

Permission Granted Only to Church in North America for Ceremonies of Baptism, Marriage, Extreme Unction.

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 17 (AP)—English now may be used instead of ancient Latin in some ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church in North America.

Vatican authorities said today that permission to use the English language was given with the approval of Pope Pius XII by the Vatican's Sacred Congregation of Rites, one of 12 congregations that govern Catholic Church affairs.

The permission had been requested by bishops in North America. It extends, therefore, only to the church in North America, and not, for example, to the church in England, church sources said.

Vatican authorities said, however, that if bishops in England were to request similar permission it doubtless would be granted.

English now may be used instead of Latin in administering the sacraments of baptism, matrimony and extreme unction as well as in other ceremonies and in giving blessing. The ceremony of the mass, however, must still be in the ancient Latin, official language of the church.

The permission for use of English follows similar permission given for use of German, French and Italian in those countries. Vatican authorities said there now is a request from Spanish bishops for use of Spanish, and that this doubtless will be granted soon.

ARCHITECT OF THE CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday named former Representative J. George Stewart to be Architect of the Capitol in place of David Lynn, who is retiring Sept. 30 after more than 30 years' service.

Stewart is a Republican. He now lives at Hollywood, Fla. He was a Congressman from Delaware from 1935 to 1937. He is a civil engineer.

RICHARD FITZGIBBON, CITY MARSHAL, DIES

Had Been in Coma Since Last Wednesday—Long Active in Politics.

City Marshal Richard J. FitzGibbon, active in local Democratic politics for many years, died today at DePaul Hospital, where he had been in a diabetic coma since last Wednesday. He was 59 years old.

Born in St. Louis, FitzGibbon attended parochial and high schools here and served overseas in World War I. He was elected justice of the peace of the Fifth District in 1934, and was re-elected four years later.

He was a delegate to the 1943-44 Missouri Constitutional Convention, a former member of the Democratic City Central Committee and former committeeman of the old Fifth ward and of the new Sixth ward. In 1944 he filed as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Representative from the Twelfth District, but withdrew.

FitzGibbon was married and lived at 7282 Maryland avenue, University City, but maintained a voting address at the St. Francis Hotel, 604 Chestnut street. He was a cousin of Judge David W. FitzGibbon of the Court of Criminal Correction.

QUEEN ELIZABETH LAUNCHES VESSEL IN NORTH IRELAND

BELFAST, Aug. 17 (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II made a quick trip to this Northern Ireland capital today to launch a new-type passenger liner built with its engines and funnel in the stern to make more room for passenger accommodation.

Braving a driving rain, the Queen launched the 20,000-ton vessel, named the Southern Cross to commemorate her recent Commonwealth tour, only a few hours after four men, carrying a revolver and detonators, were arrested driving through Newry, 45 miles south of Belfast near the Southern Ireland border.

Police discounted any suggestion that the monarch herself was a target for the men they arrested but said they believed they planned to blow up something near Newry as a demonstration against the Queen's visit. The four were to be charged with possession of firearms and ammunition. Four other men in the automobile with them escaped in the predawn darkness.

When the Queen last visited Belfast, in July 1953, anti-royalists blew up a railroad bridge and sabotaged the city's power supply.

GLORIA VANDERBILT DOES PRETTY WELL IN STAGE DEBUT

MOUNTAINHOME, Pa., Aug. 17 (AP)—Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski made her stage debut here last night, overcoming an obvious early nervousness to win the cheers of a full house for her gallant portrayal of a princess in Ferenc Molnar's romantic fable, "The Swan."

The consensus was that the tall brunette, 30-year-old wife of Conductor Leopold Stokowski and mother of two children, had done pretty well for a beginner. She later admitted she had never been so scared and seldom so excited. It was well past midnight before the theater and the area backstage were cleared of admirers seeking a word with the famous heiress.

The audience was not ultra-fashionable. A few of the star's close friends were on hand, unobtrusively, but there was no fuss, no undue socializing. Stokowski, who is 67, did not attend, it being his wife's wish to meet the first new challenge alone.

The play remains at the Pocono Playhouse of the resort community for the rest of this week and then moves to Falmouth, Mass.

RUSSIA SAYS LAND USE PROGRAM HAS EXCEEDED QUOTAS

Tells of Success in Turning Virgin, Idle Soil to the Plow — New Program Set.

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 (UP) — Soviet leaders said today Soviet agriculture has "sharply exceeded" his year's quotas for turning virgin and idle soil to the plow.

Tass, Soviet news agency, issued an anouncement by the Central Committee of the Communist party and the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers "noting with satisfaction . . . the ardent response" to the Government's new program for developing new land in Siberia and Kazakhstan.

The announcement said next year's program to sow 32,000,000 acres of virgin and idle land to grain has been increased to 37,000,000 acres.

The 1956 quota will also be boosted from the original 69,000,000 acres to 74,000,000 acres.

The total of new land brought under cultivation this year is 35,000,000 acres although the quota for the new program was only 32,000,000, the announcement said.

These figures are for the amount of land newly brought under cultivation and included soil actually sown to wheat and other grains.

The campaign to grow more grain is one of Premier Malenkov's main home front projects. Tens of thousands of young "volunteers" have been sent from Russia's cities to open up vast new areas in Siberia, Kazakhstan ond other steppe regions.

Food Boss Khrushchev Given One More Chance.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Soviet food boss Nikita S. Khrushchev has been given one more chance to make good on his master plan to solve Russia's grain shortage, observers said today.

This belief was voiced following today's Moscow announcement. Khrushchev's plan calls for ending the grain shortage by turning millions of acres of wasteland in Siberia and Kazakhstan to the plow.

The Central Committee complained July 6 about the "bad use of equipment and gross violation of quality standards in soil cultivation — shallow plowing, the incomplete turning of the ground, inopportune harrowing" on the new lands.

Khrushchev escaped in this criticism of his underlings and, significantly, the Kremlin blasts made no mention of actual cultivation figures at that time.

The Kremlin produced the figures last night and on paper they looked good. Grain quotas were fulfilled 156 per cent by collective farms and 176 per cent by state farms while cultivation quotas were fulfilled 103.2 per cent.

The Soviet leaders felt it necessary to "call upon" all concerned to "ensure the uninterrupted supply of agriculture with tractors, farm machinery spare parts, fuel and other industrial goods."

The announcement "expressed confidence that tens of thousands of skilled workers, agronomists, engineers and technicians, especially Soviet youth, will, when required, respond to the call to volunteer for work on the development of virgin and idle land as eagerly as they did last spring."

HOSIERY MAKERS, UNION AGREE TO END PENSION FUND

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17 (AP) —Officials of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers and the Full Fashioned Hosiery Manufacturers of America have agreed to liquidate their $3,500,000 pension plan, probably this week. The plan has been in effect three and one-half years.

General depression in the hosiery industry brought on the pension abandonment step, officials said. Although payments into pension fund by the association's 30 member firms ceased Aug. 7, pension payments to workers will continue—"until the money runs out," officials said.

Eugene Springer, association president, said that the 4 per cent of weekly gross payrolls that participating employers paid into the fund imposed an impossible competitive burden on them. Only a handful of non-unionized firms pay pensions. Final details of distributing the pension fund have not yet been worked out. Approximately 275 persons are now on pension.

STOCKHOLDERS RATIFY SALE OF THE DAZEY CORP.

Sale of the Dazey Corp. of St. Louis, manufacturer of non-electrical kitchen appliances, to Landers, Frary & Clark of New Britain, Conn., appliance manufacturers, was ratified by Dazey stockholders at a meeting yesterday. Plans for the sale, for $1,500,000, were announced July 30.

The Dazey plant at 4301 Warne avenue will continue in operations with its 400 employes and under the present management, William E. Gundelfinger, president, said. The purchase, effective Aug. 31, includes subsidiaries of the Dazey Corp. except the Loyd Scruggs Co. of Festus.

TABLETS LINK GREEK, HEBREW CULTURES

Dr. Cyrus E. Gordon Says Common Origin in Ugarit Is Indicated

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—Recently deciphered texts of ancient clay tablets found at Ugarit, a city on the coast of Syria, indicate that the Hebrew and Greek cultures—foundations of contemporary western civilization—had the same origin, Dr. Cyrus E. Gordon, professor as Assyriology and Egyptology at Dropsie college in Philadelphia, announced today.

Scientists have long suspected the existence of a common link between early Greek and Hebrew literatures, but they have been unable thus far to back up their speculation with concrete evidence.

The answers to the scientists' questions, Dr. Gordon believes, is contained in a series of baked clay tablets which have been unearthed in Ugarit in the last 25 years.

These tablets have been positively identified as belonging to the period of 1400 BC. This places them half-way between oldest east Mediterranean cultures such as Egyptian, Cretan and Mesopotamian, and the younger Greek and Hebrew cultures.

Decipherment of the tablets, which bear cuneiform symbols, has gone on ever since the first stone slabs were found in 1929. Dr. Gordon noted that in the Ugarit texts there occurred a series of literary motifs — or story plots—which were absent in all earlier east Mediterranean cultures. The same motifs also appeared in Greek mythology and in the Bible, suggesting that both descended from the Ugarit culture.

Dr. Gordon then began a careful study of the Bible, (Hebrew) and Homeric works (Greek) on one hand and the Ugarit texts on the other. In the course of this work he found so many Ugarit motifs reflected in both Greek and Hebrew literature that he is now firmly convinced the cradle of the Greek and Hebrew civilizations stood at Ugarit.

Dr. Gordon's findings will be published early next year.

LATE STOCK SELLING BRINGS LOWER CLOSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—The stock market ended narrowly lower today as a late selloff among the railroads, utilities and motion pictures reversed the market's earlier direction.

Oils, motors and mail order issues, which carried the market upward throughout most of the session, continued firm at the close. But aircrafts, steels and chemicals declined. And radio-television and mining stocks turned mixed.

Volume came to 2,900,000 shares compared with 2,760,000 shares yesterday. Last hour and half sales, including day's odd-lots were 810,000 shares.

The market narrowed eight issues from yesterday at 1218. There were 544 losers, 446 gainers and 228 unchanged. There were 128 new 1954 highs and three new lows.

(Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was 1.23 lower at 348.38 at the close; the 20 rails were off .41 at 120.04 and the 15 utilities unchanged at 61.41.)

The United Press said the lowly Graham-Paige stock (around $1.50 a share) today led the stock market in volume and more than accounted for an increase in trading over yesterday's session. This one-time automobile producer rose with the other autos but its rise was inspired by strength in oil shares of which it holds large amounts. The present investment company also has a large amount of stock in the oil well equipment industry. Graham-Paige opened on a block of 15,800 shares. Long strings of the issue apeared later on blocks ranging to 10,000 shares.

Trading started extremely fast with many large blocks crossing the tape during the first half hour. The pace remained rapid throughout the morning and into the afternoon, when volume began to slow down.

Steels were unsettled after Representative Celler (Dem.), New York, called on the Justice Department to block a merger of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. Youngstown slipped more than two points.

Studebaker and Packard motors sparked the motors higher after stockholders of both companies approved a merger. Graham-Paige, a holding company heavily invested in Kaiser Motors, was extremely active but steady in price.

Northrop Aircraft opened up 3½ points at 45 on a block of 15,000 shares after directors voted to split the stock. It held most of its gain throughout the session, but had no effect on other aircrafts. Thompson Products also jumped several points on a stock split.

Thompson had 1,313,131 common shares outstanding last March 31.

GRAINS MOVE UPWARD AFTER IRREGULARITY

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP) — Grains moved up on the Board of Trade today with September soybeans again in the van. Dealings were active.

The market opened steady, rose on a burst of buying about midway in the morning, eased to around previous closing levels and then came forward again late in the session.

Fears of a late soybean harvest sparked demand for September soybeans. More reports of rust damage in the northwest and in Canada created demand for wheat. Corn was helped by a firm cash market.

Near the close wheat was 1⅜ to 1⅞c up; corn ½ to 1c up; oats ¼ to ⅝c up; rye 2⅛ to 3c up; soybeans 1 to 7c up; lard 20 to 35c up.

Main reason for the buying in September soybeans was cool, damp weather over much of the midwest. It was felt this would delay harvesting beans, although resulting in a larger crop than if the weather had continued hot and dry. The harvest delay could mean a short supply of cash beans in September.

Senate Cites Corliss Lamont And Two Others for Contempt

Lists Three Who Refused to Answer Questions by McCarthy in Communism Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Contempt of Congress citations voted by the Senate against Corliss Lamont, wealthy New York leftist author, and two other men go to the Justice Department today for possible prosecution.

Lamont, contending Senators yielded to "pressure" by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, said he would take the case to the Supreme Court if necessary.

McCarthy, chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, obtained citations against the three by a vote of 71 to 3 yesterday in hours of wrangling debate. He said Deputy Attorney General William P. Rogers has indicated willingness to prosecute.

Lamont later issued a statement in New York saying the Senate "missed an excellent opportunity to help curb the excesses of the McCarthy committee."

Others Cited.

Besides Lamont, son of the late Financier Thomas W. Lamont, the citations named Abraham Unger, a New York lawyer, and Albert Shadowitz, electronics specialist from Nutley, N.J.

They were cited—recommended for prosecution—for declining to answer many questions asked by McCarthy while the Senator was sitting as a one-man investigating subcommittee last fall and winter.

None of the three refused to answer on ground of Fifth Amendment protection against possible self incrimination, which McCarthy contends is the only valid ground on which a witness may deny information to congressional investigators.

Lamont, after swearing at the inquiry that "I am not now and never have been a member of the Communist party," had challenged the McCarthy subcommittee's jurisdiction for a variety of reasons. These included the First Amendment guarantee of free speech.

He refused to answer many questions concerning possible association with alleged Communists and to tell whether he had attended Communist meetings.

Lamont was questioned last September concerning the use of some of his writings in textbooks for Army intelligence officers. McCarthy denounced the works as containing Communist propaganda.

Shadowitz also refused to answer most questions McCarthy asked, declaring Physicist Albert Einstein had urged him not to co-operate with the subcommittee. Shadowitz was questioned last Dec. 10 in an investigation of alleged Communist infiltration of radar laboratories.

Unger invoked the First Amendment when questioned Sept. 15 and 17 in McCarthy's investigations of alleged Communist activities in the United Nations.

Unger's Comment.

In New York Unger said "it looks like McCarthy is still on the prowl and has stampeded the Senate again." He said that by not answering questions "I was simply resisting the kind of unconstitutional conduct which has already resulted in one trial for McCarthy and is soon to lead to a second."

Shadowitz, in a statement from his New Jersey home, said he is confident of three things: "1. The First Amendment guaranteeing our traditional Americal political freedoms is a good law. 2. My stand before the McCarthy committee, relying completely on the First Amendment, is a correct position. 3. The courts will affirm me, for otherwise they affirm McCarthyism."

The main citation row centered about Lamont. The Senate finally ordered the citation with Senators Langer (Rep.), North Dakota, Chavez (Dem.), New Mexico, and Lehman (Dem.), New York, voting against it.

Langer challenged McCarthy's handling of the case, called Lamont an "underdog" in the situation and said: "Whether he is a rich man or poor man, black or white, on the Senate floor he's entitled to a square deal."

McCarthy described Lamont as a man "born with a silver spoon in his mouth" who has done the nation great harm. He contended a protest Lamont circulated to Senators last spring contained misstatements.

The Wisconsin Senator tangled earlier with Lehman on citing Unger and Shadowitz. Lehman argued the Senate should await a Supreme Court decision on validity of the first amendment as a ground for refusing to testify about political beliefs.

McCarthy said he was "very, very much shocked and disturbed" to hear "Communist jargon" on the Senate floor.

The citations now go to the Attorney General to determine whether they should be submitted to a grand jury. Contempt of Congress is punishable by up to $1000 fine and a year in prison.

200-POUND SAFE IS FOUND

A 200-pound safe was found on a private road north of Olive Street road yesterday and deputies said it apparently was one stolen from a St. Louis food shop early yesterday.

Ralph Rahn, proprietor of the Famous Food Shop, 5587 Pershing avenue, had reported theft of a safe containing $1502 from his shop. The safe's hinges had been knocked off and the door forced open.

KOREAN ORPHAN'S NEW PARENTS AWAIT HIS ARRIVAL

Capt. Charles V. Porcelli, provost marshal at the Army Engineers Depot at Granite City, is looking forward eagerly to the arrival this weekend of his adopted son, a Korean war orphan.

Their acquaintance began back in 1953 when Kim Chong Bok, now almost 10 years old, walked into Capt. Porcelli's police station in Sokcho-ri, a village north of the Thirty-eighth parallel. When illness in his family resulted in Capt. Porcelli's hurried return to this country, he began making arrangements to adopt the lad and send for him.

Adoption papers were obtained last Aug. 3 in circuit court at Edwardsville and a plane ticket was sent to Korea last Saturday. Capt. Porcelli hopes his new son will be on the plane leaving Pusan Thursday.

The captain's family will be a little United Nations when Kim arrives. The captain, of Italian extraction, married Miss Anna Neubert of Dortmund when he was stationed in Germany in 1948. She is as eager to greet the Korean youngster as the captain is.

TEXAS INCOME TAX CASE TO GO BEFORE GRAND JURY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Justice Department said today an income tax case involving George B. Parr, business and political figure in Duval county, Texas, shortly would be placed before a federal grand jury at Houston for study.

The case has been referred to Justice officials by the Internal Revenue service, which was reported several months ago to be looking into Parr's tax returns. The file has been forwarded to United States Attorney Malcolm R. Wilkey at Houston for review and submission to the next grand jury session, scheduled to convene there Sept. 27.

Parr lives at San Diego and is sometimes referred to as the "Duke of Duval county."

He Spins Some Hints On Art of Mixology

By Clarissa Start

SOMEONE told us the other day that they may soon load singing commercials into juke boxes. Seems you won't have to pay a nickel for them. Periodically, between the cool numbers, you'll get free hot tips on man-oh-man-oh-what-a-wine or relax-with-the-wax-that-does-the-work-for-you. All of which has nothing to do with the following except to point up that they're putting all kinds of things on records these days. Among the novelties we tried out on our turntable recently is Maurice C. Dreicer's long playing, "How to Make the Most Popular Cocktails and Long Drinks."

MAURICE DREICER

Since we had met Dreicer, a renowned gourmet who won fame by traveling the world in search of a perfect steak, and since the subject of the record is one in which we have a certain academic interest, we spent an enjoyable half hour, 15 minutes to each side, brushing up on mixology, or bartending. Since the record costs approximately the price of a fifth of bonded, we're passing on some of the nuggets to you:

"The Martini," according to Dreicer, who intones all his opinions in a dramatic fashion worthy of Hamlet, "is a wonderful drink when properly made but when incorrectly mixed it can be ghastly." Dreicer particularly abhors the "Civil Liberties martini" which gives equal rights to the gin and vermouth. His choice is the William Jennings Bryan martini which follows Bryan's silver formula of 16 to 1.

LIKEWISE HE RESENTS the space given to the traditional olive, preferring a twist of lemon. He even sympathizes with the irate gentleman who reprimanded the bartender for twisting the peel so that a drop of juice profaned the martini.

"When I want a lemonade," barked the gent, "I'll order one."

Dreicer condones such variations as the martini made with sherry instead of vermouth, the Gibson with its cocktail onions, and even the Marconi, a mild 3-to-1 mix with a dash of bitters. In any case the big secret of success is to pour the mixed martinis from the pitcher of ice into another pitcher so that the ice is allowed to chill, not chasten the drink. For added head and sparkle, he suggests dipping an iced teaspoon into a bottle of pernod and then into each martini.

THE MANHATTAN, Rob Roy, Old Fashioned, and variations thereof, are dealt with as is that good neighbor, the Daiquiri. Dreicer adds to the juice of one lime, two ounces of rum, and teaspoon of powdered sugar, a dash—just a dash, mind you—of cointreau.

Now turn over the record, kiddies, and learn about tall drinks, including the controversial mint julep. Dreicer doesn't go along with the man who wrote that anyone who crushes the mint leaves is "an unmitigated barbarian."

"I would simply call him a barbarian," he temporizes.

The man of quality, of course, bruises the mint with one stroke of the mallet, then mixes the julep in the way all you experts do, and don't think we're going to be drawn in on that.

"Some people put a dash of cognac on top," he muses, "but I don't recommend it. It's the bourbon, the ice, and the mint that does the trick." (Quite frankly, Maurice, with us, it's the bourbon.)

CONTINUING WITH the favorite drink of the late Huey Long and this writer, the Ramos Gin Fizz, he recalls how Long once became so incensed that a New York bartender couldn't mix one, he had the bartender from the Roosevelt Hotel flown up from New Orleans to whip it up. All the time it was as simple as this:

Take the white of an egg, juice of a lemon, three ounces of gin, one ounce of cream (not-ugh-milk), one teaspoon powdered sugar, and one-fourth teaspoon orange flower water. Add shaved ice and shake well before using.

Dreicer traces the Bloody Mary to Pete, the bartender at L.A.'s Beverly Hills Hotel. It seems a henpecked husband, John, appealed to Pete to invent a drink in which his wife, Mary could not detect any spirituous liquor. Pete came up with four ounces of tomato juice, two ounces vodka, one ounce lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt and black pepper. Mary not only swallowed the story about the tomato juice, she swallowed the drink, loved it, and took to order it in quart bottles from Pete.

Less familiar drinks to which the gourmet pays tribute include the Peter Rabbit, three parts gin to one part carrot juice, the Blue Blazer, a complicated formula which involves pouring burning Scotch from one mug to another, and some of his own inventions. Among the latter are Dreicer's Devil's Disciple, three parts aqua vit and one part Cherry Heering, and the Dreicer Special, three parts Pimm's Number One, one part benedictine, one part lemon juice. This one is served at an exclusive expensive restaurant which also features "stewed buffalo for four," price $75.

Reflections on Self-Destruction

By Adele Starbird

AN actor who had been refused a raise threatened to kill himself on the stage during the next performance.

"Might be a good idea," said the unfeeling manager. "But what were you planning to use for an encore?"

DEAN STARBIRD

Alexandre Dumas conveyed the same idea of bitter finality with his usual urbane wit. Suicide, he said, was the worst mistake anybody could make, because it was the only one that could not be corrected.

A woman doctor was preparing to leave her office in New York late Friday afternoon. She had been under a long strain and was looking forward to a quiet weekend in the country.

Just as she turned the key in the lock, a distraught girl stepped out of the elevator, and rushed toward her. "Oh doctor, I must see you," she exclaimed. "I am going to commit suicide."

The doctor looked at the girl and then at her watch. Just time enough to catch her train out of Grand Central Station. Grimly she decided that nobody was going to do her out of her weekend—nobody!

"But why would anybody commit suicide on Friday?" she asked pleasantly. "It's the worst day of the week for anything like that. You won't get any publicity out of it. The story will be buried in the thin Saturday papers. I tell you what—you come back here on Monday morning and I'll help you plan a suicide that will make the front page of every newspaper in the country!"

The girl did come back on Monday and the doctor was able to talk her out of her plan and to set her feet on solid ground again.

ADOLESCENTS are often haunted by the death wish. At that age a small difficulty may assume gigantic proportions. Any failure, any rejection, any feeling of inadequacy can serve as the spring that releases the forces of violent turmoil and panic.

However, one of the most tragic aspects of a youthful suicide is that it was not really intended. A girl who is desperate or angry thinks of suicide as a way out, but she doesn't actually face the fact of death. She wants to punish those who have hurt her, they will be sorry when she is gone. She can see her lover disconsolate, her parents self-reproachful. They will realize then how much she has suffered, they will forgive her, they will spend their lives in futile remorse.

She takes refuge in the dark drama, but secretly and unconsciously she doesn't expect to go through with it. Something will happen to save her. They will find her in the nick of time, they will revive her, there will be a tender reconciliation.

NURSES HAVE SAID how heartbreaking it is to hear such a girl plead for her life, cry out that she doesn't want to die—when it is already too late to help her.

With few exceptions, people who have real troubles don't think of self-destruction. They are far too busy taking a mop to their sea of troubles. (A mop is much more effective than arms, Mr. Shakespeare). There is not time for self-pity or boredom. In fact, trouble is a great diversion, as Anatole France once said.

Sorrow is something quite different from trouble. But even those who sorrow do not deny life.

Life is a precious thing, precious even when it is hardest. To have a body that can be home to the spirit, that is the priceless gift, something not to be cast aside, or forfeited, for any reason whatsoever.

Emotional Child

By Frances Ilg, M.D., and Louise Ames, Ph.D.

Of the Gesell Institute of Child Development

"I HAVE two daughters, one is 2 years old and the other is nearly 4," a mother writes. "The 4-year-old, though intelligent and one who minds very well, is very emotional, nervous and sensitive. The things that worry me are these: In the house she will play only 15 or 20 minutes at a time, and will then sit or lie on the floor and suck her fingers, which she has been doing since she was a year old.

"The younger girl will play for an hour or two without interruption. Outside, both children play very well. The older girl, if told to look for something, will not try to find it and will proceed to whine sometimes for almost an hour because she doesn't find it.

"When playing with her younger sister she will take or bribe things from her, and the 2-year-old doesn't seem to mind in the least. This doesn't seem fair to me, but I don't know how to correct the situation.

"Sometimes when playing with her peg board or other toy, if she is unable to do it correctly she will smash it, kick it, whine and then suck her fingers.

"Have I a real problem, or am I worrying too much about it? The 4-year-old never did play well by herself. I would appreciate any suggestions you would give me. Spanking and ignoring her have not helped."

There is, as you of course realize, a very real difference in the personalities of your two daughters. Thus it is necessary for you to expect different things of them. Your older girl probably will always need more attention and help than does the younger one.

Probably it will be good to plan as much outdoor play for the older one as you can. When, or since, she acts so badly at failure, it is important to step in and help her, if you can, before failure occurs—rather than punishing her for her immature response to failure. Gradually she will learn to accept it.

She will probably respond better to a controlled school situation than she does to free play situations. It is hard for her to be in situations where she has to be creative and take care of herself. When something specific is demanded of her, she may be able to respond better.

IF SHE PLAYS only 15 or 20 minutes at a time and then lies down and sucks her fingers, this is the time to step in and switch her to a new game or interest, or even to entertain her yourself. (Or have someone else do so.) Gradually, we expect, her span of being able to entertain herself will increase.

She obviously lacks self-confidence. Firm discipline won't give her this. She is going to have to be helped. For instance, if she won't look for something and just whines, you will have to step in and make suggestions as to how and where she can look, etc. Even make an enjoyable silly game of it.

You don't have a problem in that something is really wrong. But you do have a problem in that you're going to have to give your daughter a lot of help before she will become reasonably self-reliant. And she will probably never in some ways catch up to her younger sister.

They Call It 'Miracle of Marblehead'

75 Sailboats Capsize When Dramatic 17-Minute Squall Hits Regatta but Not a Life Lost

By Joseph D. Phelan

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 17.

RACE WEEK regattas have come and gone at this historic birthplace of the American Navy for the past 71 years but none within recollection of the oldest old timers has produced the terrifying drama that a roaring, 17-minute thundersquall did this past week.

The "Marblehead Miracle" they are calling it here, now that the initial shock of the closeness of death and tragedy has passed. It was a "miracle" because more than 100 youthful sailors and yachtsmen were rescued without a single serious injury when they were thrown into the boiling sea by the capricious winds.

About 150 Snipes, Hustlers, Thistles and Fireflys were running down the windward leg of the triangular course when the vicious blow struck, capsizing at least half of the frail racing craft. Within seconds, the waters just off Marblehead harbor were whipped into wild whitecaps, dotted with stricken boats bobbing like wood chips on the ocean surface.

To make matters worse, the plight of the dunked mariners, most of them boys and girls in their teens or early twenties, worsened as quarter-inch hailstones began pelting them as they clung to the capsized hulls.

Crippled racers were scattered all over the course, many of them dismasted and the sails of scores more ripped to shreds. Only a handful of weather-wise youngsters had time to shorten sail before the squall hit.

The storm struck at 4:15 p.m. last Wednesday. It was over by official calculation, at 4:32 p.m. But its fury and potential tragic impact could not be measured by its brevity. Too many remember a similar storm that hit a much smaller regatta at nearby Salem in late July, 1952, at a cost of five lives. Three times as many racing yachts were capsized here without a single loss of life!

Marblehead's storm, though it hit with a suddenness typical of the elements, was not entirely unannounced. Small craft warnings had been posted most of the day from Eastport, Me., to Block Island but the skippers of the 1000 boats that had gathered here for the biggest and most important Eastern regatta hardly lost their enthusiasm because of that.

However, when the ominous black clouds started forming in the southwest, the more seasoned veterans of the watchful U.S. Power Squadron alerted for possible trouble. It wasn't long in coming.

As squadron commander Dr. Thomas R. O'Brien of Lynn said, "as soon as we saw the mass of clouds moving up the coast, we knew then we were in for a blow. Luckily, the mass broke into two sections and one headed out to sea.

"Experience showed," he added, "that these blows always moved in over the Marblehead-Beverly-Salem area," which is in an exposed spot jutting out of the North Shore in cape-like fashion.

It was Harold (Puck) Pierce, squadron officer of the day who was patrolling in his 40-foot power boat Venture, who radioed the first word of the mass capsizings to the Coast Guard. Within minutes the rescue operation was underway. Its elements: some 20 boats of the power squadron, the Coast Guard auxiliary, the harbor police, picket boats from the Coast Guard's lifeboat stations at Salem, Gloucester and Nahant and an amphibious duck from the Pt. Allerton station that raced overland to the scene behind a police escort with sirens screeching.

Two Coast Guard helicopters flew in from the Salem Air Station to guide the rescue work of the power launches that swarmed in and out among the capsized and disabled craft, picking up shivering crew members and taking their boats in tow.

LT. COMDR. WALLACE DAHLGREN, a co-pilot of one of the 'copters, said, "the scene reminded me of clusters of overturned duckpins. They were in bunches of 25 and 30. I have to hand it to those squadron people. They operated magnificently. Why I even saw one power boat towing six sailboats."

The basic reason why a serious disaster and another Salem incident was averted, everyone agreed, went beyond the smoothly organized patrols and rescue teams. The cool-heads of the well-trained skippers who stuck to their boat hulls rather than panicking and deserting their craft for a near-hopeless attempt to swim to shore had a lot to do with the "miracle."

If there was an outstanding hero of the incident, Pierce was the man.

"I was halfway to Baker's Island when the squall hit with unexpected force," he says. "In a matter of seconds, I saw at least 15 boats go over and there must have been some 20 or 25 people in the water. As the gale continued and boats capsized, I radioed Salem Coast Guard headquarters, telling them that an emergency existed in Marblehead bay and asking for help—immediate help.

"I started to help some of the boys, righting small craft and hauling skippers aboard my Venture.

CREW MEMBERS BAILING OUT THEIR CRAFT AFTER THE STORM PASSED.

"I had difficulty convincing the young skippers to leave their boats. . . . They were trembling and shivering with cold. It was raining and there were heavy seas. They pleaded with me to let them remain with their craft but I told them there were others in danger and lives came first. Everywhere you looked there were overturned boats and boys in the water.

"Local men in boats turned to and went at it. The results were wonderful. The Marblehead patrol, in charge of Kenneth Eldridge, did a wonderful job. The police are to be congratulated."

PATROLMEN ELDRIDGE and John Wolfgran, who plucked at least 20 persons from the water, added a word of praise for the rescued: "They were a bunch of pros. They knew just what to do. Most of them just clung to their craft until they were righted."

The remarkable calm of the rescued was described by George Wiswell Jr. of Marblehead:

"The water was rough and the wind was picking up as a bunch of Fireflies started on the first leg of the race.

"Mark Kellogg of Marblehead, who is only 9, was in the boat with me. As we made the turn, the wind became very strong and my boat keeled over so far that the sail was almost parallel with the water. Then a wave swamped us.

"I stood on the centerboard and got the boat righted. Mark remained calm and was very helpful. He took down one of the sails and we beached the boat and bailed it out. Then we decided we would continue in the race and we were the first across the finish line."

The most seriously affected were a few who were treated for immersion at the Corinthian and Marblehead yacht clubs, two of five that make this North shore point the Eastern sailing capital.

This seaport's claim as the birthplace of the U. S. Navy goes back to pre-Revolutionary days. America's first three Navy vessels, Corinthian president Harry Nash explained, were built in the Marblehead-Beverly area.

No less authority than Dr. Thomas Davis, the man who sailed the ketch Miru from Boston to attend classes at Harvard Medical's public health school, confirms Marblehead's status as a mecca of sailing enthusiasts.

THE mariner-physician, whose book, "Doctor to the Islands" is to be published this week, said the Marblehead Race Week which has run continuously since its start in 1883 "is known in every port of the world where men sail boats."

Repercussions from the storm stories were still being reported days later. One yachting editor received a call from Los Angeles, inquiring of his condition and whether he and his family had "survived". Another young man got a telephone message from his father in Chicago demanding he stay ashore if yachting here was as difficult as reported. And a husky athlete from Texas had several calls and wires wanting to know about his health.

Like most yachtsmen, the Marblehead crews were out again last weekend to wrestle with the wind and the sea.

Suggestions On Installing Porch Floor

By Hubbard Cobb

A PORCH floor—one that is exposed to the weather—has a rather short and also an unhappy life. It seems that almost before you've paid for it you are in the market for a new one. This is because wood porch floors have a bad habit of rotting away.

To insure a porch floor lasting, select wood for the job that has been treated with a wood preservative. If you can't get wood of this type, then dip or coat each piece with a wood preservative before it is installed. Dipping is the best method of application because it's thorough and fast.

When the wood is dry from the preservative, it's ready to be nailed down. A good thing to do before you nail the board into place is to coat the tongue edge with paint. You don't have to wait for the paint to dry before nailing the board into place.

For a floor to last, the fasteners must be as durable as the wood. It's best, therefore, to use either nails or screws that won't rust. Aluminum, galvanized iron and brass are all good.

A porch floor should be pitched so that any water falling on it will drain quickly off it. The pitch should be away from the house, for you don't want water collecting at the joint between the floor and house sidewall, where it might cause the exterior paint to peel or decay the wood.

Once the floor has been installed, it should be kept coated with deck paint. If you allow the paint to wear off in spots, moisture will get to the wood and this will roughen up the surface, which means that before the wood can be repainted it will have to be sanded smooth.

Slipcovers made of white toweling are quick drying, need no ironing and will last for years.

Remove the center from frankfurter or hamburger rolls and stuff with a well-seasoned meat or fish salad mixture.

Tasty Tricks

Good hamburger patties are even better with this special sauce. In the fat that remains from cooking the meat, saute a cup of sliced ripe olives and a teaspoon chili powder. Pour over browned patties.

New Skirt Features

Martha Carr's OPINION

Dear Martha:

I'M a housewife with a rather irritating mother-in-law. I've taken care of her after three falls which resulted in broken bones. I've had to have two serious operations in the past six months. She has always caused friction between my husband and me. He caters to her and when she is around, I'm always wrong. She expects him to stay at her home this winter and leave the children and me by ourselves. TROUBLED.

There you have to draw the line. If he feels someone should be with her, he can obtain a companion or perhaps rent a room for her in a small residential hotel or home where someone could be near in case of emergency. But she certainly has no right to break up your home, even for a few months, and you should make your husband understand that. It would seem that you have done your part, but here's a tip: granted she may be hard to get along with, and granted it's irritating to see your husband cater to her wishes all the time, but to keep peace in the household, make a special effort to be nice to her. Don't let yourself get drawn into an argument so your husband will have a chance to say you're wrong and his mother is right.

Dear Martha:

HOW CAN I GET A FRIEND OF MINE to introduce me to his boy friend? I have known this certain boy for a long time but he won't introduce me to his good-looking friend. Every Saturday afternoon my girl friend and I go to watch them play baseball and after the game both of them come and talk to us but he still won't introduce us. ANXIOUS.

If this boy comes over and talks to you, apparently his friend—the one you know—doesn't think a formal introduction is necessary. But if you do, the next time the four of you are together, you can just turn to this boy and say, "You know, we've never been formally introduced. My name is Betty Blank. And this is my friend, Susie Smith." However, if you all have been talking together every Saturday afternoon, it seems a little silly to seek an introduction at this late date.

Dear Martha:

WHILE VACATIONING THIS SUMMER I met a boy I like very much. He is 19 and is in the Navy. He has asked me to visit him and his family over Labor day as he will have a furlough. His home is only 150 miles from mine. My mother is very strict and old-fashioned and does not think it's proper for a 16-year-old girl to visit a boy. How can I prove to my mother that girls of my age, in this modern world, are doing things like this every day? SALLY.

What girls, Sally? Not the ones whose mothers believe, as yours does, in following certain conventions even though etiquette has changed with the generations and customs which were taboo 30 years ago are considered all right now. At any rate, you should not think of accepting such an invitation unless it comes from the boy's mother.

IN ANSWER TO Frances: The Missouri State Fair at Sedalia will be held Aug. 23-27.

These late summer days will be ideal for an old-fashioned picnic. For some game ideas, write to Martha Carr, inclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

School Introduction

By Angelo Patri

JUST before school opens, some day when there are signs of activity about the building so you know it is open, do take the beginning pupil on a trial trip through the place. He has heard stories about school and it may be that some of them have given him a wrong idea. Take him around the building—show him the classrooms, the playgrounds, the place where he goes for a drink. Let him sit in one of the classroom seats so he gets the feel of it. Familiarity drives away fear.

If it is possible, have him meet the teacher who is to instruct him for the term. Maybe it is possible to invite her to dinner. Once a child really meets his teacher and sees that she is sympathetic, like his mother, he is not likely to be in terror of her on the first day in school.

THIS IS IMPORTANT for the child starting school. Every term there is sure to be one child who is in a hysterical state at the opening of school. He screams and clings to his mother. She thinks that if she can sit with him in the classroom, he will soon forget his fear and let her go home. That never happened in our experience. The longer his mother stayed the longer he screamed.

If this child is allowd to have his way this first day, he is not likely to attend school that term. We learned that when such a youngster entered school, the day he stayed there without his mother. We persuaded her to go home despite his cries. We placed him in his seat, signaled an able little girl to look after him. We made certain that there was no chance of his getting out of the door.

SOON, UNDER THE MINISTRATIONS of the motherly little girl, the sympathetic atmosphere of the room, his cries died down to sobs, the sobs died away and he took up his crayon and went to work. Maybe we had the session all over again at the afternoon admission. If so, we started over again. Rarely did we have trouble with such a child more than one day.

This experience is unpleasant for all concerned. We tried to avoid it. If the mother had not visited the school with the child previously, we asked her on registration day to please take him and show him his classroom and meet the teacher who was waiting there for that purpose. When this was done, or when the child had a trial trip through the place, there was less fear—so there were fewer distressed children.

A READER asks: "Would it be proper for me to give a stork shower for a dear friend of mine who is now living several hundred miles from here. Her husband was transferred several months ago, but prior to that she lived in this city and all of her relatives and friends are living here. Some are of the opinion that it would be wrong to give a shower since she cannot be present; and others have advised me to have the shower and send the baby things to her. Please help me out in my dilemma as I do not wish to be criticized."

Yes, you could give her a "shower by mail"—collect all the presents, wrap them up in one large package and send them to her. I think it would be even more appreciated than if she were home.

Food Preparation Time Cut to Almost Uncanny Degree In Secret Experiments With Microwave Cookery—Public Unveiling Is Scheduled for This Autumn

By Nora E. Taylor
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Aug. 17.

THE car slowed to a halt in the summer darkness. "Gee, I'm tired," said the driver. "And hungry," he added, yawning.

Mrs. Jones, let us call her, climbed out and said, "Well, give me the lobsters and put the car away." She disappeared in the direction of the kitchen.

Just six minutes later as the family trooped into the entry, the aroma of cooked lobster met them. "Wash up and come to table," Mrs. Jones summoned them.

How was it done so fast? Well, Mrs. Jones is one of the housewives who have been participating in field tests of the "Radarange." Her name is not Jones, but the tests have been conducted under a cloak of anonymity. The incident is true, and is by no means an isolated one.

Around the Boston and Cleveland areas there are perhaps two dozen housewives who have been experimenting with the new electronic method of cooking, in field tests of the "Radarange." And finding themselves with delicious meals, more leisure and less waste.

Some think that electronic cooking will revolutionize the American kitchen. Others are far less optimistic. As for Mrs. Jones, she seems to be sold on the innovation.

"I wouldn't be without it now," she said. "It has cut my time in the kitchen so much. Delicious stews in two minutes, hot apple pie in seconds, sauerkraut and franks in a casserole, oatmeal and other cereals perfectly cooked . . . well, just everything. It's the most wonderful addition to my kitchen."

ODDLY enough, the guinea pigs for these experiments were not easy to recruit. Many women who were approached by the companies that are involved said that they were too busy keeping house to toy with electronics and write up the daily reports on cooking results which the manufacturers demand from the experimental users and which are also guarded as closely as many a military secret.

As with so many technical improvements in modern life, electronic cookery grew out of a wartime discovery. Radar, first used in Britain to spot enemy aircraft, early in World War II, incorporated a magnetron tube.

Even before the war, ham radio fans experimenting with microwaves discovered that the waves generated heat. Some operators even cooked hot dogs with them! Once the war was past and discovery could be turned to civilian use, the possibilities of electronics in cookery began to be investigated. Massachusetts Institute of Technology invited various firms to do research on the subject. Raytheon was one of these. Their laboratory experts were using microwaves to heat their luncheon sandwiches before electronic cookery officially hit the market.

"Radarange" is the brand name given to microwave cooking, and it was the electronics experts of the Raytheon Co. of Waltham, Mass., near Boston, and the range designers of the Tappan Stove Co. of Mansfield, O., who landed those lobsters so speedily in front of Mrs. Jones's hungry family.

Since, like all really novel ideas, acceptance of this mode of preparing meals will require considerable re-orientation in the kitchen, Raytheon researchers had been trying for the past several months to keep newer developments in the field under wraps, until test results were collected and incorporated into newer model cookers.

However, when you can call for hot apple pie topped with cheese in a local restaurant, and it is thrust under your nose within seconds, so piping hot you are tempted to blow on it, the wraps necessarily become somewhat transparent.

There are "Radaranges" in windows around Boston. They perch on counters where customers can watch the flicker characteristic of this microwave oven, and their austere stainless steel beauty dominates many an orthodox grill or hot plate.

Perhaps the greatest "secret" behind electronic cookery lies in that last fact. The "Radarange" does not replace the familiar oven, the skillet, the saucepan. In a sense it belongs in the category with the pressure saucepan. It is an addition to kitchen or restaurant equipment, not an alternative. What it does is to speed up meal preparation to an almost uncanny degree.

What accounts for the speed? Well, the food is cooked by microwave energy which flows from a magnetron tube. In the smaller model which housewives have been testing, the tube is in the ceiling of the gleaming metal oven, and a small fan just beneath it bounces energy waves into all corners of the oven so that there are no "cold spots." The fan turning below the light from the magnetron produces the apparent 'flicker.' When the microwaves hit the food they are absorbed and become friction or heat, and cooking takes place, actually within the commodity. Where there is no food, there is no heat. The glass or china or plastic or paper containers remain cool. So does the oven itself. You can reach in and pull out a sizzling plate of bacon and your bare fingers won't regret it. This means that the oven is easily wiped clean, too.

Metal containers for food are to be avoided. In contact with the metal oven they would become hot. A more important objection to metal is that it resists microwaves and cooking can only take place from above instead of from all sides and beneath as with other containers.

Electronics involves a new concept of cookery. As the manager of one Boston restaurant remarked: "I like it. I wouldn't be without it. Whenever we get pressed and our steam table runs short, I arrange on a plate the meat and vegetables ordered, cold, and pop them into the 'Radarange' for a few seconds. The meal is ready, and the customer satisfied." Also it means that the unusual request, say for hot milk, can be supplied with the minimum of counter help.

This manager pointed out that the "Radarange" is a great help in avoiding waste. No longer is it necessary to keep whole pies hot, losing their fresh juiciness, when a moment or two in the range will produce a more luscious result. The day's supplies need not be overcalculated to take care of expected customers, since additional orders can be prepared in a few minutes.

MRS. JONES, in her small kitchen, added her own experiences in experimenting with the cooker. She often bakes pies or prepares food in the normal way, and then divides it into one-portion quantities, to store in the refrigerator. Thus, for days on end, she has her lunches ready within seconds by putting a plateful into the "Radarange." She too commented on the lessening of waste. "I can always wait until the children come home, or the guests arrive, before even putting the food into the range."

"Of course, I had to get used to it," she chuckled. "I suppose everyone who has tried these ranges did what I did. At least everyone I knew did. I tried a whole egg, wanting to 'boil' it in the shell. It exploded!"

And so one learns that there are limitations to the present scope of the "Radarange." Always shell the egg first. And don't expect your meat, your pastry or your lobster to come out with an eye-appealing crusty look. It won't. At present anyway. The "Radarange" cooks. It doesn't broil, bake, fry or otherwise distinguish between modes of cooking. The flavor is all there, however.

Ralph Leader of Raytheon, looking into the future with a gleam in his eye, foresees a time when electronic stove producers, whose equipment is tested by the FCC, and frozen food companies will co-operate to such an extent that meals will be sold to the consumer prepared on attractive paper plates. Without benefit of pots or pans they will be cooked in the "Radarange," served, and the plates themselves deposited in the trash can. Which looks like a break for all husbands who abhor dishwashing.

The Raytheon Co. has been carrying out research on electronic cooking since 1946. It put its first "Radarange" on display at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York that year. But it proved to be too early a showing. The magnetron tube at that time was expensive and its life lasted only a very few hours. This fragility led to all sorts of difficulties. Ever since, the microwave experts have been experimenting, as they have been with all equipment in the field, to remove the problems. Now they guarantee the magnetron tube for 500 hours. In domestic units the guarantee would probably run for one year. Since the dial on a "Radarange" only runs up to 15 minutes, and most items take from a few seconds to a few minutes to cook, this gives some idea of the cooking-life expectation of the present tube.

IN the fall of this year Raytheon and Tappan will get together in a big unveiling of electronic cookery for general use. Commercial unit prices are expected to very between $2975 and $1875, and home ovens (when they eventually become available) to be about $1000. As in every other field of manufacture, increased demand will whittle prices both to trade and home buyers.

When the age of electronic cooking really comes into its own, which will probably not be for several years yet, Mrs. Jones and her many sisters throughout the land will find cooking time in the kitchen cut radically.

Fortunately the "Radarange" incorporates a dial control. When Mom puts a plate of food into the new oven, and rushes off to see what Johnnie's doing and stop him from doing it, the range will turn itself off automatically at the correct moment. She won't return to find a culinary disaster.

For the commercial user the speed-up in handling the unusual order—the one that is not on the steamtable of the day's "specials"—is particularly enticing. It also widens the range of service. The Lucy Lynne restaurants in Boston began serving lobster after they installed "Radaranges." "Our kitchen space simply wouldn't permit 20-minute broiling by conventional methods," said Manager Eddie Andelmann. "Almost overnight we became a lobster specialty house."

In restaurants, food prepared in advance, even partly cooked, may be kept in the frozen food locker, since reheating in the microwave oven is so speedy. This insures fresh, moist food at all times, whether it's for the day's first customer, or the one who got in under the wire last thing at night.

A SLIGHTLY more unconventional use of the oven is to thaw out frozen foods. A brief sojourn under the magnetron, and hard-frozen roasts may be sliced ready for heating when called for.

As Mrs. Jones commented, however, "there's a psychological barrier" which has to be broken down, one way or another.

At present, when Mr. Jones is presented with a steak timed carefully for the exact degree of rarity he prefers, he is likely to turn up his nose at it because it has no black, charcoal exterior. It is cooked perfectly, but it just doesn't look like the steak he is accustomed to. But by this time, the Mr. Jones of his story is so used to his wife's "Radarange" cookery, that he no longer misses its traditional appearance.

There are two ways of meeting this problem—unless the fall unveiling brings forth a way of producing exterior charm in a "Radarange" steak. The first, and perhaps the obvious one, is to bring into play orthodox kitchen equipment. When the food is sizzling out of the "Radarange" one might slip it under the broiler for a few moments to take on that appealing outer crust. The regular oven might be used briefly for browning pastry or cakes.

Or, and this could be more difficult, one might be able to educate the men to enjoy flavor without appearance.

LIFE is becoming more complicated on all domestic as well as commercial fronts. There are buttons to push and switches to throw and plugs to pull in all directions in a modern kitchen, be it the two-by-four of a one-room apartment, or the stream-lined cafeteria arrangement of a hotel's service. So the somewhat meticulous requirements of electronic cooking are not likely to dismay the American housewife or chef.

But in the new age approaching, in which the Tappan Co. hopes to incorporate an electronic unit in some of its regular cooking ranges, the housewife or the chef is going to have to pay careful attention to timing. The Raytheon Co. issues a time chart for different foods, based on size, thickness, load—or number of items.

ONE of the points of difference between the microwave oven and the ordinary one is that putting two items into it increases, in fact almost doubles, in some cases, the cooking time! If one bowl of oyster stew takes two minutes, two bowls together will take three or four minutes.

Everyone nowadays realizes what a difference an additional minute in a pressure saucepan can make to food. The same is true of the "Radarange." Only in this case mere seconds are involved. But with painstaking reference to the time chart, and careful dial setting, this might not be too much of a problem.

Probably, too, when microwave cooking gains acceptance, cookbook writers will come up with "electronic cookbooks" to answer all the questions. Or some of them, anyway.

MOST players assume that correct discarding is simply a matter of protecting possible tricks, but nothing could be farther from the truth. Here's proof:

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1♣ | Pass | 1♠ | Pass |
| 2♠ | Pass | 3♣ | Pass |
| 4♠ | Pass | Pass | Pass |

West led his diamond honors. South ruffed the third round, cashed his remaining trumps, then went to dummy with a club and drew West's last trump with the spade ace.

East had "safely" discarded diamonds on the second and third trumps, and a heart on the fourth trump.

Now South tested the club break, cashing the king and queen, and when it became known that West had the suit stopped, it was elementary for declarer to play the last club, throwing West in and forcing a return up to the A-Q of hearts.

Obviously, South did nothing brilliant—the point is that East's very reavealing discards were extremely helpful and comforting to declarer. As it was, South could account for all the diamonds, but suppose that East had not relinquished all his cards in that suit. Then South would have had a problem when the club situation became known. If a diamond or two had still been at large, the club throw-in against West would not have been so marked; in fact, there would have been a very close decision whether the heart finesse against East was not the better chance. It is true that South might have made the winning decision, but at least he would not have been told where success surely lay.

Miss D'Oench Is Married At Chapel

MISS GLORIA NICHOLS D'OENCH became the bride of William Mahlon James Jr., last night at Ladue Chapel with the pastor, the Rev. Dr. W. Davidson McDowell, officiating in the presence of a large gathering of guests. Afterward the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Frederick D'Oench, gave a reception in the garden at their home on Spoede road in Creve Coeur.

Greenery was massed in the chapel chancel as a background for large bouquets of white summer flowers and lighted white candles. Candles in hurricane lamps, entwined with huckleberry foliage, set off the center aisle down which Mr. D'Oench escorted his daughter and gave her in marriage.

The bride wore a white tulle gown styled with short shirred sleeves and a heart-shaped neckline appliqued with re-embroidered alencon lace sparkling with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The lace was also appliqued in two large designs on the bouffant tulle skirt which swept into a long train. The fingertip illusion veil was held in place by a half hat of lace trimmed at back with lilies of the valley. The bride carried white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Jean D'Oench was maid of honor for her sister and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. George Wesley Smith III (Jo Ann James), and two former classmates at Mount Holyoke College, Mrs. William Hollett of Fort Smith, Ark., and Miss Suzanne Woodbury of Bronxville, N. Y., were bridesmaids. They were in pale pink tulle gowns designed with shirred bodices and cowl necklines draped to a V, both front and back. Loose tulle panels were attached to backs of ballerina skirts. The young women held crescent bouquets of white spider chrysanthemums.

Walter G. Staley Jr., of Mexico, Mo., was best man for Mr. James who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. William M. James of Baxter road, Manchester. Guests were ushered to their pews by Mr. Smith, Richard Aitken, Stephen L. Kling and Gustavus A. Buder III. The bridegroom's nephew, George Wesley Smith IV, carried the ring.

Guests were received in the living room of the D'Oench home before a profusion of white flowers arranged about the mantel. The buffet table on the brick terrace, was trimmed with white flowers and lighted with silver hurricane lamps. White roses, snapdragon and chrysanthemums adorned the candlelighted bridal table on the lawn and nearby small tables were lighted with hurricane lamps holding candles and pink and white daisies.

Mrs. D'Oench wore an aqua lace gown and the bridegroom's mother, a gray cotton and lace costume and a small pink hat made of veiling. Both had white orchid corsages.

Mr. James and his bride will go to Sea Island, Ga., on their wedding trip and will live in St. Louis.

Many St. Louisans Spend Season at Cape Cod Resorts

By a Special Correspondent.

CHATHAM, Mass., Aug. 17.

FOR many years numerous St. Louisans have been attracted to the quaint resort of Chatham, on the easternmost point of the south shore. Wequassett Inn, overlooking Pleasant bay, with small cottages nearby, is one of the most attractive of its kind on Cape Cod. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, who have been at the inn for several weeks, departed last Tuesday for St. Louis. They spent a great deal of their vacation playing golf and fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Schlafly with their children, Dan Jr., Ellen and Tommy, are guests at Wequassett Inn. Arriving here late last month, they will return to St. Louis next week. Recently visiting the Schlaflys was Mr. Schlafly's sister, Miss Eleanor Schlafly, who now lives in New York. Mr. Schlafly is an ardent tennis player and is to be seen daily on the tennis courts.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram B. Culver are occupying the cottage which they have leased in previous years and have entertained several St. Louis guests during the season. Before coming to join her parents, Carol Culver spent three weeks in Nantucket visiting Loriel Desloge at the summer home of Loriel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Desloge. Then Loriel, called Lolly by her friends, was a guest at the Culver cottage. The Culvers' sons, Terry and David, who were at Teton Valley Camp, Kelly, Wyo., earlier this summer have joined their family. Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Culver were Mr. and Mrs. John Christian.

Guests at the Wayside Inn in Chatham the first week in August were Mrs. Hiram Norcross Jr., and her daughters, Mimi and Kitty. After their visit here they went to Quoque, L.I., for a week before going to Hot Springs, Va., to be with Mrs. Norcross's mother, Mrs. Frank J. V. Krebs, who is at The Homestead for her annual summer visit.

Just west of Chatham, on the south shore of the cape, is Harwichport where two St. Louis families are staying at the Old Landmark. Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood Hill, who have been at the inn for six weeks, will depart next week to spend several days in New York before going to St. Louis. Also at The Old Landmark are Mr. and Mrs. William F. Randolph who arrived about two weeks ago to be here until after Labor day.

Two St. Louis families are summering at Sandwich, a typical Cape Cod town, noted for old milk glass which may be found in numerous antique shops of this north shore resort. Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. McKinley, who have had a cottage here for many years, have had several visitors. They are presently entertaining their younger daughter, Mary, who is with them for a two-week holiday, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Shapleigh Boyd who came here from Chatham where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Culver. Guests of the McKinleys for last month were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Edwards III, and their three children, Lucy, Peggy and Catherine.

Sept. 2 Wedding For Miss Lamkin, William Quade

PLANS have been completed for the wedding of Miss Nancy Lamkin and William Webster Quade which will take place at Central Presbyterian Church Thursday evening, Sept. 2. The 7:30 o'clock ceremony, to be performed by the Rev. Dr. J. Layton Mauze Jr., will be followed by a reception at the church.

Miss Ann Hope Dilworth, cousin of the bride-to-be, will serve as maid of honor for Miss Lamkin who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Lamkin, 7280 Northmoor drive, University City. Mrs. Boyce Welles Meyer (Lee Stemmler), Miss Katherine Berry, and Miss Adelaide Stephenson will be bridesmaids, and Susan Lamkin, sister of the bride-elect, will be junior bridesmaid.

Mr. Quade's attendants will be James T. Poor, best man; Sidney Richman, St. Clair, Mo., Thomas D. Smith, Jefferson City, Mo., Harold W. LeMert Jr., Gerald L. Reeves, and Donald L. Noettle, ushers. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Quade.

My Day

New G.O.P. Struggle

By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK.

THE situation on the bill outlawing the Communist party, which the Senate passed 85 to 0, is very amusing. The vote was 85 to 0 because, of course, nobody wished to appear in favor of the Communist party. On the other hand the Administration, which feels it has a much better way of dealing with the situation than having the party outlawed, is very much opposed to the bill—and there is again a struggle between two factions in the Republican party.

This is one of those things that will confuse the people very much. Many of them won't bother to read the whole explanation and they will wonder why the Administration is opposed to a bill for which all the Republican Senators voted.

I WAS MUCH DISTRESSED to hear that Leo Casey, a former New York trooper whom my husband and I knew and liked for many years, had died in a motor accident. When we first knew him, he was only 18 years old, handsome and very athletic. He was assigned to go with us on one of our trips around the state, and he used to play ball with our boys in the evenings.

The following year he had an accident on his motorcycle, and his back was broken. From that time on, Leo Casey of Syracuse was paralyzed from his chest down. He allowed his story to be written up during World War II as a help to boys in the service who had to face a similar ordeal, and he took no money for permitting the story to be published because he said he wished it to be a gift, in the hope that he could help others.

He managed to live a fairly full life and to do an extraordinary amount for himself. Both my husband and I always admired him, and I will never forget how anxious he was to go to the hospitals and help anyone he could who was suffering as he had suffered. I am glad that his end came suddenly, for I am sure he would rather have had it that way. I shall miss seeing him, however, as I always saw him whenever I went to Syracuse.

I HAVE BEEN ASKED to mention that there is a training school for leader dogs for the blind at Rochester, Mich. The school is supported by voluntary contributions but a blind applicant who attends the school is asked to pay $150 at his convenience. This is for a month's tuition, but the actual cost of adequate training for a blind master and his leader dog is $1250. The school sounds very adequate.

There is a shortage of dogs for the blind in this country. The dogs, of course, go through a great deal longer training than the month which is given them with their future masters.

Cleaning Cottons

Many of the new cotton fabrics are treated with resin, to give wrinkle resistance or glazed sheen. To bleach such cottons use a perborate bleach rather than one with chlorine. Garment labels should give this information. Rid grease spots by sponging with a grease solvent cleaning fluid before laundering.

Pleated Cotton

Pleated cotton is a novelty that appeals to many home sewers for separate skirts and for sleeveless, sheath dresses. Striped patterns predominate although some tiny, allover designs are available. The pleating has a "permanent" treatment so that fabric may be washed satisfactorily.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

THE next morning Luke Miller boarded the eastbound train for St. Louis.

"I only hope they have the parts in St. Louis," he said before he left. "If they have I'll be back in three days, but if I have to go to Cincinnati. . . ."

"Then we'll miss an issue," said Mrs. Miller.

"It'll be the first time," Miller frowned. "And the last."

He went off and Mrs. Miller, Tancred and old Mose resumed their monotonous sorting of the type. They worked steadily until noon and made scarcely an impression on the heap. Tancred ached in every muscle but oddly enough had greater mental peace than he had had in a long time.

After lunch they worked straight through until 6 when Mrs. Miller called a halt. "I can't tell a 'b' from a 'p' any more," she commented. "There's only so much of this you can do at a time.

"We're more than half through," said Tancred. "We'll finish tomrrow."

Mrs. Miller and Mose went off. Tancred washed up and walked to the Bon Ton cafe.

Bleek stood just inside. "Find me Smith," Fugger said.

Bleek went out and Jacob Fugger turned and surveyed his store. The clerks were putting away merchandise, preparing to close up for the day. Fugger's eyes came to rest upon Laura Vesser. He studied her for a moment, then walked over to the counter.

Synopsis

LUKE MILLER'S fight to abolish lawlessness in Sage City has brought about open warfare with JACOB FUGGER, who rules the town. Fugger sends BILL BLEEK, his henchman, to smash the presses of Miller's weekly newspaper, and WES TANCRED, known in Sage City as John Bailey, has wrecked Fugger's store. The result is a terrific fist battle between Tancred and Bleek and for the first time Bleek is beaten.

Laura regarded her employer in alarm.

"I've noticed that there are quite a few men coming into the store since you're here. And they're buying things they haven't got any use for," he said.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Fugger," began Laura. "I've sold them only the things they ask for . . .

"It's none of your business if they can use the merchandise or not." He nodded shrewdly. "Lee Kinnaird's been coming in a lot. He's taken up with that whatsisname who works for Luke Miller."

"John Bailey?"

FUGGER grunted. "Bailey, yes. He stopped that wild Texas man from annoying you yesterday."

He pursed up his lips. "On your way home, would you mind stopping at the newspaper office and telling this, whatsisname, Bailey, that I'd like to see him."

Laura hesitated, then suddenly nodded. "Very well."

"Good."

A few minutes later when the clerks had gone, Hong Kong Smith entered.

"That bruiser of yours said you wanted to see me."

Smith's eyes narrowed. "Neither have I."

"Has he left for Texas?"

"He doesn't like Texas any more," Smith chuckled. "Or maybe it's Texas that doesn't like him. What do you want with Harpending?"

"Do I really have to tell you that, Smith? All right, I'll spell it out for you. I want two or three men for a month or so, until things get squared away."

"Gunfighters, eh? Mmm, Harpending's all right, but I've got a man down in Texas who'd put two bullets into Harpending while Harpending was trying to draw a gun."

"You can buy anything . . . or anyone . . . for money," said Hong Kong Smith.

TANCRED was sorting out type when he heard the door open. Laura Vesser had entered the shop and was coming toward him. She said stiffly, "I'm here on an errand for my employer. He wants to see you."

"He'd stoop to anything!"

"And you?" she flashed at him. "I saw what you did to the store."

"But you didn't see what Bleek did here." Tancred pointed to the type he was sorting. "Three of us have been sorting all day. And Mr. Miller's gone to St. Louis to get new parts for the press that Bill Bleek broke."

"Why do you have to fight Fugger and Bleek? Miller's quarrel isn't yours."

Cool Northern Air Bringing Relief

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Cool air moving southward is expected to bring showers and relief from the current heat to this area, the St. Louis Weather Bureau forecast today. Predictions call for a high temperature in the mid-80s.

High temperatures yesterday over the nation ranged from 58 at Papoose Island, Wash., to 110 at El Centro, Calif. In Missouri temperatures varied from 81 at Kirksville to 106 at Malden and West Plains.

Moderate showers were reported in the northern portion of Missouri yesterday and last night. Also receiving rain were wide sections of the northeast, the Ohio and Mississippi River valleys, the Great Lakes region and the central plains states.

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

THE biggest cat in the New World is the jaguar. It is related to the leopard of the Old World, but is larger. From the nose to the base of the tail, a jaguar may measure six feet. The tail is likely to add about two and a half feet to the length.

Jaguars are found in some wild parts of Texas, and they range southward through Mexico and Central America. They are widespread in South America, and some of them live in Argentina.

THE SPOTS of a jaguar look like those of an African leopard. The voice, or snarl, is much the same, and so are the feeding habits. The jaguar, however, has a stronger build and larger head.

In the forests of the Amazon valley, jaguars hear monkeys chattering and chase these animals from tree to tree. Some monkeys are captured, but the majority are able to get away because they are clever at swinging from limb to limb.

Other animals are easier for jaguars to capture. They often seize small animals, including guinea pigs.

SOMETIMES a jaguar climbs a tree and rests on a large limb. There it waits for game to come along. When it sees a deer or peccary below, it will leap down and usually will kill the victim with one blow of its paw.

It is safer for a jaguar to jump on a single peccary than to get into the midst of a herd. Peccaries are good fighters and several of them together can
